

all knew when it got on the agenda that we were not going to discuss it. It was stated in advance that this was going to happen and, in fact, the World-Herald said that we wouldn't even begin discussing this until eleven fifty-six tonight, and that Senator Lindsay would offer a last minute...a last...yeah, an eleventh hour proposal to meet the objections of the opponents. That's what the World-Herald said in the paper this morning. I would like to ask Senator Lindsay a question which he can answer at Senator Bromm's mike, if he would like to.

PRESIDENT ROBAK: Senator Lindsay.

SENATOR LINDSAY: Yeah.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Senator Lindsay, why did you tell the World-Herald that you were going to...we would start the debate at eleven fifty-six tonight and you would offer an eleventh hour agreement that would meet all the opponents' objections? Why did you tell the World-Herald that, then renege on it?

SENATOR LINDSAY: Well, Senator Chambers, it's come as a surprise to you but that's not the first time the World-Herald has gotten a story somewhat inaccurate, but...

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Which part was...

SENATOR LINDSAY: ...last two for me, I consider.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: ...which part was inaccurate? Did you or did you not tell them...

SENATOR LINDSAY: I did not.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: ...that we would start de...you don't know what I'm asking you, we would start debating it at eleven fifty-six this evening, tonight?

SENATOR LINDSAY: I did not tell them that.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: They created that out of whole cloth, you're telling me?

SENATOR LINDSAY: It came up in some prior copy, I believe, that they had.
