was compelled to look at the portrait to see if the mark of his wrong was showing in the portrait. And, sure enough, lines around the eyes, the mouth, the face, the edge of the nose, all of these things changed. Then his hands began to drip with blood. One of the worst things that happened was his turning his back on this young woman and she wound up committing suicide. So Dorian Gray looked at the picture and there was the blood. To kind of shorten this up to some extent, many years later this young woman's brother had been looking for Dorian Gray, she had referred to him as Prince Charming. So this young man was a sailor and he was in one of these dives where they smoked dope and do other things.

PRESIDENT ROBAK: One minute.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: I won't be able to finish it in one minute, but on my reconsideration motion I'll be able to finish it.

PRESIDENT ROBAK: Thank you, Senator Chambers. The question...

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Is my minute up?

PRESIDENT ROBAK: Pardon, Senator?

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Is my minute up?

PRESIDENT ROBAK: No, it's not. I thought you were finished. Please continue.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: I paused to swallow. But in the interest of being accommodating at this early point, I'll take the rest of what...that moment and ask for a call of the house.

PRESIDENT ROBAK: There's been a request for a call of the house. All those in favor vote aye; all those opposed vote nay. Please record.

CLERK: Ayes, 0 nays to go under call.

PRESIDENT ROBAK: The house is under call. Will senators please return to their seats. Will all unauthorized personnel please leave the floor, the house is under call. Senators, please check in. Senator Brashear, Senator Bromm, Senator Matzke. Senator Pedersen, Senator Robak, Senator Cudaback. Senator
