

January 11, 1996

I don't believe it says in the rules that we could override the Speaker's putting together of amendments because this is the section that we're talking about that's added, and nowhere in here does it say that the Legislature would have the right to overrule that choice. We do have a right to overrule the agenda, but that's just a placement of bills, not amendments. That's a quick answer. I'd have to go back and look closer.

SENATOR ROBINSON: Okay. Mr. Clerk, is that your interpretation? Is it possible for me to ask you that question? Is that your interpretation? I always believe, Senator...but you're that overall authority, you know, and I would like...appreciate what your thought is on that.

CLERK: So are you asking me that question?

SENATOR ROBINSON: Yes, sir. Do you want me to repeat it?

CLERK: Senator Bernard-Stevens would be correct that you could overrule the agenda but I don't think you could overrule his order with respect to the amendments to be taken up in a certain way.

SENATOR ROBINSON: Okay. A question, Senator Beutler.

PRESIDENT ROBAK: Senator Beutler.

SENATOR ROBINSON: Do you agree with what's been said...

SENATOR BEUTLER: Senator,...

SENATOR ROBINSON: ..as far as overruling and then...?

SENATOR BEUTLER: I believe there's...right. I believe there's a section in the rules that says the amendments will be taken...in our rule says the amendments will be taken in the order filed. That's not a Speaker's decision, that's a rule, and so in order to overcome that, you would have to suspend the rules for the specific purpose of changing the orders of the amendments, which would require 30 votes.

SENATOR ROBINSON: You could do it by suspending the rules, though?