

child and you have parents who cannot get along, who are constantly tugging and pulling over parent time and what...where that will happen, and under what circumstances, and what school reports will be released, and what school reports will not be released, and how holidays are handled, all of those things are the things that cause fractures and certainly tears the family apart even further. For this reason I want you all to have some time. I'm not sure that we will get to the amendment, but for you to take the time please to read the amendment that is on the desk before you and have some consideration of that by the time, when we do get to that amendment. Thank you for that and I'll give the remainder of time to...back to Senator Beutler.

PRESIDENT ROBAK: Senator Beutler. Thank you, Senator Bohlke. Senator Beutler, there is a minute of time remaining if you wish to continue. Senator Bohlke.

SENATOR BOHLKE: Madam President, am I the next light?

PRESIDENT ROBAK: No, Senator Chambers is the next light, followed by Senator Bohlke, Senator Bromm, and Senator Beutler.

SENATOR BOHLKE: All right, I'll yield what remainder of time, oh, okay, I'll waive off.

PRESIDENT ROBAK: Thank you, Senator Bohlke. Senator Chambers. We are on the Chambers amendment to the Witek amendment to LB 592.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Madam President, members of the Legislature, I'm strongly tempted to comment on what Senator Bohlke brought up, but I won't because it is not before us, but at some point it may be. As I watch what I consider busy-body amendments, I see the state intruding more and more into people's lives at a time when certain people in political parties are saying, keep the state out. What they mean is keep the state from regulating those businesses and activities that allow the strong to oppress the weak. That is what they don't want the state to do. But when it comes to oppressing ordinary people, meddling and being busy-body, they want the state to come in with lumberjack boots, notice I didn't say Jack boots, lumberjack boots, trample all over people. While individuals in the Legislature piously want to dictate how domestic matters are to be handled, and as a divorced man I'm certainly not in a position to tell other
