SENATOR BEUTLER: No.

SENATOR CROSBY: Okay, that's why we keep, even at the meetings with noncustodial parents I get different percentages on this and different on that. And so I understand now why, I didn't understand that. Thank you. The last thing I want to ask Chris and Ka...what happened to the visitation part...component of this bill? With this amendment, what happens to the visitation component? Kate or Senator Beutler.

PRESIDENT ROBAK: Senator Witek or Senator Beutler.

SENATOR WITEK: I'm sorry, I didn't hear.

SENATOR CROSBY: Chris, could you... What happens to the visitation component of this bill with this amendment? Either one or both of these (inaudible).

SENATOR BEUTLER: With this amendment, nothing in the visitation component was changed, it all remains the same.

SENATOR CROSBY: I wanted to be sure of that because by now, you know, I need that computer that we looked at this morning.

SENATOR BEUTLER: Right, we didn't hear any adverse comment on visitation (inaudible).

SENATOR CROSBY: Then what about Senator Bohlke's amendment? Are we just walking away from that or...

SENATOR BEUTLER: Well, you'll have to talk to Senator Bohlke, but the...but the way amendments are situated now, depending on how different people react to different amendments, with amendments to amendments, it may or may not come out.

SENATOR CROSBY: We can almost see...yeah...see time running out of the Chamber. Okay, thank you very much. That's all I wanted to know. And I still am undecided, but I will pay attention.

PRESIDENT ROBAK: Thank you, Senator Crosby. Senator Beutler.

SENATOR BEUTLER: I'll pass, Madam President.

PRESIDENT ROBAK: Thank you, Senator. Senator Chambers, to
