saying that all teachers eventually will, when, in fact, that's not the case at all. I'm ashamed that teachers are picked on right now. We don't talk about preschool,...

SENATOR CROSBY: One minute.

SENATOR BERNARD-STEVENS: ...we don't talk about day-care people who are around kids all the time, we don't talk about pediatricians who are in a closed room with the child all the time, we don't talk about ministers who will be counseling young people in closed rooms all the time, we don't have them fingerprinted, and we're not going to have others, nurses and other people that are around children fingerprinted, we just will do teachers. And after we do that we're all going to feel fine, aren't we in a wonderful society, we're finding all those people. I think that's why I'm ashamed. Senator Hilgert, if you're going to prioritize the bill, why don't you change the bill to do what the people out there really want to do and we have all people who are around children, have them fingerprinted. So, by golly, if a parent has something in their background, we can get that child out of that family because we don't want any child around any of these people. Let's go ahead and go the whole way. That's where...

SENATOR CROSBY: Time.

SENATOR BERNARD-STEVENS: ...I'm ashamed on this bill.

SENATOR CROSBY: Thank you, Senator Bernard-Stevens. Senator Witek, on the committee amendment.

SENATOR WITEK: Thank you, Madam Chairman, members of the body. Geez, I feel like I'm going to take it down here just a little bit after Senator Bernard-Stevens. But I do need to ask a question that Senator Bohlke, maybe you could answer it.

SENATOR CROSBY: Senator Bohlke, will you respond?

SENATOR WITEK: Or sometime, if you can, at this time, take the rest of my time and then go ahead and answer it. In the committee amendment, in Section 7 you have language that says, "the Commissioner of Education determines the applicant to be of suitable character and otherwise qualified." Then down in Section 8, which is a statute that we already have in the state
