

decide, I have 15 letters here that says that you're opposed and I have 1 in support. Well, if you have 20 letters and you have 32,000 people, that's not a very good representation. Let the people decide. That's the way our Constitution was formed. That's the way we've always expanded into a lot of different areas. When it's something that's really important, let the people decide. Everybody is so worried about that I have to make my, my point, if I don't people are going to complain about me and when I, I get home. But you have, nobody ever got into any problem by letting the people decide. How much time do I have left, Senator? How much time do I have left?

SENATOR COORDSEN: A minute and twenty seconds.

SENATOR SCHELLPEPER: Senator Robak wants time. Thank you.

SENATOR COORDSEN: Senator Robak.

SENATOR ROBAK: Thank you, Mr. Speaker, and thank you, Senator Schellpeper. I do have my light on. I was...asked Senator Schellpeper for some time because I was a little afraid that I would not be able to speak because see I, you were right on, Senator Schellpeper.

SENATOR COORDSEN: One minute.

SENATOR ROBAK: Ironically enough I have this book I picked up last night to read, it's called A Confederacy of Dunces. and I happen to think this is a genius bill here, and my name is on this, incidentally. It was never in the papers because the new way we have listing our names on the bills now, you know, your name is R it would go, Schellpeper, Bernard-Stevens, et al. But my name is on this bill, I think I was the second cosigner on this bill. And I think it's a genius of a bill. And I'm reading this book that says when a true genius appears in the world, you may know him by this sign, that the dunces are all in confederacy against him. So I think that, that's kind of a point there and I will, I do have my light on, I haven't given it up yet. But in my district, and we did take a percentage, my staff did, of course I do have a racetrack there so it's a little probably one-sided there, 90 percent for and 10 percent against. I don't gamble myself, but I do support the races. I think it's a little...
