SENATOR ROBINSON: Yeah, I don't want you to either.

SENATOR BROMM: Okay.

SENATOR ROBINSON: Okay, Senator Schellpeper, I have a question for you. Senator Schellpeper.

SENATOR CROSBY: Senator Schellpeper.

SENATOR SCHELLPEPER: Yes. Yes, I'll take all your time and it won't hurt my feelings at all.

SENATOR ROBINSON: Senator Lynch is mimicking me, and he does a pretty good job.

SENATOR SCHELLPEPER: That'd be hard to do.

SENATOR ROBINSON: Do you net 10 percent? You take the value of your farmland, do you net 10 percent every...do you net 10 percent very often? Net it, after you subtract all your expenses and everything?

SENATOR SCHELLPEPER: I'm lucky to break even a lot of years, let alone net 10 percent.

SENATOR ROBINSON: Senator Hartnett, you're an old farmer, you're an ex-farmer, I know you had some farm land. Would you answer that question for me? Did you net 10 percent?

SENATOR CROSBY: Senator Hartnett.

SENATOR HARTNETT: Probably not.

SENATOR ROBINSON: Okay. Senator Bohlke, you're a farm lady. Do you net 10 percent on your investment?

SENATOR CROSBY: Senator Bohlke.

SENATOR ROBINSON: Net, net.

SENATOR BOHLKE: Absolutely not.

SENATOR ROBINSON: Okay. Senator Schrock, he's going like this. Go ahead. Do you net 10 percent?
