

believe anybody watching that would not understand the agony that person is going through. But I wind up being the one who will offer the help, and it doesn't make me noble, that's not even what I'm talking about. I'm giving this to show you that there are people who don't have enough money to purchase the essentials, and some of them wind up embarrassed in stores. And maybe somebody else will say, well, that's not my responsibility. We have different points of view and we look at life from a different moral perspective, and I would much rather have the one that I have because it enables me to be at peace with myself, than the one that is so cold-hearted...
