

SENATOR CHAMBERS: I don't see anything wrong with your descriptive terminology.

SENATOR JANSSEN: No, all right. But then would you want one from each of the Standing Committees then?

SENATOR CHAMBERS: No. No, we would say that there would be a total number...there would be a total of however many senators and then the Exec Board, from the pool of the entire Legislature, would make a selection. And I'm sure people who have an interest could make the Exec Board aware of it. And if we had more people than we had slots, maybe there'd be the voting like we do whenever we fill out a task force.

SENATOR JANSSEN: Would you make sure, though, would it be my assumption that you would make sure that you would have someone from in the education field or in the Education Committee, if not the chairman of the Education Committee, and the Government Committee where a lot of these unfunded, so-called unfunded mandates do come from?

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Why don't you pick them up with that other language further in the amendment that talks about these Standing Committees doing whatever it is they think is necessary? And then they could offer input. Now remember this. I'm just making an offer. If it's felt that what I'm suggesting is not the way to go, then when I offer the amendment then it will be voted down and I won't be offended. But I don't think the way that the selection is being made here is necessarily going to provide us with the...I'm trying to be delicate, this may not be the best means for selecting the people who should serve on the task force simply by naming chairpersons of Standing Committees.

SENATOR JANSSEN: Yeah, I understand what you're getting at, Senator Chambers. And anything that would make this committee better I would be all for. And if you think this would be the better way, if Senator Bromm thinks that it has merit and Senator Withem, I would agree with that.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Okay, then I'm going to get with Senator Bromm and see if we can work out an amendment. And if we cannot arrive at one that you and he would agree to, then maybe I would offer an amendment and maybe won't. Maybe I'll just say some
