RESIGNATION

April 16, 1996

Dear Governor Nelson:

This is to formally let you know that after nine years of serving the 42nd District in the Nebraska Legislature, I will be stepping down effective August 15th, 1996. It has been a tremendous honor serving the citizens of Lincoln county in the unicameral, but for me, the time has come for a different set of priorities and new challenges.

Though there is much I would like to say, let it suffice to thank you, my colleagues in the legislature, my constituents and of course my family for an experience I will cherish forever. The great political experiment of representational democracy begun by our forefathers in 1776 is still very much alive and well in Nebraska and its legislature. I was very fortunate to have had the opportunity to play a small role along the way.

Sincerely,
(Signed) David Bernard-Stevens
Senator, District 42

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINIONS

Opinion No. 96038

DATE: April 24, 1996

SUBJECT: Authority of DPI to Assess Patients and Relatives for Their Ability to Pay

REQUESTED BY: Senator David I. Maurstad

Martin W. Swanson, Assistant Attorney General

This office has received a request for a formal opinion from you regarding this specific question: Does Neb. Rev. Stat. § 83-363 through § 83-375 (1994) authorize the Executive Branch to assess patients or their relatives for the cost of care, support, maintenance, and treatment based upon their ability to pay if they have never been admitted to a state institution, or have never received treatment prescribed by an institution? The answer to this question is no. However, those statutes must be read in conjunction with Neb. Rev. Stat. § 83-1211 (1994) which specifically states:

A person receiving specialized services from a local specialized program which receives financial assistance through the department shall be responsible for the cost of such services in the same manner as are persons receiving care at the Beatrice State Developmental Center. Provisions of law in effect on September 6, 1991, or enacted after such date relating to the responsibility of such persons and their relatives for the cost of and determination of ability to pay for services at the center shall also apply to persons receiving services from specialized programs.

When Neb. Rev. Stat. § 83-1211 (1994) is read in conjunction with Neb. Rev. Stat. § 83-363 through § 83-375 it is clear that the Legislature has authorized the executive branch to assess patients or their relatives for their ability to pay even if they have not been admitted to or received treatment from a state run institution. Because of Neb. Rev. Stat. § 83-1211 (1994), persons receiving treatment at state operated facilities and those receiving treatment through community based programs paid for by the State are treated equally.

Additionally, it is important to note that when a potential patient applies for services that are funded by the Department of Public Institutions, he or she is first evaluated to determine if they are eligible for services. See 205 NAC 1, 001.15, 001.21, 007.02A. If determined eligible, and if such individual actually receives DPI funded services, the patient is then assessed for their ability to pay and billed for these services accordingly. See 202 NAC. If a patient or their family believes that this assessment of their ability to pay is incorrect, they may appeal that determination. See 202 NAC, 207 NAC.

Sincerely,
DON STENBERG
Attorney General

Opinion No. 96039

DATE: April 29, 1996

SUBJECT: Permissibility of Service in the Nebraska National Guard by a Member of the Nebraska Legislature

REQUESTED BY: Senator John Hilgert
Nebraska State Legislature

Dale A. Comer, Assistant Attorney General

In your opinion request letter, you state that, "I am interested in an opinion of the Attorney General to determine whether a State Senator can become a member of the Nebraska National Guard." You then list as possible concerns "employee status conflicts, and conflicts related to the separation of powers between the Governor of Nebraska and the President of the United States due to separate allegiances that are required for serving in both the capacity of as [sic] a National Guard member and as a State Senator." Our response to your question is set out below.

We have discussed your opinion request with members of your staff, and we understand that your question concerning service in the Nebraska National Guard by a member of the Legislature contemplates a situation where the Legislator serves in the Guard as a commissioned officer rather than as an enlistee. We also understand that the officer position in the Guard at issue would not be as a full time member of the Adjutant General's staff, but instead would involve part time service as a commissioned officer in the Guard. We will respond to your question within those parameters.

Art. XIV, § 1 of the Nebraska Constitution states that, "[t]he Legislature may provide for the personnel, organization, and discipline of the militia of this state." In addition, Art. IV, § 14 of the same document provides that, "[t]he Governor shall be commander-in-chief of the military and naval forces of the state (except when they shall be called into the service of the United States) and may call out the same to execute the laws, suppress insurrection, and repel invasion." Apart from those constitutional provisions, the Nebraska statutes governing the Nebraska National Guard are found generally as a part of the Military Code, Neb. Rev. Stat. §§ 55-101 through 55-180 (1993, Supp. 1995). Under §§ 55-120 and 55-121, the Military Department in Nebraska consists of an Adjutant General appointed by the Governor and such additional military and civilian staff as prescribed by the laws of this State and the United States. Section 55-137 provides that officers in the Military Department shall be commissioned by the Governor, and that their commissions shall designate the arm, staff corps or department and/or the unit to which they are assigned. Section 55-157 provides for the compensation of military officers when they are in the active service of the State.

The United States Code also contains a number of federal statutes dealing with the National Guard forces of the various states and their interface with the regular armed forces of the United States. Those statutes are found generally in Title 32 of the United States Code which deals specifically with the National Guard, and Title 10 of the United States Code which deals with the national armed forces. Under 32 U.S.C. § 307, commissioned officers in the Nebraska National Guard are eligible for Federal recognition. Federal recognition, in turn, means that the commissioned officer in the Nebraska National Guard is also simultaneously a commissioned officer in the reserve component of the equivalent federal service at the same grade. For example, a captain in the Nebraska Army National Guard would, upon Federal recognition, also become a captain in the federal Army Reserve. 32 U.S.C. § 312 also requires that persons appointed as officers of the national guard of a state must subscribe to the following oath:

I, . . . , do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will support and defend the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of the State of . . . against all enemies, foreign and domestic; that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the same; that I will obey the orders of the President of the United States and of the Governor of the State of . . . , that I make this obligation freely, without any mental reservation or purpose of evasion, and that I will well and faithfully discharge the duties of the office of . . . in the National Guard of the State of . . . upon which I am about to enter, so help me God.

With those various constitutional and statutory provisions in mind, it appears to us that there are problems with a member of the Nebraska Legislature serving as a commissioned officer in the Nebraska National Guard in two areas. The first problem arises under Art. III, § 9 of the Nebraska Constitution, which states:

No person holding office under the authority of the United States, or any lucrative office under the authority of this state, shall be eligible to, or have a seat in the Legislature. No person elected or appointed to the Legislature shall receive any civil appointment to a state office while holding membership in the Legislature or while the Legislature is in session, and all such appointments shall be void.

An office is a public station or employment, conferred by the appointment of government; and embraces the ideas of tenure, duration, emolument and duties. State ex rel. O'Connor v. Tusa, 130 Neb. 528, 265 N.W. 524 (1936). An office can also be considered "a governmental position, the duties of which invest the incumbent with some aspect of the sovereign power." State ex rel. Spire v. Conway, 238 Neb. 766, 772, 472 N.W.2d 403, 407 (1991). Those definitions would appear to apply to commissioned military officers as well to civil officers, and indeed, the broadest and most comprehensive division of officers in our system of government is into civil and military. 63A Am. Jur. 2d Public Officers and Employees § 15. When offices are divided into civil and military, the term "civil office" is used in contradistinction to "military office." 67 C.J.S. Officers § 5. As a result, since the initial sentence of Art. III, § 9 does not distinguish between military or civil offices, it appears to us that the prohibitions contained in that portion of the Nebraska Constitution apply equally to military as well as civil offices. Under that analysis, an individual who holds a military office under authority of the United States or a lucrative military office under authority of the State is prohibited from serving in the Legislature.

Our analysis of Art. III, § 9 is supported in two respects. First of all, the second sentence of that constitutional provision specifically applies only to civil appointments. The fact that the second sentence of Art. III, § 9 specifically references civil appointments in itself indicates that the first sentence of Art. III, § 9 was intended to apply to both civil and military offices. If that were not the case, there would have been no reason to specifically limit the second sentence to "civil appointment[s] to a state office."

Second, the Supreme Court's discussion of Art. III, § 9 in State ex rel. Spire v. Conway, supra, also supports our conclusion. In the Conway case, the Supreme Court engaged in a detailed discussion of Art. III, § 9 to illustrate the fact that prohibitions against dual office holding have strengthened in Nebraska over time. The Court's discussion is instructive in the present instance, and we will quote from it at some length:

The earliest predecessor of article III, § 9, which prohibits dual office holding by legislators, was Neb. Const. art. II, § 14, of the Constitution of 1866:

No person being a member of congress, or holding any military or civil office under the United States, shall be eligible to a seat in the legislature; and if any person shall, after his election as a member of the legislature, be elected to congress, or be appointed to any office, civil or military, under the government of the United States, his acceptance thereof shall vacate his seat.

The analogous provision adopted in 1875 as article III, § 6, was much broader; the disability extended not only to those holding office under the authority of the United States, but also to those holding any lucrative office under the authority of the state:

No person holding office under the authority of the United States, or any lucrative office under the authority of this state, shall be eligible to or have a seat in the legislature; but this provision shall not extend to precinct or township officers, justices of the peace, notaries public, or officers of the militia; nor shall any person interested in a contract with, or an unadjusted claim against the state, hold a seat in the legislature.

That the framers thought it necessary to provide an explicit exception for "precinct or township officers, justices of the peace, notaries public or officers of the militia" indicates that the disqualifications of the holder of "any lucrative office under authority of this state" was intended to have broad scope. Clearly, the framers did not envision it as applying only to constitutional officers.

In 1972, this disqualification was again expanded. The exceptions for justices of the peace, notaries public, and precinct, township, and militia officers were dropped and a new disqualification was added.

This review of the evolution of article III, § 9, shows a continuing expansion in the disqualification placed upon legislators' holding other government positions.

238 Neb. at 779, 780, 781, 472 N.W.2d at 411, 412 (emphasis added).

As illustrated by the discussion in the Conway opinion, the prohibitions contained in the constitutional provision at issue originally applied equally to military and civil offices. A subsequent version of the Nebraska Constitution then specifically exempted officers in the militia from the provisions preventing dual office holding.¹ However, the Constitution was amended again, and the provision specifically exempting officers of the militia was removed.

It seems to us that this history of Art. III, § 9 supports the notion that the dual office prohibitions contained in the first sentence of that section apply equally to military and civil officers. Otherwise, it would have not been necessary to exempt officers in the militia from those prohibitions for a time. And, that exemption has been subsequently removed. Therefore, we believe that the dual office prohibitions established in the initial portion of Art. III, § 9 apply to commissioned military officers, and an individual who holds a military office under authority of the United States or a lucrative military office under authority of the State is prohibited from serving in the Legislature.

In the present instance, a commissioned officer in the Nebraska National Guard would hold a lucrative military office under authority of this State. That is, such an officer would hold a commission from the Governor under authority of the appropriate portions of the Nebraska Military Code, and such an officer would be paid for his military service. In addition, a commissioned officer in the Nebraska National Guard would also quite likely hold a military office under authority of the United States, since we understand that it is the normal practice for Guard officers to be federally recognized and to hold a simultaneous office in the federal Army Reserve equivalent to their rank in the National Guard. Consequently, we believe that service as a commissioned officer in the Nebraska National Guard is incompatible with service as a member of the Nebraska Legislature on the basis of Art. III, § 9 of the Nebraska Constitution.

We also believe that dual service as a commissioned officer in the Nebraska National Guard and as a member of the Nebraska Legislature is prohibited by the Separation of Powers provision in the Nebraska Constitution. That provision, Art. II, § 1, provides:

The powers of the government of this state are divided into three distinct departments, the Legislative, Executive and Judicial, and no person or collection of persons being one of these departments, shall exercise any power properly belonging to either of the others, except as hereinafter expressly directed or permitted.

The Conway case, supra, dealt extensively with the Separation of Powers provision and its application to members of the Legislature. In Conway, the court held that state Senator Gerald Conway could not both serve in the Legislature and also act as an assistant professor at Wayne State College. The Court indicated that such dual service violated Article II, Section 1 since Senator Conway was an officer in the Legislative branch of government and also an employee within the Executive branch of government through his employment at Wayne State. In the course of the Conway opinion, the Court set out the following rule which governs the application of Article II, Section 1 to the activities of state government officials:

... article II prohibits one who exercises the power of one branch--that is, an officer in the broader sense of the word--from being a member--that is, either an officer or employee--of another branch.

State ex rel. Spire v. Conway, 238 Neb. at 782, 472 N.W.2d at 412.

In the present situation, it is clear that a member of the Nebraska Legislature is an officer in the Legislative branch of government. As a result, under the Conway test, he or she cannot be either an officer or an employee of another branch of government. However, as discussed below, we believe that commissioned officers in the Nebraska National Guard are officers in the Executive Branch of government. Therefore, under Conway and Art II, § 1, members of the Legislature cannot also serve as a commissioned officers in the Guard.

In Nebraska National Guard v. Morgan, 112 Neb. 432, 199 N.W. 557 (1924), the Nebraska Supreme Court considered whether a civilian carpenter employed by the National Guard to work on the Guard's training facilities was an employee of the State for purposes of the Workers' Compensation statutes. The Court concluded that he was, and in the course of its opinion, the Court made the following observation:

While the Nebraska National Guard is subject to the call of the federal government and thereupon becomes a part of the national army, until so called it is essentially a state institution, subject to the call of the Governor as commander in chief for military service within the state in time of war, invasions, riots, rebellion, insurrection, or reasonable apprehension thereof . . . , and is a state governmental agency.

112 Neb. at 435, 199 N.W. at 558, 559. (emphasis added). Consequently, on the basis of the Morgan decision, it is clear that the Nebraska National Guard is an agency of the State of Nebraska unless it is acting under call of the federal government. See also Eidenmiller v. State, 120 Neb. 430, 233 N.W. 447 (1930).

It also appears clear that the National Guard is a part of the Executive branch of state government, for two reasons. First, that is the general rule from other jurisdictions. Mountcastle v. State, 193 Okla. 506, 145 P.2d 392 (1944); Herlihy v. Donahue, 52 Mont. 601, 161 P. 164 (1916); State v. Moore, 76 Ark. 197, 88 S.W. 881 (1905); 53 Am. Jur. 2d Military, and Civil Defense, § 38. Second, the Governor is commander in chief of the Guard, and the Constitutional provision creating that authority, Art. IV, § 14, is located in the article establishing the Executive in the Nebraska Constitution.

As discussed at some length above, military officers in the Nebraska National Guard are officers of the State of Nebraska.² Since the Nebraska National Guard is an agency of the State of Nebraska and part of the Executive Branch of state government, officers of the Guard are officers in the Executive Branch. As such, they cannot also serve in the Legislative Branch as members of the Nebraska Legislature under the rule set out in the Conway decision based upon Art. II, § 1 of the Nebraska Constitution.

² On the other hand, enlisted members of the Guard are not employees of the State of Nebraska, at least for purposes of the Workers' Compensation Statutes. Lind v. Nebraska National Guard, 144 Neb. 122, 12 N.W.2d 652 (1944).

SUBJECT: Constitutionality of a statutory ban on "partial-birth" abortions in Nebraska

REQUESTED BY: Senator Jim Jensen

Steve Grasz, Deputy Attorney General

You have requested an Attorney General's Opinion as to "whether a ban on 'partial-birth abortions in the State of Nebraska would be constitutional."

I. Applicable Law

In Roe v. Wade, 410 U.S. 113, 93 S.Ct. 705 (1973), the United States Supreme Court declared that "the unborn" are not persons, and announced a new fundamental constitutional right to abortion which prevents States from outlawing abortion before viability of the child. 410 U.S. at 147-165, 93 S.Ct. at 724-733. Roe established a "trimester" framework governing state regulation of abortion. Under Roe, virtually no restrictions could be placed on first trimester abortions. After viability, though, the States could outlaw abortion except where necessary to preserve the life or "health" of the mother. Id. at 163-165, 93 S.Ct. at 732-733. The actual ability of States to prohibit abortions after viability was illusory, however, since the "health" exception swallowed the rule. In the companion case of Doe v. Bolton, 410 U.S. 179, 93 S.Ct. 739 (1973), the Court defined "health" as including psychological, emotional, and familial factors (such as depression, youth, anxiety) as well as physical factors. Id. at 192, 93 S.Ct. at 747. Consequently, for all practical purposes, the termination of all pregnancies was a legally protected constitutional right for virtually any reason up until the birth of the child. In fact, in Schulte v. Douglas, 567 F.Supp. 522 (D.Neb. 1981), aff'd per curiam sub nom. Womens Services, P.C. v. Douglas, 710 F.2d 465 (8th Cir. 1983), the Federal District Court for the District of Nebraska invalidated a Nebraska statute which attempted to prohibit abortion after viability of the child even though the statute allowed post-viability abortions that were "necessary to preserve the woman from an imminent peril that substantially endangers her life and health."

Although Roe v. Wade has never been overruled, in 1992 the U.S. Supreme Court discarded its arbitrary "trimester" framework, and placed greater emphasis on the States' interest in "potential" life throughout pregnancy. In Planned Parenthood of Southeastern Pennsylvania v. Casey, 505 U.S. 833, 112 S.Ct. 2791 (1992), the Court held that States could regulate pre-viability abortions as long as the regulation did not impose an "undue burden" on the woman. A state statute regulating abortion must have neither "the purpose or effect of placing a substantial obstacle in the path of a woman seeking an abortion of a nonviable fetus." Planned Parenthood v. Casey, 112 S.Ct. at 2820-21. Casey also lowered the judicial standard applied to state abortion statutes. "After Casey, the State need only show that it has a legitimate interest, and that the challenged regulation 'cannot be said [to] serve no purpose other than to make abortions more difficult.'" Women's Medical Professional Corp. v. Voinovich, 911 F.Supp. 1051, 1074 n. 30 (S.D. Ohio 1995).

The Court clearly stated in Casey that after the unborn child reaches viability the State's interest in protecting the fetus outweighs the woman's liberty interest in having an abortion, subject only to a medical determination that an abortion is necessary for the preservation of the life or health of the mother. 112 S.Ct. at 2816-17, 2819-2821. Consequently, "regulations which apply only to post-viability abortions are presumptively valid, unless they have an adverse impact on the life or health of the pregnant woman." Women's Medical Professional Corp. v. Voinovich, 911 F.Supp. at 1060.

Most significantly perhaps, the Court in Casey upheld a definition of "medical emergency" in a Pennsylvania statute which limited the physician's determination to consideration of physical health factors. 112 S.Ct. at 2822. The Supreme Court further stated, albeit in dicta, that it is only in "rare circumstances in which the pregnancy is itself a danger to [the woman's] own life or health." 112 S.Ct. at 2806. If the Supreme Court meant what it said in Casey, then laws prohibiting post-viability abortions except where necessary to preserve the life and physical health of the mother are constitutional. If on the other hand, "health" is still an all-inclusive term, the Supreme Court's statements are mere legal sophistry, serving only to obscure the fact that babies' brains may still legally be suctioned out of their heads (as in partial-birth abortions) for virtually any reason. In fact, a federal district court recently held that "a state may not constitutionally limit the provision of abortion only to those situations in which a pregnant woman's physical health is threatened, because this impermissibly limits the physician's discretion to determine what measures are necessary to preserve her health." Women's Medical, 911 F.Supp. at 1081. Consequently, it is not clear whether "health" may be limited to physical factors. If not, the ability of States to proscribe abortions even after viability remains as illusory today as it was between 1973 and 1992. Nonetheless, the State of Nebraska is legally entitled to rely on the Casey decision until and unless a court of competent jurisdiction directs otherwise.

In sum, a total ban on "partial-birth abortions", especially since it would encompass both pre-viability and post-viability abortions, would likely have to pass the "undue burden" test of Casey.¹ Under Casey, "a state may act to prohibit a method of abortion, if there are safe and available alternatives." Women's Medical, 911 F.Supp. at 1067. In Women's Medical, the court framed the issue as "whether . . . there are safe and available alternatives to the D & X procedure, which is typically performed during the twentieth to twenty-fourth weeks of pregnancy, such that there would be no undue burden if the procedure were banned." *Id.*²

II. Analysis

Because the answer to your question ultimately hinges on medical facts (i.e. whether there are "safe" and available alternatives to the partial-birth or D & X abortion procedure), it is essential to define the procedure and its alternatives. This opinion will not attempt to define all the available alternatives, but will discuss several relevant procedures.

A. Definition of Abortion Procedures

¹Some legal scholars have argued that a less stringent test should be applied by reviewing courts due to the distinguishable features of a partial-birth abortion ban as compared to other abortion restrictions considered by the U.S. Supreme Court. See Hearings on HR 1833 Before the Senate Judiciary Committee, 104th Cong., 1st Sess. (Nov. 17, 1995) (testimony of David M. Smolin, Prof. of Law, Cumberland Law School, Samford University) transcript at pp. 344-350; Hearings on HR 1833 Before the Senate Judiciary Committee, 104th Cong., 1st Sess. (Nov. 17, 1995) (testimony of Douglas W. Kmiec, Prof. of Constitutional Law, University of Notre Dame), transcript at pp. 172-187. These arguments appear to have merit, and would likely be pursued in any litigation arising as a result of adoption of legislation banning partial-birth abortions. However, for purposes of this opinion, we will proceed under the most restrictive possible constitutional test.

²This opinion expresses no view as to the proper judicial standard for adjudicating a "facial" challenge to the constitutionality of an abortion statute, as opposed to a challenge to a statute "as applied". Since Casey, a split has developed among the circuit courts as to whether the approach taken in Casey has replaced the standard in United States v. Salerno, 481 U.S. 739 (1987). The Eighth Circuit has concluded that Casey did replace Salerno. See Planned Parenthood, Sioux Falls Clinic v. Miller, 63 F.3d 1452, 1458 (8th Circuit 1995). However, in separate (and unusual) memoranda accompanying an order denying a writ of certiorari in this same South Dakota case, two Justices of the Supreme Court took differing views of this issue. Justice Scalia stated that this question "virtually cries out for our review." Janklow v. Planned Parenthood, 1996 WL 203346 (U.S.) (Scalia, J., dissenting) (April 29, 1996). It is possible, therefore, this issue will eventually be taken up by the Court in Women's Medical Professional Corp. v. Voinovich, 911 F.Supp. 1051 (S.D. Ohio 1995) (currently on appeal to the 6th Circuit), in which this issue was also litigated.

1. Partial-birth/D & X Abortions

The procedure referred to in your request ("partial-birth abortion") is also sometimes known as a "Dilation and Extraction" ("D & X") abortion. See Women's Medical, 911 F.Supp. at 1063; Family Planning Specialists v. Powers, 46 Cal.Rptr.2d 667, 668 (Cal.App. 1995). This procedure involves partial dilation of the woman's cervix; pulling the baby's feet and entire body out through the birth canal up to the baby's neck; piercing the baby's skull with a sharp instrument; insertion of a tube into the brain; removal of the brain by suction; collapse of the skull; and removal of head. The baby (usually 20-24 weeks old) may or may not be alive and kicking at the time his or her skull is pierced and brains are suctioned out.³

a. Haskell D & X

The best-known practitioner of this procedure is Dr. Martin Haskell. His D & X abortion procedure has been described as follows:

On the first and second days of the procedure, Dr. Haskell inserts dilators into the patient's cervix. On the third day, the dilators are removed and the patient's membranes are ruptured. Then, with the guidance of ultrasound, Haskell inserts forceps into the uterus, grasps a lower extremity [foot and leg], and pulls it into the vagina. With his fingers, Haskell then delivers the other lower extremity [foot and leg], the torso, shoulders, and the upper extremities [arms]. The skull, which is too big to be delivered, lodges in the internal cervical os. Haskell uses his fingers to push the anterior cervical lip out of the way, then presses a pair of scissors against the base of the fetal skull. He then forces the scissors into the base of the skull, spreads them to enlarge the opening, removes the scissors, inserts a suction catheter, and evacuates the skull contents [brain]. With the head decompressed, he then removes the fetus completely from the patient.

Women's Medical, 911 F.Supp. at 1066 (bracketed material added). Dr. Haskell has stated that about 80% of the D & X abortions he performs between 20 and 24 weeks "are purely elective." See Hearings on H.R. 1833 Before the Senate Judiciary Committee, 104th Cong., 1st Sess (Nov. 17,

³Allegedly, some abortionists kill the baby by other means before the brain is removed. For example, one doctor says he cuts the baby's umbilical cord, and the baby dies before the procedure is performed. It reportedly "takes eight to ten minutes for the fetus to die, following the cutting of the umbilical cord." Women's Medical, 911 F.Supp. at 1066 n. 17. However, the same doctor told the American Medical News that two-thirds of the fetuses are alive when he performs the procedure. See Hearings on H.R. 1833 Before the Senate Judiciary Committee, 104th Cong., 1st Sess. b. Ohio Statutory Definition

In the State of Ohio, Dilation and Extraction abortion (D & X or partial-birth abortion) has been statutorily defined at follows:

[T]he termination of a human pregnancy by purposely inserting a suction device into the skull of a fetus to remove the brain. 'Dilation and extraction procedure' does not include either the suction curettage procedure of abortion or the suction aspiration procedure of abortion.

O.R.C. § 2919.15(A) (The Ohio statute bans this procedure except where "all other available abortion procedures would pose a greater risk to the health of the pregnant women.").

c. Congressional Definition

The United States Congress defined partial-birth abortion as follows:

"partial-birth abortion" means an abortion in which the person performing the abortion partially vaginally delivers a living fetus before killing the fetus and completing the delivery. The Congressional bill excepted partial-birth abortions "necessary to save the life of a mother whose life is endangered by a physical disorder, illness or injury: Provided, that no other medical procedure would suffice for that purpose.

Partial Birth Abortion Ban Act of 1995 (H.R. 1833, as amended by the Senate Amendments. Congressional Record H 11604 (Nov. 1, 1995) and H 2905 (March 27, 1996)). See also Sabelko v. City of Phoenix, 68 F.3d 1169, 1174 n.1 (referencing Senate debate) ("the abortionist takes a pair of scissors and inserts the scissors into the back of the skull and then opens the scissors up to make a gap in the back of the skull in order to insert a catheter to literally suck the brains from the back of that child's head. That is what happens in the so-called partial-birth abortion.").

2. Dilation & Evacuation Abortions

Another type of abortion is known as dilation and evacuation or D & E. See Women's Medical, 911 F.Supp. at 1064. This procedure was described in that case in some detail by the United States District Court for the Southern District of Ohio as follows:

In the second trimester, the fetus becomes too large to remove by use of suction curettage. At that point, the most common abortion method is a Dilation and Evacuation (D & E) procedure; indeed, it is the only procedure which can be used from the thirteenth to sixteenth weeks of pregnancy. Instead of using metal rods to dilate the cervix over a short period of time, the doctor inserts laminaria into the cervix during the one-to-two day period prior to the procedure, in order to slowly dilate the cervix. Then, a suction curette with a larger diameter is placed through the cervix, and the doctor removes some, or all, of the fetal tissue.

Frequently, however, the torso and the head cannot be removed in this manner. The procedure typically results, therefore, in a dismemberment of the fetus, beginning with the extremities. This dismemberment is accomplished both by use of the suction curettage, and by the use of forceps [the arms and legs are cut off or pulled off].

Removing the head of the fetus from the uterus is typically the most difficult part of the D & E procedure, in part because the head is often too large to fit through the partially dilated cervix. It is important to remove the head as quickly as possible, because fetal neurologic tissue can negatively affect the mother's ability to clot, and lead to greater bleeding. Physicians have developed different methods of decompressing the head, in order to remove it.

Dr. Anthony Levatino testified that when he performed D & E abortions, he preferred to grasp the fetal head with a clamp, crush it, and remove it in pieces along with the skull contents. Because he decompressed the skull by crushing it, he found it unnecessary to decompress the skull by purposely inserting a suction device into the skull and removing some of its contents.

Dr. Paula Hillard testified that when the skull is too large to remove intact, she grasps the skull and suctions out its contents with a cannula--which may enter the skull--in order to decompress it and facilitate its removal. . . .

Dr. Doe Number One testified that because the use of forceps can cause trauma to the mother's uterus, his preference is to collapse the head by use of suction, prior to its removal. By making a small incision at the base of the skull and inserting a suction device into the brain--while the head is still within the uterus, and no longer attached to the body--he can collapse the head and easily remove it, without the use of forceps. This method decreases injury to the cervix and uterus, and reduces operating room time, blood loss, and anesthesia time. Dr. Doe describes his procedure as a D & E, and collapses the head by the use of suction even in procedures performed from 15 to 18 weeks. . . .

Dr. Mary Campbell has not performed second-trimester abortions, but has read about and observed various second-trimester methods, in preparation for setting up a second-trimester practice at her clinic. In describing the D & E procedure, she testified that the fetal skull is generally not intact following dismemberment of the body--the jaw is often removed with the neck--and "the edges of the fetal skull are sharp enough to lacerate the maternal uterine [blood] vessels" The goal is therefore to place the suction cannula into the skull in order to remove its contents and make it smaller, thereby allowing it to be removed intact, in order to minimize lacerations. In addition, removing the head intact is advantageous because it ensures that no parts of the skull are left behind in the woman's uterus.

The primary distinction between this D & X procedure and the D & E procedure previously described appears to be that, whereas the D & E procedure results in dismemberment and piece-by-piece removal of the fetus from the uterus--and, possibly, in removal of portions of the skull contents by the use of suction after the skull is crushed with forceps or otherwise invaded, and before the head is placed next to the opening to the uterus--the D & X procedure results in a fetus which is removed basically intact except for portions of the skull contents, which are suctioned out after the head is placed next to the opening to the uterus (and after the rest of the fetus is removed from the uterus), and before the fetus is fully removed from the mother's body. The hallmark of the D & X procedure, therefore, is that the fetus is removed intact, rather than being dismembered prior to removal, as is done in a D & E procedure. In both procedures, the head usually must be decompressed, either by crushing the skull, or by invading the skull and suctioning out its contents. In the D & X procedure, the suctioning is purposeful; in a D & E procedure, the suction may either be purposeful, or, given the inability to clearly see the fetus, even with ultrasound, and the consequent difficulty of knowing whether the surgical instrument is in, or simply near, the skull, it may be accidental.

Women's Medical, 911 F.Supp. at 1064-66 (emphasis and bracketed material added).

The court in Women's Medical concluded that "Assuming that the D & X procedure is 'cruel,' however, this Court fails to see how it is more cruel than the D & E procedure--which involves the dismemberment of the fetus and, sometimes, the crushing of its skull. . . ." 911 F.Supp. at 1074 n. 29. The D & E abortion procedure is the most common abortion procedure in the second trimester (after 13 weeks).

3. Instillation/Induction Procedures

The court, in Women's Medical, also described a procedure known as instillation/induction.

The main alternative to the D & X procedure, in the late second trimester, is the use of an induction method of abortion. Induction methods are also known as "instillation" methods. In one type of induction method, the physician injects some substance--typically saline, or a combination of a prostaglandin and urea--into the amniotic cavity of the woman. In another type, the physician places prostaglandin suppositories into the patient's vagina. In both cases, the end result is labor: the substances cause the uterus to contract, resulting in the eventual expulsion of the fetus. This labor typically lasts between twelve and twenty-four hours, but may last as long as thirty-six hours.

Id. at 1068.

B. Availability of Other Procedures

Under the undue burden test in Casey, in order for a statute banning partial-birth abortions to be upheld it is necessary to show that there are "safe" alternative abortion procedures available. Women's Medical, 911 F.Supp. at 1067. The court in Women's Medical concluded there are not:

After viewing all of the evidence, and hearing all of the testimony, this Court finds that use of the D & X procedure in the late second trimester appears to pose less of a risk to maternal health than does the D & E procedure, because it is less invasive--that is, it does not require sharp instruments to be inserted into the uterus with the same frequency or extent--and does not pose the same degree of risk of uterine and cervical lacerations, due to the reduced use of forceps in the uterus, and due to the removal of any need to crush the skull and remove it in pieces, which can injure maternal tissue.

This Court also finds that the D & X procedure appears to pose less of a risk to maternal health than the use of induction procedures, which require the woman to go through labor, pose additional risks resulting from the injection of fluids into the mother, and cannot be used for every woman needing an abortion.

Finally, the Court finds that the D & X procedure appears to pose less of a risk to maternal health than either a hysterotomy or a hysterectomy, both of which are major, traumatic surgeries.

Because the D & X procedure appears to have the potential of being a safer procedure than all other available abortion procedures, this Court holds that the Plaintiff has demonstrated a substantial likelihood of success of showing that the state is not constitutionally permitted to ban the procedure. If this abortion procedure, which appears to pose less of a risk to maternal health than any other alternative, were banned, and women were forced to use riskier and more deleterious abortion procedures, the ban could have the effect of placing a substantial obstacle in the path of women seeking pre-viability abortions, which would be an undue burden and thus unconstitutional under Casey.

Even if induction procedures were as safe as the D & X procedure--and this Court does not find, on the evidence, that they are as safe--the requirement that a pregnant woman be hospitalized in order to undergo an induction procedure may also have a negative impact on the practical availability of abortions for women seeking pre-viability abortions. First, hospitals may refuse to allow induction procedures on an elective basis, including those situations in which a woman wishes to abort a fetus with severe anomalies. Second, it may be psychologically daunting to undergo the induction procedure in the hospital environment. These practical problems may discourage women in their second trimester from exercising their right of seeking elective, pre-viability abortions, or make it practically impossible to do so, thereby amounting to an undue burden on the right to seek a pre-viability abortion. In contrast, the D & X procedure can be performed on an outpatient basis within a much shorter period of time, and is not limited by either of these practical problems.

For both of these reasons--because the D & X procedure appears to be the safest method of terminating a pregnancy in the late second trimester, and because the D & X procedure is more available than induction methods, which require the woman to be hospitalized--this Court holds that Plaintiff has demonstrated a substantial likelihood of success of showing that the ban on the D & X procedure is unconstitutional under Danforth and Casey.

Id. at 1070-1071.

As is evident from the above-quoted portions of the opinion, the court in Women's Medical refused to give legal significance to the fact that under the Ohio statute, the D & X or partial-birth abortion procedure is not prohibited where "all other available abortion procedures would pose a greater risk to the health of the pregnant woman than the risk posed by the dilation and extraction procedure." See O.R.C. 2919.15(C)(1). This point will likely be argued by the State of Ohio on appeal, as Women's Medical is now before the 6th Circuit Court of Appeals (We have obtained and reviewed the briefs from that appeal in preparing this opinion).

Although the findings of the District Court for the Southern District of Ohio are, apparently, the only judicial findings currently available, they are not controlling on Nebraska courts or even necessarily persuasive. We have also reviewed testimony provided to the Congress of the United States by medical experts.

During the U.S. Senate's consideration of H.R. 1833 last November, Nancy G. Romer, M.D. testified before the Senate Judiciary Committee on the medical aspects of partial-birth abortion. Dr. Romer is a practicing obstetrician and gynecologist in Dayton, Ohio and is a diplomat of the American Board of Obstetrics and Gynecology. She is a fellow of the American College of Obstetrics and Gynecology as well as a clinical professor in the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology at Wright State University and vice chairman of the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology of Miami Volley Hospital in Dayton.

Dr. Romer testified that "In my medical judgment this procedure [D & X or partial-birth abortion] offers no advantage in safety nor efficacy over other methods of termination. . . [I]n my medical judgment, legislation to prohibit the D & X procedure or partial birth abortion does not present a substantial barrier to women seeking late term abortion. There is no medical evidence that this procedure is safer nor necessary to provide comprehensive health care to women. As currently practiced, it does not meet medical standards set by ACOG nor has it been adequately proven to be safe or efficacious." Hearings on H.R. 1833 Before the Senate Judiciary, 104th Cong., 1st Sess. (Nov. 17, 1995) Transcript at p. 112.

We also note that a recent article in the Washington Times quotes Dr. Frank Boehm, Director of Obstetrics at Vanderbilt University Medical Center in Nashville, as saying there are "no medical circumstances in which a partial-birth abortion is the only safe alternative." Dr. Frank Boehm, Partial-Birth Abortion Stirs A Medical Debate, Wash. Times, May 6, 1996. Thus, notwithstanding the decision of one judge in Ohio, it appears that substantial evidence could be presented that "safe" alternatives exist to partial-birth abortion.

III. Conclusion

It is essential to keep in mind that the D & X or "partial-birth" abortion ban being challenged in Women's Medical is a specific Ohio statute that may be subject to challenges not applicable to a Nebraska statute with different provisions. The Ohio statute apparently covers all abortions involving "inserting a suction device into the skull of a fetus to remove the brain." This fact seemed to play heavily in the decision of the federal district court. In contrast, the partial-birth abortion ban passed by the United States Congress (HR 1833) (and vetoed by President Clinton) banned only abortions in which a living fetus is partially delivered and then killed before delivery is completed.

Thus, it appears that while Ohio has attempted to ban all abortions which involve purposely sucking the brains out of unborn babies, the U.S. Congress attempted only to ban such abortions where the baby is still alive at the time the skull is pierced and the suction tube is inserted in the brain. Many or all of the objections of the District Court in the Women's Medical case (whether valid or not) would seem to disappear in the context of the Congressional approach. This conclusion, however, brings to mind the comment of the District Court of Ohio that cutting the arms and legs off a "fetus" inside the mother and crushing its head with forceps (as is done routinely in abortion clinics after 12 weeks in D & E abortions) is arguably no less cruel than sucking a baby's brains out after it is partially delivered.

Degree of cruelty is not the issue here, however. The legal issue presented is whether partial-birth abortions can constitutionally be banned. The answer is clearly yes, provided the statute does not impose an "undue burden" on women seeking abortions before viability of the fetus. A more specific, and less circular answer, is that it is inconceivable to us that a statute requiring the abortionist to kill the baby before its brains are sucked out would place any "undue burden" on women that even the U.S. Supreme Court could identify. A statute which bans all suctioning of brains, however, would be more difficult to uphold given the current state of the law, since it could possibly encompass some D & E abortions if they are not specifically excluded in the statute. However, if evidence shows that suctioning of the brains of living fetuses is never medically necessary, it could be banned outright. The federal district court's decision in southern Ohio has no legal force in Nebraska.

Finally, we would be remiss if we did not state the obvious: The legal question presented by the examination of the constitutionality of partial-birth abortion legislation is so inherently macabre, and utterly divorced from moral or rational foundation that it undermines the credibility of the legal system, and necessarily exposes the moral bankruptcy which is the legacy of Roe v. Wade. As the federal district court in Women's Medical recently stated, "Never, since the final shot of the Civil War, over a century and a quarter ago, has American society been faced with an issue so polarizing and, so totally incapable of . . . compromise, as is the ongoing controversy, of which this case is but the latest chapter, over the legality of attempts by the State to regulate abortion--the act of voluntarily terminating a pregnancy, prior to full term." Women's Medical, 911 F.Supp. at 1056.

Under the current state of Nebraska law, human fetuses or unborn babies are literally afforded less legal protection against cruelty, including dismemberment and death, than stray cats or rodents. It would be a criminal offense under Nebraska law to cut off the limbs of a cat or suck the brains out of a living rat merely to kill it, as is done in partial-birth abortions. See Neb. Rev. Stat. § 28-1008, 1009 (1994 Supp.). In contrast, unborn babies, who at 19 weeks can be felt kicking through their mother's body (externally) and who can be seen sucking their thumbs on ultrasound, can legally have their limbs cut off and their skulls crushed with forceps in D & E abortions (which are not the subject of partial-birth abortion legislation) or have their brains sucked out during what would otherwise constitute delivery by a D & X or partial-birth abortion. See Women's Medical, 911 F.Supp. at 1065 (discussing testimony of Dr. Harlan Giles, who performs D & E abortions up to the 20th week of pregnancy). This is the legal and medical reality of Roe v. Wade and Planned Parenthood v. Casey.

In sum, we believe that a partial-birth abortion statute could be drafted that would meet constitutional requirements under applicable decisions of the United States Supreme Court. We note that if the goal of such legislation is to prevent cruelty to late-term fetuses (as was the intent in Ohio), then amendments should also be made to Nebraska's existing statute regulating post-viability abortions (as was done by the Ohio Legislature) since the existing statute may permit other equally cruel abortion procedures to be performed on viable unborn babies. Any statutory changes must, of course, be carefully structured to meet the criteria of Planned Parenthood v. Casey, and should be accompanied by specific statements of legislative intent.

DON STENBERG

Opinion No. 96046

DATE: May 31, 1996

SUBJECT: Elimination of property tax on motor vehicles to be replaced with a fee schedule based on the age and original selling price of the motor vehicle pursuant to LB 1176, introduced during the second session of the Ninety-Fourth Legislature.

REQUESTED BY: Senator Pat Engel
Nebraska Legislature

Paul N. Potadle, Assistant Attorney General

Although Legislative Bill 1176 died at the close of the 1996 legislative session, we understand that you are contemplating the introduction of similar legislation next year, and so we are responding to your three questions about the bill, in the order presented.

Question 1: Would motor vehicles owned by Native Americans, and exempt under 25 U.S.C. 479, be considered exempt on the fee-based schedule in LB 1176, if the bill did not specifically exempt those vehicles?

Answer 1: Yes. The motor vehicles owned by Native Americans who lived in Indian country would be considered exempt even if the LB 1176 did not specifically exempt those vehicles.

Discussion:

LB 1176 expressly stated in Section 2 (subparagraph 3) that motor vehicles owned by Indians are exempt from this type of tax.

However, even if the bill did not have this section, motor vehicles owned by Native Americans in Indian country would still be exempt from this type of tax.

Generally speaking, federal Indian laws and treaties pre-empt state laws in Indian country, so, without a specific federal statute delegating jurisdiction over areas of Indian country to a state, jurisdiction within Indian country remains exclusively in federal and tribal hands. As a result, the state would not be able to tax Native Americans who live in Indian country.

The federal government can cede some of its federal jurisdiction over Native Americans to the state. For instance, Congress in 1953 enacted Public Law 280, a specific delegation of jurisdiction to Nebraska and four other states concerning authority over criminal and civil matters arising within Indian country located within their boundaries.

Public Law 280 states that the Federal government is not ceding any power of taxation over the personal or real property of the Native Americans to the states. 18 U.S.C. sec. 1162.

Furthermore, "The federal purposes implicit in setting aside Indian country for the residents for a tribe - self-government and economic support - preempt state jurisdiction to tax Indians or tribes therein unless Congress authorizes the tax." F. Cohen Handbook of Federal Indian Law, 406 (1982 ed.).

Moreover, in several recent cases, the United States Supreme Court has relied on the doctrine of federal preemption to shield Indians and their business on the reservation from various forms of state and local taxation. McClanahan v. Arizona State Tax Commission, 411 U.S. 164 (1973). Bryan v. Itasca County, 426 U.S. 373 (1976). The court in Bryan held that statutory authorization for states to tax reservation Indians would be found only where "Congress has manifested a clear purpose" to allow taxation. 426 U.S. at 392.

Thus, in the absence of an exemption for "Indians" as defined in 25 U.S.C. 479 in LB 1176, the state would not be able to collect a motor vehicle tax on Native Americans in Indian country. However, Native Americans who do not live in Indian country would have to pay motor vehicle taxes if LB 1176 did not specifically exempt those vehicles.

Question 2: Would the exemption apply to motor vehicles owned by Native Americans whether residing within or outside of Indian country and whether residing within or outside an area retroceded to federal jurisdiction?

Answer 2: Indians as defined in 25 U.S.C. 479 would be exempt from the fee-based schedule in LB 1176 whether within or outside of Indian country and whether residing within or outside an area retroceded to federal jurisdiction.

Discussion:

The language of LB 1176, section 2(3), stated that motor vehicles owned by Indians as defined in 25 U.S.C. 479 are exempt. According to 25 U.S.C. 479, there are three categories of "Indians".

First, an "Indian" includes all persons of Indian descent who are members of any recognized Indian tribe now under federal jurisdiction..."

Second, the term also includes all persons who are descendants of such members who were, on June 1, 1934, residing within the present boundaries of an Indian reservation.

Third, it includes those who have one half or more Indian blood.

The case of U.S. v. Moody, 923 F.2d 341 (5th Cir. 1991), addresses the interpretation of federal law. According to this case, words in a statute are to be given their plain and ordinary meaning. Id. at 347. Thus, since this legislative bill exempts those Indians as defined by 25 U.S.C. 479, this exemption from the motor vehicle tax could apply to any Indian who fit within one of the three categories listed in 25 U.S.C. 479. Whether or not an Indian lives on or off the reservation or an area retroceded to federal jurisdiction would not matter, assuming that the person was within one of the three categories in 25 U.S.C. 479.

This use of the "Indian" definition of 25 U.S.C. 479 in LB 1176 would encompass a large body of exempted people. In order to restrict the number of individuals who are exempted from paying taxes on their motor vehicles, LB 1176 could be changed so that it would use a different definition of "Indians". A possible alternative would be to exempt only "Indians" who currently live on a federal reservation, from motor vehicle taxes.

Question 3: Public law 280 does not grant the states any regulatory jurisdiction over Indian country generally other than what they might have under other federal laws. To what extent would state law be allowed to impose or enforce this legislation?

Answer 3: Public law 280 does not give the states any regulatory jurisdiction over Indian country beyond the criminal and civil jurisdiction set down in Public Law 280.

The state would not need to "enforce" LB 1176 since there would be no tax to collect. Since motor vehicles owned by "Indians" would be exempt under LB 1176, states would have nothing to enforce.

Discussion:

Public Law 280 only affects state jurisdiction dealing with criminal and civil causes of action which are within Indian country. In Native Village of Venetie I.R.A. Council v. State of Alaska, 944 F.2d 548 (9th Cir. 1991), the court stressed that the legislative history of Public Law 280 shows that the law was designed to remedy the lack of adequate criminal law enforcement on the reservations. Id. at 560.

Furthermore, the state of Nebraska would not need to "enforce" the non-tax provision against motor vehicles owned by "Indians". Since motor vehicles owned by "Indians", as defined by 25 U.S.C. 479, would be exempt from taxes, there would be nothing for the state of Nebraska to enforce.

Sincerely yours,
DON STENBERG

SUBJECT: Constitutionality of Placing Descriptive Language on Ballots Regarding Candidates' Positions on Term Limits

REQUESTED BY: Senator Kate Witek

Steve Grasz, Deputy Attorney General

You have requested an Attorney General's Opinion as to the constitutionality of a proposed amendment to the State Constitution directing the placement of descriptive language on ballots regarding certain candidates' positions and past votes on the issue of term limits.

I. Proposed Amendment

As set forth in your request letter, the proposed amendment you are considering introducing provides, in part, as follows:

We, the People of the State of Nebraska, have chosen to amend the state constitution to inform voters regarding incumbent and non-incumbent federal and state candidates' support for a Congressional Term Limits Amendment to the United States Constitution. Said Congressional Term Limits Amendment states as follows: "No person shall serve the office of United States Representative for more than three terms, but upon ratification of this amendment no person who has held the office of United States Representative or who then holds the office shall serve for more than two additional terms. No person shall serve the office of United States Senator for more than two terms, but upon ratification of this amendment no person who has held the office of United States Senator or who then holds the office shall serve in the office for more than one additional term. This article shall have no time limit within which it must be ratified to become operative upon the ratification of the legislatures of three-fourths of the several States."

We, the Voters of the State of Nebraska, hereby instruct each member of our congressional delegation to use all of his or her delegated powers to pass the Congressional Term Limits Amendment set forth above. All primary and general election ballots shall have printed the information "DISREGARDED VOTER INSTRUCTION ON TERM LIMITS" adjacent to the name of any United States Senator or Representative who: (1) fails to vote in favor of the proposed Congressional Term Limits Amendment set forth above when brought to a vote or; (2) fails to second the proposed Congressional Term Limits Amendment set forth if it lacks for a second before any proceeding of the legislative body or; (3) fails to propose or otherwise bring to a vote of the full legislative body the proposed Congressional Term Limits Amendment set forth above if it otherwise lacks a legislator who so proposes or brings to a vote of the full legislative body the proposed Congressional Term Limits Amendment set forth above or; (4) fails to vote in favor of all votes bringing the proposed Congressional Term Limits Amendment set forth above before any committee or subcommittee of the respective house upon which he or she serves or; (5) fails to reject any attempt to delay, table, or otherwise prevent a vote by the full legislative body of the proposed Congressional Term Limits Amendment set forth above or; (6) fails to vote against any proposed constitutional amendment that would establish longer term limits than those in the proposed Congressional Term Limits Amendment set forth above regardless of any other actions in support of the proposed Congressional Term Limits Amendment set forth above or; (7) sponsors or cosponsors any proposed constitutional amendment that would increase term limits beyond those in the proposed Congressional Term Limits Amendment set forth above, or; (8) fails in any way to ensure that all votes on Congressional Term Limits are recorded and made available to the public. The information "DISREGARDED VOTER INSTRUCTION ON TERM LIMITS" shall not appear adjacent to the names of incumbent candidates for Congress if the Congressional Term Limits Amendment set forth above is before the states for ratification or has become part of the United States Constitution.

Non-incumbent candidates for United States Senator or Representative, and the state legislature shall be given an opportunity to take a "Term Limits" pledge regarding Term Limits each time they file to run for such office. Those who decline to take the "Term Limits" pledge shall have the information "DECLINED TO TAKE PLEDGE TO SUPPORT TERM LIMITS" printed adjacent to their name on every primary and general election ballot. The "Term Limits" pledge shall be offered to non-incumbent candidates for United States Senator or Representative, and the state legislature until a Constitutional Amendment which limits the number of terms of United States Senators to no more than two and United States Representatives to no more than three shall have become part to our United States Constitution. The "Term Limits" pledge that each non-incumbent candidate, set forth above, shall be offered is as follows: "I support term limits and pledge to use all my legislative powers to enact the proposed Congressional Term Limits Amendment. If elected, I pledge to vote in such a way that the designation "DISREGARDED VOTER INSTRUCTION ON TERM LIMITS" will not appear adjacent to my name.

Signature of Candidate.

We, the Voters of the State of Nebraska, hereby instruct each member of the state legislature to use all of his or her delegated powers to pass the Article V application to Congress set forth herein, and to ratify, if proposed, the Congressional Term Limits Amendment set forth above. Said Article V application states as follows: "We, the People and Legislature of the State of Nebraska, due to our desire to establish term limits on Congress, hereby make application to Congress, pursuant to our power under Article V of the United States Constitution to call a convention for proposing amendments to the Constitution." All primary and general election ballots shall have printed the information "DISREGARDED VOTER INSTRUCTION ON TERM LIMITS" adjacent to the name of any respective member of the state legislature who: (1) fails to vote in favor of the application set forth above when brought to a vote or; (2) fails to second the application set forth if it lacks for a second or; (3) fails to vote in favor of all votes bringing the application set forth above before any committee upon which he or she serves or; (4) fails to propose or otherwise bring to a vote of the full legislative body the application set forth above if it otherwise lacks a legislator who so proposes or brings to a vote of the full legislative body the application set forth above or; (5) fails to vote against any attempt to delay, table, or otherwise prevent a vote by the full legislative body of the application set forth above or; (6) fails to vote against any proposed constitutional amendment that would establish longer term limits than those in the application set forth above regardless of any other actions in support of the application set forth above or; (7) fails in any way to ensure that all votes on the application set forth above are recorded and made available to the public or; (8) fails to vote against any change, addition or modification to the application set forth above or; (9) fails to vote in favor of the Congressional Term Limits Amendment set forth above if it is sent to the states for ratification or; fails to vote against any term limits amendment with longer terms if such an amendment is sent to the states for ratification. The information "DISREGARDED VOTER INSTRUCTION ON TERM LIMITS" shall not appear adjacent to the names of candidates for the state legislature as required by any of subsections (1) through (7) immediately above if the State of Nebraska has made application to Congress for a convention for proposing amendments to the Constitution pursuant to this law and such application has not been withdrawn or, the Congressional Term Limits Amendment set forth above has been submitted to the states for ratification. The information "DISREGARDED VOTER INSTRUCTION ON TERM LIMITS" shall not appear adjacent to the names of candidates for the state legislature as required by any of subsections (8) through (9) immediately above if the State of Nebraska has ratified the Congressional Term Limits Amendment set forth above. The information "DISREGARDED VOTER INSTRUCTION ON TERM LIMITS" shall not appear adjacent to the names of candidates for the state legislature as required by any of subsections (1) through (9) if the Congressional Term Limits Amendment set forth above has become part of the United States Constitution.

Thus, the proposed amendment would place descriptive language on the ballot regarding the failure of certain elected officials and candidates to adhere to the people's instructions regarding the issue of term limits.

II. Background

A. Congressional Term Limits

In 1992 and again in 1994, Nebraska voters overwhelmingly approved an amendment proposed by initiative petition that imposed limits on the number of times candidates for U.S. House and Senate seats could appear on the ballot.¹ The first vote of the people was nullified by the Nebraska Supreme Court after term limit opponents challenged whether the petition signature requirement had been met to properly place the issue before the voters. Duggan v. Beermann, 245 Neb. 907, 515 N.W.2d 788 (1994) (Duggan I). The second vote of the people was effectively nullified (as to Congressional term limits) by the United States Supreme Court in U.S. Term Limits, Inc. v. Thornton and Bryant v. Hill, ___ U.S. ___, 115 S.Ct. 1842 (1995). See Duggan v. Beermann, 249 Neb. 411, 426-429, 544 N.W.2d 68, (1996) (Duggan II). In U.S. Term Limits, the Court (on a 5-4 vote) held that States could not limit the number of terms served by members of Congress because all of the permissible requirements or qualifications for those offices are set forth in Article I of the Constitution of the United States and cannot be added to by the States. Consequently, term limits on members of Congress may be imposed only through an amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

B. Past Use of Descriptive Ballot Language

1. Selection of U.S. Senators

Descriptive ballot language of a nature similar to that contained in the proposed amendment is not a new concept. In 1909, the Nebraska Legislature adopted H.R. 1, introduced by State Representative Humphrey. This statute placed descriptive language following the names of legislative candidates stating their position on selection of U.S. Senators. This provision arose as part of the movement that successfully led to the direct election of U.S. Senators through an amendment to the U.S. Constitution in 1913. The 1909 statute provided as follows:

An Act to secure a more certain selection of the people's choice for United States Senator, to provide for a form of statement in regard to election of United States Senator to be made in their nominating petitions by candidates for legislative nominations at the primaries and to prescribe the form of ballot and statements thereon to be used at the primaries for the selection of legislative candidates.

Be it Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Nebraska:

Section 1. (Nomination papers, legislative candidates). Any elector seeking nomination as a candidate for the legislature at the primaries where such candidates are chosen may include in the application to have his name placed upon the official primary ballot provided for in Section 5866 of Cobbe's Annotated Statutes for 1907 any one of the two following statements, but if he does not do so the officer with whom the application is filed shall not, on that account, refuse to file his petition or place his name on the official ballot:

STATEMENT NO. 1

I hereby state to the people of Nebraska, as well as to the people of my legislative district, that during my term of office I will always vote for that candidate for United States senator in Congress who has received the highest number of the people's votes for that position at the general election next preceding the election of a senator in Congress, without regard to my individual preference.

(Signature of the candidate for nomination.)

If the candidate shall be unwilling to sign the above statement, then he may give the following statement as a part of his petition:

STATEMENT NO. 2

During my term of office I shall consider the vote of the people for United States senator in Congress as nothing more than a recommendation, which I shall be at liberty to wholly disregard, if the reason for doing so seems to me to be sufficient.

(Signature of the candidate for nomination.)

Section 2. (Ballot. Legislative candidate.) That part of the official primary election ballot which contains the names of candidates for legislative nominations shall have printed thereon, immediately following the names of those candidates whose applications include Statement No. 1, the following words, "promises to vote for people's choice for United States senator" and immediately following the names of those candidates whose applications contain Statement No. 2 the following words, "will not promise to vote for people's choice for United States senator." That form of that part of the ballot containing the names of those who are candidates for legislative nomination shall be substantially as follows:

For State Senator from _____th district. Vote for Richard Smith, promises to vote for people's choice for U.S. Senator.

William Jones.

For Representatives from _____th district. Vote for Wilbur Abie, promises to vote for people's choice for U.S. Senator.

William A. Adams.

Frank Alger, will not promise to vote for people's choice for U.S.
Senator.

Elton Ankeny.

1909 Neb. Laws, House Roll No. 1, Ch. 51 at p.252-254 (codified at Cobbey's Annotated Statute § 5906). Under the provisions of this statute, the candidate had the option of having the descriptive language placed after his or her name, but his or her name could appear with no descriptive language, as shown in the above example.

2. Convention Endorsements

Nebraska primary election ballots also once contained language following the names of candidates who were endorsed by the pre-primary conventions of the political parties. Following the endorsed candidate's name would appear "Endorsed by [First District Republican Party] Convention" or "Endorsed by [Democratic State Party] Convention." See Neb. Rev. Stat. § 32-1139.01 (R.S. 1943). Only the top two candidates receiving at least 25% of the pre-primary convention votes were entitled to this designation on the primary ballot. Id. See also 1945-46 Rep. Att'y Gen. 176, 177.

III. Constitutional Analysis

The issue presented is whether placement of descriptive language on ballots following candidates' names violates any constitutional provision. In analyzing this issue, one must avoid the temptation to mistake recent tradition and familiarity with constitutional law. We note that the very existence of a state-printed ballot is a legislative innovation. As the U.S. Supreme Court has pointed out, "until the late 1800's, all ballots cast in this country were write-in ballots. The system of state-prepared ballots, also known as the Australian ballot system, was introduced in this country in 1888 . . . Prior to this, voters prepared their own ballots or used preprinted tickets offered by political parties." Burdick v. Takushi, 112 S.Ct. 2059, 2070 (1992).

A. U.S. Constitution

As to ballots for Congressional elections, the validity of the proposed amendment is governed by Article I, § 4, cl. 1 of the U.S. Constitution. This section provides that states may prescribe "The Times, Places and Manner of holding Elections for [U.S.] Senators and Representatives. . . ." This provision expressly authorizes Nebraska to regulate the manner of its elections for members of Congress. See Burdick v. Takushi, 112 S.Ct. 2059, 2063 (1992). Under this provision, how Nebraska conducts its elections is within its discretion so long as it does not violate some other provision of the U.S. Constitution. See U.S. Term Limits, 115 S.Ct. at 1868 (invalidating ballot access restrictions deemed to constitute additional qualifications in violation of Article I). See also Eu v. San Francisco Democratic Comm., 489 U.S. 214, 222 (1989) ("A state's broad power to regulate the . . . manner of elections does not extinguish the state's responsibility to observe the limits established by the First Amendment. . . .") (quoting Tashjian v. Republican Party of Connecticut, 479 U.S. at 217).

The proposed amendment states in its opening clause that its purpose is to inform voters regarding candidates' positions on Congressional term limits. Under the First Amendment, states may generally enact ballot regulations which help the electorate make informed decisions. The U.S. Supreme Court has held that "there can be no question about the legitimacy of the State's interest in fostering informed and educated expressions of the popular will. . . ." Tashjian v. Republican Party of Connecticut, 479 U.S. 220, 107 S.Ct. 544, 551 (1986) (quoting Anderson v. Celebrezze, 460 U.S. at 796) (emphasis added).²

Significantly, the Supreme Court made this statement in the context of its discussion of the role of political party labels on election ballots. Political party labels are themselves a form of descriptive ballot language. The Court noted that "to the extent that party labels provide a shorthand designation of the views of party candidates on matters of public concern, the identification of candidates with particular parties plays a role in the process by which voters inform themselves for the exercise of the franchise." Id. at 552. See also Twin Cities Area New Party v. McKenna, 73 F.3d 196, 200 (8th Cir. 1996), cert. granted 116 S.Ct 1846 (1996) ("The Supreme Court has recognized that party labels provide a shorthand designation of the views of party candidates on matters of public concern. . . .").

Descriptive ballot language in the form of political labels is placed on ballots in every partisan political race by statute. See, e.g., Neb. Rev. Stat. §§ 32-809, 814, 815 (1994). Nebraska law provides that nonpolitical candidates go on the ballot only as individuals, while political candidates are listed with their party label. Petition candidates are designated on the ballot as having been nominated by petition.

It is important to note that political parties are not part of our constitutional framework, and have no constitutional basis beyond the right of political association. Placement of party labels on ballots is a form of descriptive language meant to inform voters. Voters have long been accustomed to descriptive language such as "Republican" or "Democrat" following candidates' names. Some past political party names were even more descriptive, such as "Free Silver", "Socialist Workers", "People's Independent", or "Prohibition." New party names are also often descriptive, such as "Reform" and "Green." A candidate could, if otherwise qualified, run on the "Term Limit" ticket or the "Experience Counts" ticket. Party names are intentionally chosen to convey a message to voters. In the case of the major parties, they provide the voter at least a general idea of where the candidate stands on a wide variety of issues.

We also note that the United States Supreme Court has held that political candidates can be required by law (within the bounds of the First Amendment) to disclose where their campaign money comes from and how it is spent. Buckley v. Valeo, 424 U.S. 1, 66 (1976). Although this information is not printed on the ballot, it is nonetheless required by law to be supplied to voters for the purpose of assisting them in identifying the philosophy of the candidate. The Court stated, "disclosure provides the electorate with information as to where political campaign money comes from and how it is spent by the candidate' in order to aid voters in evaluating those who seek federal office. It allows voters to place each candidate in the political spectrum more precisely than is often possible solely on the basis of party labels and campaign speeches." Id. at 66-67 (emphasis added). Similarly, the Court stated, "In many situations the label 'Republican' or 'Democrat' tells a voter little." Id. at 70 (upholding campaign disclosure requirements in order to inform the voters of the interest that specific candidates represent).

The use of descriptive ballot language as proposed by the amendment under consideration is legally indistinguishable from party labels and is intended to assist voters in making informed decisions. We conclude, therefore, the proposed amendment would not be found by a court to violate the First Amendment.

It is also our opinion that no other constitutional provision prohibits States from placing descriptive language on ballots as provided by the proposed amendment. The proposed language is not an additional qualification for members of Congress since it does not affect the ability of candidates to stand for Congress. U.S. Term Limits, 115 S.Ct. at 1868. It is not a violation of the Equal Protection Clause, since all similarly-situated candidates are subject to the same rules and would receive similar treatment. Reed v. Reed, 404 U.S. 71, 75 (1971). We also find no liberty or property interest improperly infringed by accurately informing voters of candidate's views or actions.

The only concern we have identified with the proposed amendment relates not to its facial validity, but to its application. The amendment makes the Secretary of State responsible for making an accurate determination as to whether a candidate shall have descriptive language adjacent to his or her name on the ballot based, in part, on votes taken by members of Congress. Although the proposed amendment is very detailed, it is possible that a dispute could arise as to the meaning of a particular vote and its effect on the Secretary's duties. We also note, however, that the proposed amendment also contains an appeal procedure which may be sufficient to deal with this problem in the event it ever occurs.

B. Nebraska Constitution

Since the proposed amendment also affects legislative elections, which are outside the scope of the Elections Clause of the U.S. Constitution, the proposed amendment would also be subject to scrutiny under the Nebraska Constitution. However, since the proposed language is itself a constitutional provision, it would necessarily set its own standard unless it could not coexist with other provisions of the state constitution. In any event, we see no existing state constitutional barrier to the proposed language.

Neb. Const. art. III, § 7 expressly prohibits certain specified descriptive language on ballots for legislative elections ("Each member shall be nominated and elected in a nonpartisan manner and without any indication on the ballot that he or she is affiliated with or endorsed by any political party or organization."). However, this provision does not prohibit the descriptive language in question.

The State free speech clause contained in Neb. Const. art. I, § 5 is not offended by the amendment for the reasons discussed above regarding the First Amendment. Likewise, the proposed language does not create new qualifications or disqualifications in addition to those set for members of the Legislature under article III, §§ 8, 9.

The proposed amendment would not constitute a "special law" under article III, § 18 which prohibits special laws for the opening and conducting of any election, since it is not a legislative act, and since it operates alike on all persons of a reasonably constituted class. See Baker v. Moorhead, 103 Neb. 811, 174 N.W. 430 (1919).

Finally, we see no inconsistency between the proposed language and Neb. Const. art. I, §22 which provides that "all elections shall be free. . . ." See State v. Junkin, 85 Neb. 1, 122 N.W. 473 (1909).

Conclusion

In conclusion, the proposed amendment placing descriptive language on ballots regarding candidates' positions and past votes on the issue of term limits does not, on its face, violate any provision of the Constitution of the United States or the State of Nebraska.

Sincerely yours,
DON STENBERG

Opinion No. 96058

DATE: July 25, 1996

SUBJECT: Practice of Veterinary Medicine

REQUESTED BY: Senator M. L. Dierks

Lynn A. Melson, Assistant Attorney General

You have requested the opinion of this office as to whether the diagnostic use of ultrasound techniques falls within the scope of practice of veterinary medicine and surgery. Based on our review of the Nebraska Veterinary Practice Act, we conclude that it does.

The practice of veterinary medicine and surgery is defined at Neb. Rev. Stat. § 71-1,154(3) (Cum. Supp. 1994) to include the following:

(a) To diagnose, treat, correct, change, relieve, or prevent animal disease, deformity, defect, injury, or other physical or mental conditions, including the prescription or administration of any drug, medicine, biologic, apparatus, application, anesthetic, or other therapeutic or diagnostic substance or technique, and the use of any manual or mechanical procedure for testing for pregnancy, or for correcting sterility, or infertility, or to render advice or recommendation with regard to any of the above;

Under Nebraska law, where the words of a statute are plain and unambiguous, no interpretation is needed to ascertain their meaning. In the absence of anything to indicate the contrary, words will be given their ordinary meaning. Kellogg Co. v. Herrington, 216 Neb. 138, 343 N.W.2d 326 (1984). It is our opinion that the above quoted statutory language is clear and that no interpretation or resort to legislative history for the purpose of discovering legislative intent is necessary.

Under the statutory definition, the use of ultrasound techniques would fall within the scope of veterinary practice if conducted for the purpose of diagnosis, treatment or prevention of animal disease, defect, injury or other physical or mental condition. You have referred in your letter to the use of ultrasound methods to test for pregnancy and to detect lameness and structural defects in the limbs of animals and these diagnostic uses are clearly within the scope of veterinary practice. As to your third example, whether utilization of ultrasound methods to measure backfat and ribfat in slaughter animals falls within the scope of practice would depend on the purpose of such measurements.

You have asked whether legislation would be necessary to specify that any use of ultrasound techniques on animals is included within the meaning and practice of veterinary medicine as defined at Neb. Rev. Stat. § 71-1,154. It is our opinion that the use of ultrasound techniques on animals is already included within the scope of practice for veterinary medicine as long as that use is for the purpose of diagnosis, treatment, or prevention of animal disease, defect, injury or other physical or mental condition. However, legislation would be necessary to include other uses of ultrasound techniques within the scope of veterinary practice.

DON STENBERG

Opinion No. 96062

DATE: August 19, 1996

SUBJECT: Interpretation of Exemption from Sales and Use Tax of Feed, Water, Veterinary Medicines, and Agricultural Chemicals for Consumption by, to be Used on, or Which are Used in Caring for "Animal Life" Under 1996 Neb. Laws, LB 106, § 1.

REQUESTED BY: Senator M. L. Dierks

L. Jay Bartel, Assistant Attorney General

You have requested our opinion regarding the interpretation of the exemption from sales and use tax for "feed, water, veterinary medicines, and agricultural chemicals for consumption by, to be used on, or which are otherwise used in caring for" certain forms of "animal life" resulting from the enactment of 1996 Neb. Laws, LB 106. § 1. Specifically, you ask whether "ratite birds" (including ostriches, emus, rheas, kiwis, and cassowaries) and "domesticated cervine animals" (including elk, deer, or other members of the cervidae family) are forms of "animal life" within the meaning of § 1 of LB 106.

Section 1 of LB 106 provides, in its entirety, as follows:

(1) Sales and use taxes shall not be imposed on the gross receipts from the sale, lease, or rental of and the storage, use, or other consumption in this state of feed, water, veterinary medicines, and agricultural chemicals for consumption by, to be used on, or which are otherwise used in caring for any form of animal life of a kind the products of which ordinarily constitute food for human consumption or of a kind the pelts of which ordinarily are used for human apparel. (emphasis added).

You have provided a copy of a letter from the State Tax Commissioner outlining the Department of Revenue's position that "ratites" and "domesticated cervine animals" are not forms of "animal life" within the meaning of § 1 of LB 106, as the products of these animals do not "ordinarily constitute food for human consumption".¹ You indicate that, if this interpretation is correct, you "contemplat[e] introducing legislation to clarify that ratite birds and cervine species defined as livestock by section 54-701.03 are included within the meaning of animal life described in section 1 of LB 106. . . ."

Statutory language should generally be given its plain and ordinary meaning and where the words of the statute are plain, direct and unambiguous, no interpretation is necessary to ascertain their meaning. Sorensen v. Meyer, 220 Neb. 457, 370 N.W.2d 173 (1985). "In the construction of a statute, no sentence, clause, or word should be rejected as meaningless or superfluous; rather, the plain and ordinary meaning of the language employed should be taken into account in order to determine the legislative will." Weiss v. Union Ins. Co., 202 Neb. 469, 473, 276 N.W.2d 88, 92 (1979). It is inappropriate to read a meaning into a statute which is not warranted by the legislative language. Anderson v. Autocrat Corp., 194 Neb. 278, 231 N.W.2d 560 (1975). Statutes conferring exemptions from taxation "are strictly construed, and their operation will not be extended by construction." Omaha Public Power Dist. v. Nebraska Dept. of Revenue, 248 Neb. 518, 519, 537 N.W.2d 312, 314 (1995). The interpretation of a statute by the administrative agency to which it is directed is entitled to weight. Vulcraft v. Karnes, 229 Neb. 676, 428 N.W.2d 505 (1988).

Prior to the adoption of § 1 of LB 106, the Nebraska Revenue Act provided an exemption for "[f]eed for any form of animal life or water which [was] supplied for consumption by animal life or which [was] otherwise used in caring for animal life of a kind the products of which ordinarily constitute food for human life consumption or of a kind the pelts of which ordinarily [were] used for human apparel." Neb. Rev. Stat. § 77-2702.12(2)(b)(ii) (Supp. 1995) (repealed 1996 Neb. Laws, LB 106, § 6). LB 106 was intended to "exempt the sale of veterinary medicines and agricultural chemicals used in the production and care of animals from which human food and apparel are derived (i.e. livestock)." Committee Records on LB 106, 94th Neb. Leg., 1st Sess. (Introducer's Statement of Intent) (February 16, 1995). The previously existing exemptions for sales of feed and water consumed by or used in caring for "animal life" were combined with sales of veterinary medicines and agricultural chemicals consumed by or used in caring for "animal life" in § 1 of LB 106. Section 1 of LB 106 retained the prior language providing that the sale or use of these items is exempt only if consumed by or used in caring for "animal life of a kind the products of which ordinarily constitute food for human consumption or of a kind the pelts of which ordinarily are used for human apparel."

The Tax Commissioner, in his letter outlining the Department's interpretation of the exemption in § 1 of LB 106 for sales of feed, water, veterinary medicines, and agricultural chemicals consumed by or used in caring for certain forms of animal life, states it is the Department's position that the sale or use of these items for consumption by or use in caring for ratites and domesticated cervine animals does not qualify for exemption. The Department's interpretation is based on its conclusion that the products of these forms of animal life do not "ordinarily" constitute food for human consumption.

While products of certain ratite species or members of the cervidae family may be used as food for human consumption, it appears to us that, consistent with the Department's position, products of these forms of animal life are not "ordinarily" used to provide food for human consumption. The word "ordinarily" is defined to mean "usually; as a rule; in most cases; . . ." Webster's New Universal Unabridged Dictionary 1259 (2d ed. 1983). We are unable to disagree with the Department's conclusion that, at present, the products of such animals "usually", or "in most cases", do not constitute food for human consumption.

This interpretation is consistent with the Department's regulation construing the meaning of the term "animal life" under § 77-2702.13. Sales and Use Tax Reg-1-062 provides:

062.01 Sales of any form of animal life, the products of which ordinarily constitute food for human consumption, are exempt from the sales tax. Cattle, sheep, swine, baby chicks, turkey poults, and bees are examples of exempt forms of animal life.

062.02 Purchases of animal life the products of which do not constitute food for human consumption, such as cats, dogs, mules, zebra, mink, parakeets, penguins, and canaries, chinchillas, horses, etc., are examples of taxable forms of animal life. Purchases of taxable forms of animal life are taxable to the purchaser even when such animal life is purchased for breeding purposes.

While Reg-1-062 is directed to the exemption of sales of "animal life" under Neb. Rev. Stat. § 77-2702.13(2)(b)(i) (Supp. 1995), the language in this subsection is identical to that used in § 1 of LB 106, to the extent that it pertains only to animal life "of a kind the products of which ordinarily constitute food for human consumption." The Department's regulation, and its interpretation of the term "animal life" in § 1 of LB 106, both recognize that products of certain forms of animal life, while they may occasionally be consumed by humans, do not ordinarily constitute food for human consumption. The Department's determination that products of ratites and domesticated cervine animals do not ordinarily constitute food for human consumption is in accord with the language employed by the Legislature, and is consistent with the rule that exemptions from taxation should be narrowly construed. The interpretation adopted by the Department is entitled to weight, and we cannot say that it is incorrect.

In your request, you make reference to the definition of "livestock" in Neb. Rev. Stat. § 54-701.03 (Supp. 1995). In 1995, the definition of "livestock" in § 54-701.03 was amended to include "domesticated cervine animals" (defined to mean elk, deer, or other members of the family cervidae) and "ratite birds" (defined to mean ostriches, emus, rheas, kiwis, or cassowaries). 1995 Neb. Laws, LB 718, § 6. The fact that the definition of "livestock" in § 54-701.03 was amended to include domesticated cervine animals and ratites, however, has no bearing on the interpretation of the exemption contained in § 1 of LB 106.

The addition of domesticated cervine animals and ratites to the definition of "livestock" in § 54-701.03 was enacted to place regulatory authority over such animals with the Department of Agriculture. Committee Records on LB 718, 94th Leg., 1st Sess., (Introducer's Statement of Intent) (February 14, 1995). Section 54-701.03 specifically provides that the definitions contained therein apply only "[f]or purposes of sections 54-701 to 54-705 and 54-742 to 54-753.05". There is nothing in the language or history of LB 718 which indicates an intent by the Legislature to alter the scope of the sales and use tax exemptions contained in § 77-2702.13(2)(b).

Indeed, a review of the history of LB 718 indicates that, as the Department has determined, products of ratite birds and domesticated cervine animals do not, at present, "ordinarily constitute food for human consumption." Various individuals involved in the ratite industry testified that development of a commercial market for ratite meat is in its infancy, indicating that products of these animals are not, at present, "ordinarily" used as food for human consumption. Committee Records on LB 718, at 14-19; 24-34; 46-47). Similar testimony was presented by individuals involved in raising animals of the family cervidae (primarily elk), indicating that domestic production of such meat for consumption by humans is not, at this time, economically viable. Id. at 19-20; 34; 38-39; 40-41; 47-48, 53; 54-55; 62. Thus, products of such animals are apparently not, at present, "ordinarily" used as food for human consumption. This testimony further bolsters the Department's interpretation of the scope of the exemption in § 1 of LB 106.

In conclusion, it is our opinion that the Department of Revenue is correct in its interpretation that "ratite birds" and "domesticated cervine animals" are not forms of "animal life" within the meaning of the exemption from sales and use tax contained in § 1 of LB 106, as products of these animals do not "ordinarily constitute food for human consumption." Thus, if you wish to add these animals to the forms of "animal life" covered by the exemption, further legislative action is required.

Very truly yours,
DON STENBERG

SUBJECT: Pardon Board Authority
REQUESTED BY: Senator Chris Beutler
Laurie Smith Camp, Deputy Attorney General

You have asked whether the Nebraska Pardons Board can commute a death sentence to a sentence of life without parole. We conclude that the Nebraska Pardons Board has the absolute power of pardon under the Nebraska Constitution and that the Board may commute a sentence to any lesser sentence or may issue a complete pardon to the offender.

Article IV, § 13 of the Nebraska Constitution provides in part:

"The Governor, Attorney General and Secretary of State, sitting as a Board, shall have power to remit fines and forfeitures and to grant respites, reprieves, pardons, or commutations in all cases of conviction for offenses against the law of this State except cases of treason and cases of impeachment.

The Nebraska Supreme Court has held that the Pardons Board has "unfettered discretion" to grant or deny an application for clemency. Otey v. State, 240 Neb. 813, 828-30 (1992).

Just as the power of pardon is vested absolutely in the President under the United States Constitution, the power is vested absolutely in the Board of Pardons under the Nebraska Constitution. The Laura, 114 U.S. 411, 414 (1884); Schick v. Reed, 419 U.S. 256, 266 (1974).

Because the power of pardon is vested absolutely in the Nebraska Pardons Board under the Nebraska Constitution, the Pardons Board may commute any sentence to a lesser sentence, including the commutation of a death sentence to a sentence of life without parole. One Pardons Board does not have the power to bind another future Pardons Board, however. So, if one Pardons Board granted a commutation of a death sentence to a sentence of life without parole, future Pardons Boards would not be precluded from commuting the sentence of life without parole to a sentence of a term of years. See, e.g., State ex rel. Stenberg v. Moore, 249 Neb. 589, 595 (1996).

As you consider "possible legislation in this area", you may wish to bear in mind that where a state constitution fixes the power to pardon, that power is not subject to legislative control except as provided by the constitution itself. The Laura, 114 U.S. at 414; Schick, 419 U.S. at 266; and Pardon and Parole, 59 Am. SUBJECT: Application of Good Time to Mandatory Minimum Terms

REQUESTED BY: Senator Don Wesely

 Laurie Smith Camp, Deputy Attorney General

You have asked whether good time applies to mandatory minimum sentences. We conclude that good time does not apply to mandatory minimum sentences, and that an inmate may not be paroled or discharged before the completion of the mandatory minimum term.

In 1989, the Nebraska Legislature enacted LB592, which provided mandatory minimum terms for certain drug offenses. The bill specified that any person convicted of an offense carrying such a mandatory minimum term "shall not be eligible for parole prior to serving the mandatory minimum sentence." Neb. Rev. Stat. § 28-416(10)(1989).

On January 25, 1994, this office advised the Director of the Nebraska Department of Correctional Services and the Chairperson of the Nebraska Board of Parole that, whether or not the Department applied good time to mandatory minimum terms, inmates could not be paroled prior to serving their mandatory minimum sentences. Attached for your reference is a copy of my letter to Harold Clarke and Ethel Landrum.

In 1995, LB371 re-classified several criminal offenses, causing them to carry mandatory minimum terms. The bill noted that a "person convicted of a felony for which a mandatory minimum sentence is prescribed shall not be eligible for probation", and the bill re-wrote Nebraska's good time laws, effective July 1, 1996, so that good time is no longer applicable to minimum terms:

[E]very committed offender shall be eligible for parole when the offender has served one-half the minimum term of his or her sentence. No such reduction of sentence shall be applied to any sentence imposing a mandatory minimum term.

Neb. Rev. Stat. § 83-1,110 (Supp. 1995).

The legislative history of LB592 (1989) and LB371 (1995) makes clear the fact that the Nebraska Legislature expected inmates who were sentenced for offenses carrying mandatory minimum terms to serve the full mandatory minimum term before being paroled or discharged. The introducers' statements of intent, their introductions of the bills before the Judiciary Committee, and the discussion of the bills both before the Committee and during floor debate, support this conclusion. For example, when introducing LB595 in 1989, Senator Chris Abboud said that "the bill requires a mandatory prison sentence upon conviction . . .". In his Statement of Intent for LB371 in 1995, Senator John Lindsay described the mandatory minimum terms as "the minimum penalty" of "years imprisonment". He represented that: "No person sentenced to a mandatory term under these statutes would be eligible for probation or reductions for good time." During floor debate, there was discussion of (unsuccessful) amendments which would have allowed inmates to serve less than the mandatory minimums prescribed under LB371. Senator Kristensen said: "[Those amendments] will give them the opportunity for good time, so instead of 25 years in prison, they could be out in 12, and that is something we cannot let happen in Nebraska."

Although it is apparent from the Legislative History of LB592 and LB371 that the Nebraska Legislature expected inmates sentenced to mandatory minimum terms to be incarcerated for the full mandatory minimum term, inmates could be discharged before the expiration of a mandatory minimum term if the Department of Correctional Services were to apply good time to the inmates' maximum terms and were to use the maximum terms to determine the date of discharge, without consideration of whether or not the inmate had been sentenced to a mandatory minimum term.

Based on the Legislative History of LB592 (1989) and LB371 (1995), we conclude that an inmate who has been sentenced to a mandatory minimum term can neither be paroled nor discharged from custody of the Nebraska Department of Correctional Services prior to serving the full mandatory minimum term.

 DON STENBERG

Opinion No. 96067

DATE: September 4, 1996
 SUBJECT: Delegation of the Power of Commutation
 REQUESTED BY: Senator George Coordsen
 Laurie Smith Camp, Deputy Attorney General

You have asked whether the power of commutation is limited only to the Nebraska Board of Pardons, and whether the Governor has the authority to vest the power of commutation with another state agency under his control. We conclude that the power of commutation is vested in the Nebraska Board of Pardons under the Nebraska Constitution, and that the Governor has no authority to vest such power with another state agency under his control, nor could any legislation give the Governor such power.

Nebraska Constitution, art. IV, § 13, provides in part:

The Governor, Attorney General and Secretary of State, sitting as a Board, shall have power to . . . grant . . . commutations in all cases of conviction for offenses against the laws of the state. . . . The Board of Parole may advise the Governor, Attorney General and Secretary of State on the merits of any application for . . . commutation, but such advice shall not be binding upon them.

The Nebraska Supreme Court has held that the constitutional power of the Nebraska Board of Pardons may not be usurped by the Legislature or by the courts.

In State v. Philipps, 246 Neb. 610 (1994), the Court declared unconstitutional the provisions of Neb. Rev. Stat. § 29-2308.01 (1989) which purported to allow sentencing courts to reduce sentences within 120 days after imposing a sentence, revoking probation, or receiving a mandate following an appeal. After describing the Board of Pardon's power of commutation set forth in Neb. Const., art. IV, § 13, the Court said:

Neb. Const., art. II, §1, prohibits one department of government from encroaching on the duties and prerogatives of the other or from improperly delegating its own duties and prerogatives, except as the Constitution itself otherwise directs or permits.

 [A] sentencing court which chooses to substitute a milder punishment for the sentence it had originally imposed does the very thing which defines an act of commutation.

Philipps, 246 Neb. at 614, 616.

In State v. Jones, 248 Neb. 117 (1995), the Court declared unconstitutional Neb. Rev. Stat. § 29-2931 (Cum. Supp. 1994), which purported to authorize a sentencing court to reduce or alter the sentence of a convicted sex offender. As in Philipps, the Court relied on Neb. Const., art. IV, §13, and art. II, §1.

In State v. Bainbridge, 249 Neb. 260 (1996), the Court declared unconstitutional Neb. Rev. Stat. § 60-6,209 (1993), which purported to allow a sentencing court to reduce a defendant's 15-year driver's license suspension pursuant to a third DWI conviction, if the applicant had served at least five years of the revocation. The Court held that because the driver's license revocation was punitive, a reduction in the term of the revocation would constitute a commutation of sentence. Again, the Court relied on Neb. Const., art. IV, §13, and art. II, §1.

On April 9, 1996, this office issued its opinion to the Nebraska Board of Parole, finding Neb. Rev. Stat. § 83-1,118(2) and § 83-192(1)(1994) unconstitutional. Those sections provide:

The Board [of Parole] may discharge a parolee from parole at any time if such discharge is compatible with the protection of the public and is in the best interest of the parolee.

Neb. Rev. Stat. § 83-1,118(2)(1994).

The Board of Parole shall:

 (c) determine the time of discharge from parole[.]

Neb. Rev. Stat. § 83-192(1)(1994).

In the opinion, we concluded that §§ 83-1,118(2) and 83-192(1) were unconstitutional because the Legislature cannot usurp the constitutional powers of the Nebraska Board of Pardons, even if the Legislature attempts to delegate those powers to another agency within the executive branch. Opinion of Attorney General, number 96029, April 9, 1996.

Just as the power of pardon is vested absolutely in the President under the United States Constitution, the power is vested absolutely in the Board of Pardons under the Nebraska Constitution. As such, it cannot be modified by the Legislative branch. The Laura, 114 U.S. 411, 414 (1884); Schick v. Reed, 419 U.S. 256, 266 (1974). Where a state constitution fixes the power to pardon, that power is not subject to legislative control except as is provided by the constitution itself. Schick, 419 U.S. at 266; Pardon and Parole, 59 Am. Jur. 2d, § 31 (1987).

Because the power of commutation is vested in the Nebraska Board of Pardons under the Nebraska Constitution, neither the Governor nor the Legislature may vest another state agency with that power.

SUBJECT: Responsibility for Fence Maintenance Pursuant to Neb. Rev. Stat. § 81-815.61

REQUESTED BY: Senator Jim Jones

 Lynn A. Melson, Assistant Attorney General

You have requested the opinion of this office regarding the responsibility of the Game and Parks Commission (Commission) for fence maintenance along the railroad right-of-way acquired as a result of Neb. Rev. Stat. § 81-815.59 (1994). Your specific question is whether the Commission assumes "sole responsibility" for fence maintenance under Neb. Rev. Stat. § 81-815.61 (1994) when it takes title to the land, when a section of the trail is developed or when the entire trail is developed.

We will first briefly review the pertinent statutes. Neb. Rev. Stat. § 81-815.59 authorized the Commission to accept as a gift the right-of-way of the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad located between Norfolk and Chadron, Nebraska. Section 84-815.59 further provides that the Commission "shall hold the right-of-way for interim trail use as a state recreational trail, to preserve wildlife habitat, and to provide a conservation, communications, utilities and transportation corridor and for other uses approved by the commission and allowed by the National Trails System Act."

Neb. Rev. Stat. § 81-815.61 sets forth the responsibility for fences as follows:

The Game and Parks Commission shall have the same responsibility with regard to division fences as a private landowner as provided in sections 34-101 to 34-117, except that in those areas where a recreational trail is developed, the commission shall have the same responsibility as a railroad as provided in sections 74-601 to 74-604.

Neb. Rev. Stat. §§ 34-101 to 34-117 (1993 and Cum. Supp. 1996) provide that, when two or more persons have lands adjoining, those landowners must share the cost of erection and maintenance of a division fence unless neither of the adjoining landowners desires a division fence. The general rule provided by these statutes is that each adjoining landowner is responsible for one-half the cost of the division fence. Therefore, with regard to the railroad right-of-way to be known as the Cowboy Trail, the Commission is required to share the cost of the division fence with the adjoining landowner except in those areas where a recreational trail is developed. As to those areas one must look to Neb. Rev. Stat. §§ 74-601 to 74-604 (Cum. Supp. 1994) to determine the Commission's responsibility for fences. Those statutes generally require a railroad corporation to "erect and thereafter maintain fences on the sides of its railroad, or the part thereof so open for use. . . ." Neb. Rev. Stat. § 74-601.

Under Nebraska law, where the words of a statute are plain and unambiguous, no interpretation is needed to ascertain their meaning. Sorensen v. Meyer, 220 Neb. 457, 370 N.W.2d 173 (1985). In the absence of anything to indicate the contrary, words will be given their ordinary meaning. Kellog Co. v. Herrington, 216 Neb. 138, 343 N.W.2d 326 (1984). It appears to us that the language of § 81-815.61 is clear and that no interpretation or resort to legislative history for the purpose of discovering legislative intent is necessary. The Legislature has provided that, with regard to the acquired right-of-way, the Commission will share the cost of erecting and maintaining fences as would a private land owner pursuant to §§ 34-101 to 34-117. The Legislature has also provided for an exception for those areas where a recreational trail is developed. That the Legislature contemplated that portions of the right-of-way would be developed as a recreational trail by section over time is also evidenced by Neb. Rev. Stat. § 81-815.60 which allows the Commission to lease those portions of the right-of-way which are not immediately developed as a recreational trail. For the reasons discussed above, we conclude that, when a section of the railroad right-of-way is developed as a recreational trail, the Commission must assume the full cost to erect and maintain fences along that section of the right-of-way.

It is our understanding, after consulting with the Commission, that no sections of the right-of-way have yet been completed for use by the public as a recreational trail. We have learned that the work remaining to be completed includes ballast salvage, surfacing, installation of stop signs and other warning signs and the installation of bollards at road crossings to provide protection. However, as a section is developed and ready for use, the Commission will bear the full cost of fences for that section as would a railroad as set forth in §§ 74-601 to 74-604.

Sincerely,
 DON STENBERG

DATE: December 13, 1996

SUBJECT: Practice of Veterinary Medicine-Embryo Transfer

 Lynn A. Melson, Assistant Attorney General

You have asked whether the scope of practice of a veterinarian licensed to practice veterinary medicine and surgery in this state includes the transfer of a live embryo from the uterus of one animal to the uterus of another. For the reasons discussed below, we believe the answer to that question is "yes."

The practice of veterinary medicine and surgery is defined at Neb. Rev. Stat. § 71-1,154(3) (Cum. Supp. 1996) to include the following actions:

(a) To diagnose, treat, correct, change, relieve, or prevent animal disease, deformity, defect, injury, or other physical or mental conditions, including the prescription or administration of any drug, medicine, biologic, apparatus, application, anesthetic, or other therapeutic or diagnostic substance or technique, and the use of any manual or mechanical procedure for testing for pregnancy, or for correcting sterility, or infertility, or to render advice or recommendation with regard to any of the above;

You have briefly described the embryo transfer procedure as involving "the removal of a live embryo from the uterus of one animal and implanting within the uterus of another." You have further informed us that the transfer "can be accomplished through surgical implantation and with non-surgical devices inserted through the reproductive tract" and that the process "requires precise determination of pregnancy in the donor animal and inducing receptiveness to the embryo through the administration of drugs and hormones to the receiving animal."

Statutes are not open to construction as a matter of course, and in the absence of any contrary indication, statutory language is generally to be given its plain and ordinary meaning. Weiner v. State, ex rel. State Real Estate Commission, 214 Neb. 404, 333 N.W. 2d 915 (1983). In keeping with that premise, when the words of a statute are plain, direct and unambiguous, no interpretation is necessary or will be indulged to ascertain their meaning. Rosse v. Rosse, 244 Neb. 967, 510 N.W.2d 73, (1994).

With regard to your question, it seems to us that the language of § 71-1,154(3)(a) is clear and that no interpretation or resort to legislative history is necessary. It is our opinion that the embryo transfer procedure would clearly fall within the scope of veterinary practice defined therein.

We note that your letter also refers to the embryo transfer procedure as being "reserved" to licensed veterinarians. For clarification, we point out that Neb. Rev. Stat. § 71-1,155(6) (1990) provides that an owner of livestock or a bona fide farm or ranch employee may perform certain acts in the treatment of domestic animals under his or her custody or ownership. Those acts set out in § 71-1,155(6) include vaccination, surgery, pregnancy testing and the administration of drugs. To the extent that the embryo transfer procedure involves only the listed acts, it appears to us that an owner could perform the procedure on his or her own animals. However, if the embryo transfer procedure requires acts other than those listed in § 71-1,155(6), the procedure could be performed only by a licensed veterinarian or to a limited extent by an individual who qualifies for one of the other exceptions from licensing found at § 71-1,155 such as a veterinary student, faculty member or researcher.

DON STENBERG

SUBJECT: Interpretation of the Exemption from Sales and Use Tax for "Agricultural Chemicals" Under Neb. Rev. Stat. § 77-2702.13(2)(b)(iv) (Supp. 1995).

REQUESTED BY: Senator Owen Elmer

L. Jay Bartel, Assistant Attorney General

You have requested our opinion concerning the scope of the exemption from sales and use tax for "[agricultural chemicals for use in agriculture" provided in Neb. Rev. Stat. § 77-2702.13(2)(b)(iv) (Supp. 1995). You indicate that the Nebraska Department of Revenue has taken the position that the exemption does not apply to certain substances or products which are added to agricultural chemicals to enhance their performance or aid in their application. Specifically, you state that the Department views certain additives, such as adjuvants, soil conditioners, and foam markers used for application purposes, as falling outside the scope of the exemption. You indicate that, depending on our interpretation of the scope of the exemption, you are contemplating the introduction of legislation addressing this issue.

Nebraska imposes "a tax. . . upon the gross receipts from all sales of tangible personal property sold at retail in this state, . . ." Neb. Rev. Stat. § 77-2703(1) (Supp. 1995). A corresponding "use" tax is imposed pursuant to subsection (2) of § 77-2703, which imposes a tax on the storage, use, or other consumption in this state of tangible personal property purchased, leased, or rented from any retailer and on any transaction the gross receipts of which are subject to tax under subsection (1) of this section on or after June 1, 1967, for storage, use, or other consumption in this state at the rate specified in subsection (1) of this section on the sales price of the property, or, in the case of leases or rentals, of the lease or rental price.

Neb. Rev. Stat. § 77-2702.13 (Supp. 1995), which defines "retail sale" or "sale at retail" for sales and use tax purposes, provides that these terms do not include the sale of "[a]gricultural chemicals for use in agriculture and applied to land or crops." Neb. Rev. Stat. § 77-2702.13(2)(b)(iv). "Agricultural chemicals shall not mean chemicals applied to harvested grains stored in commercial elevators; . . ." Id.

In addressing the proper construction of the exemption for "agricultural chemicals" in § 77-2702.13(2)(b)(iv), certain basic rules of statutory construction must be considered. Statutory language should generally be given its plain and ordinary meaning and where the words of the statute are plain, direct and unambiguous, no interpretation is necessary to ascertain their meaning. Sorensen v. Meyer, 220 Neb. 457, 370 N.W.2d 173 (1985). "In the construction of a statute, no sentence, clause, or word should be rejected as meaningless or superfluous; rather, the plain and ordinary meaning of the language employed should be taken into account in order to determine the legislative will." Weiss v. Union Ins. Co., 202 Neb. 469, 473, 276 N.W.2d 88, 92 (1979). It is inappropriate to read a meaning into a statute which is not warranted by the legislative language. Autocrat Corp., 194 Neb. 278, 231 N.W.2d 560 (1975). Statutes conferring exemptions from taxation "are strictly construed, and their operation will not be extended by construction." Omaha Public Power Dist. v. Nebraska Dept. of Revenue, 248 Neb. 518, 519, 537 N.W.2d 312, 314 (1995).

It is also important to bear in mind that the interpretation of a statute by the administrative agency to which it is directed is entitled to weight. Vulcraft v. Karnes, 229 Neb. 676, 428 N.W.2d 505 (1988). "Although construction of a statute by a department charged with enforcing it is not controlling, considerable weight will be given to such a construction, particularly when the Legislature has failed to take any action to change such an interpretation." McCaul v. American Savings Co., 213 Neb. 831, 846, 331 N.W.2d 795, 798 (1983).

The Department of Revenue has promulgated a regulation interpreting the exemption for "agricultural chemicals" in § 77-2702.13(2)(b)(iv). Sales and Use Tax Reg-1-061 provides, in part, as follows:

061.01 Agricultural chemicals to be applied to land or crops in commercial agriculture are exempt.

061.01A "Agricultural chemicals" as used in this regulation includes fertilizers, minerals, insecticides, fungicides, rodenticides, herbicides, defoliants, soil fumigants, plant growth regulating chemicals, plant desiccants, seed inoculants and plant hormones. Agricultural chemicals does not include detergents, wetting agents, or soil conditioners intended to assist in the application or effectiveness of agricultural chemicals. (emphasis added).

In addition to Reg-1-061, the Department, in 1976, issued a Revenue Ruling addressing whether wetting agents and carriers for agricultural chemicals were exempt from sales or use tax. The Department opined that "[w]etting agents and carriers simplify the application of an agricultural chemical, but do not by themselves have the effect of the agricultural chemical. Consequently, the purchase of wetting agents and carriers is not exempt from sales and use tax as an agricultural chemical." Nebraska Dept. of Revenue Ruling 1-76-4 (June 22, 1976).

Thus, the Department of Revenue's interpretation of the exemption for "agricultural chemicals" is that the exemption does not apply to various substances or products which, while used in connection with agricultural chemicals, are utilized to assist in the application or effectiveness of the chemicals. This interpretation, as noted, is entitled to weight in determining the proper construction of the exemption, as is consistent with the rule that exemptions from taxation are to be narrowly construed. Moreover, the Department has interpreted the exemption in this manner for many years, and the Legislature has not acted to change this interpretation. Accordingly, we cannot say that the Department's interpretation is unreasonable.¹ Should you disagree with this construction, you may wish to introduce legislation amending the statute to broaden the scope of the exemption.

¹ In your letter, you state that the Department has taken the position that liming materials are not exempt as "agricultural chemicals." The Department has advised us that lime, as a mineral, is exempt from sales and use tax if purchased to be applied to land or crops in commercial agriculture. As the exemption is dependent upon the purchaser's intended use of the lime, sellers are required to collect sales tax on retail sales of lime unless the purchaser issues to the seller a properly completed Nebraska Resale or Exempt Sale Certificate, Form 13. Sales of detergents, wetting agents, or other similar soil conditioners intended to assist in the application or effectiveness of agricultural chemicals, however, are not exempt from sales and use tax.

Very truly yours,
DON STENBERG

SUBJECT: Restriction on the Possession of Firearms based on Misdemeanor Convictions

REQUEST BY: Senator Chris Beutler

Laurie Smith Camp, Deputy Attorney General

You have asked whether legislation restricting the purchase and possession of handguns by people convicted of certain misdemeanors would withstand constitutional scrutiny. We conclude that the legislation you anticipate may be susceptible to challenge under the Second Amendment to the United States Constitution; Article I, §1, of the Nebraska Constitution; the Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution; and the Due Process Clauses of the Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution and of Article I, §3, of the Nebraska Constitution.

We understand that the legislation which you anticipate introducing would be patterned after LB546, introduced during the 1995 legislative session. That bill was designed to prohibit the purchase or possession of handguns by individuals convicted of certain misdemeanor offenses: stalking, false imprisonment in the second degree, sexual assault in the third degree, impersonating a peace officer, resisting arrest, obstructing a peace officer, introducing or providing escape implements, carrying a concealed weapon, violation of a protection order, and violation of handgun certificate requirements, as well as the attempt to commit any such offense, and aiding, abetting, procuring, or causing another to commit any such offense. The described offenses are Class I misdemeanors, with the exception of "violation of a protection order" which is a Class II misdemeanor. An attempt to commit a Class I misdemeanor is a Class II misdemeanor; and an attempt to commit a Class II misdemeanor is a Class III misdemeanor. [Neb. Rev. Stat. §28-201 (1995)]. So, the proposed legislation would cover certain Class I misdemeanors, as well as certain Class II and Class III misdemeanors.

The Second Amendment to the United States Constitution provides:

A well regulated Militia, being necessary to the security of a free State, the right of the people to keep and bear arms, shall not be infringed.

Article I, §1, of the Nebraska Constitution provides in part:

All persons are by nature free and independent, and have certain inherent and inalienable rights; among these are. . . the right to keep and bear arms for security or defense of self, family, home, and others, and for lawful common defense, hunting, recreational use, and all other lawful purposes, and such rights shall not be denied or infringed by the state or any subdivision thereof.

The Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution provides:

No state shall . . . deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

Article I, §3, of the Nebraska Constitution provides:

No person shall be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law.

The federal courts and the Nebraska Supreme Court have recognized that the constitutional right to bear arms is not absolute. See United States v. Miller, 307 U.S. 174 (1939); United States v. Cody, 460 F.2d 34 (8th Cir. 1972); United States v. Synnes, 438 F.2d 764 (8th Cir. 1971); State v. Comeau, 233 Neb. 907 (1989); and State v. Harrington, 236 Neb. 500 (1990). In Comeau and Harrington, the Nebraska Supreme Court specifically upheld Nebraska's statute prohibiting the possession of firearms by convicted felons [Neb. Rev. Stat. §28-1206] under both the Second Amendment of the United States Constitution, as well as Article I, §1, of the Nebraska Constitution.

In Comeau, the Nebraska Supreme Court held that "reasonable regulation" of the right to keep and bear arms is not prohibited under the federal or state constitutions. Comeau, 233 Neb. at 912, 916. In Comeau and in Harrington, the court concluded that Nebraska's restriction on the possession of firearms by felons was reasonable.

The Equal Protection Clause requires the government to treat similarly situated people alike. City of Cleburne v. Cleburne Living Center, Inc., 473 U.S. 432, 439 (1985). In general, the government need only show a "rational basis" for dissimilar treatment of its citizens. However, "when state laws impinge on personal rights protected by the Constitution" the government's dissimilar treatment of its citizens may be subject to strict scrutiny, and the government may be required to show that its laws are "suitably tailored to serve a compelling state interest." Cleburne, 473 U.S. at 440.

The proposed legislation which would prohibit the purchase or possession of handguns by individuals of selected Class I, Class II, and Class III misdemeanors, may be susceptible to an equal protection challenge, because it does not have a uniform application to all offenders who have been convicted of misdemeanors of those classes. For example, the bill would not apply to an individual who has been convicted of Class I misdemeanor for assault, but would apply to an individual who has been convicted of a Class III misdemeanor for attempting to violate a protection order. Whether the equal protection analysis were conducted under a "rational basis" or a "strict scrutiny" review, the present wording of the statute might fail an equal protection challenge.

The Due Process Clauses of the United States Constitution and of the Nebraska Constitution prohibit governmental action which is "unreasonable, arbitrary, discriminatory, or confiscatory." See, e.g., Blauvelt v. Beck, 162 Neb. 576, 584-87 (1956). The proposed legislation could be deemed arbitrary and unreasonable and fail a substantive due process challenge, as well.

Finally, the bill could be susceptible to challenge on the issue of whether its use of the state's inherent police power constitutes "reasonable regulation" of the right to bear arms under the Second Amendment to the United States Constitution and under Article I, §1, of the Nebraska Constitution.

On September 30, 1996, the federal Gun Control Act of 1968 was amended, making it illegal for anyone who has been convicted of a misdemeanor crime of domestic violence to possess any firearm or ammunition. [18 U.S.C. § 922(g)(9)]. As the courts analyze constitutional challenges to this new legislation, it will become more apparent whether the legislation you are contemplating would be constitutionally viable.

Sincerely,
DON STENBERG

SUBJECT: Same-sex Marriage - Impact of Baehr v. Lewin
and the Defense of Marriage Act on Nebraska Law

REQUESTED BY: Senator Jim Jensen

Steve Grasz, Deputy Attorney General

You have requested an Attorney General's Opinion concerning the impact of the recent court decision in Hawaii regarding same-sex marriage, as well as the new federal Defense of Marriage Act, on possible legislation in Nebraska to prohibit same-sex marriages.¹

In Op. Att'y Gen. No. 96025 (March 25, 1996), we addressed the issue of whether Nebraska would be required to recognize a same-sex marriage license obtained in the State of Hawaii. At that time, a lawsuit concerning same-sex marriage was still pending before a trial level court in Hawaii following remand by the Hawaii Supreme Court. See Baehr v. Lewin, 852 P.2d 44 (Hawaii 1993). On December 3, 1996, the trial court ruled that Hawaii could not refuse to grant licenses for same-sex marriages, thus creating the possibility that other states, including Nebraska, would have to honor same-sex "marriage" licenses obtained in Hawaii. See Op. Att'y Gen. No. 96025. However, on December 4, 1996, the Hawaii Attorney General's Office requested and obtained a stay of the trial court's decision pending appeal to the Hawaii Supreme Court. Therefore, the Nebraska Legislature should have time to consider legislation on this topic during the 1997 session. This opinion will discuss the Hawaii court decision and recently-enacted federal legislation to determine their impact on possible legislation in Nebraska concerning same-sex marriages.

¹The use of the phrase "same-sex 'marriage'" in this opinion is in no way intended to indicate that two persons of the same sex are capable of entering into a marriage relationship. See Op. Att'y Gen. No. 96025 (March 25, 1996) ("Marriage" can only occur between persons of the opposite sex); 1977-78 Rep. Att'y Gen. 170. (Op. No. 113, June 27, 1977).

Baehr v. Miike Decision

In Baehr v. Miike, No. 91-1394 (Cir. Ct. of Hawaii, Dec. 3, 1996) (1996 WL 694235), the court held that denial of marriage licenses to same-sex couples pursuant to HRS § 572-1 violated the constitutional rights of the plaintiffs. Specifically, the court held that Hawaii's marriage statute violated the equal protection clause of the Hawaii Constitution. The Court enjoined the Director of the Hawaii Department of Health from denying applications for marriage licenses to applicants of the same sex. Id. at 18. The court found that the State of Hawaii failed to "overcome the presumption that HRS § 571-1 is unconstitutional by demonstrating that it furthers a compelling state interest and is narrowly drawn to avoid unnecessary abridgments of constitutional rights." Id. This compelling state interest test was imposed by the Hawaii Supreme Court. Baehr v. Lewin, 852 P.2d 44, 64 (Haw. 1993). The court in that case held that the marriage statute regulated access to the status of marriage on the basis of the applicant's sex, and therefore established a sex-based classification. Since sex is a suspect category for purposes of equal protection analysis under article I, § 5 of the Hawaii Constitution, the statute was to be subjected to "strict scrutiny." Once the statute was labeled as a sex-based classification and this high burden of proof was imposed on the State by the Hawaii Supreme Court, it was virtually predetermined that the statute would be stricken. Compare 1977-78 Rep. Att'y Gen. 170 (Op. No. 113, June 27, 1977) (marriage licenses are denied to two people of the same sex "because of the nature of marriage itself, not because of the fortuitous circumstances of their sex."). It is at least noteworthy, however, to consider the trial court's statement on remand that,

Defendant (State of Hawaii) presented meager evidence with regard to the importance of the institution of traditional marriage, the benefits which that relationship provides to the community and, most importantly, the adverse effects, if any, which same-sex marriage would have on the institution of traditional marriage and how those adverse effects would impact on the community and society. The evidentiary record in this case is inadequate to thoughtfully examine and decide these significant issues.

Baehr v. Miike, 1996 WL 694235 at 19. This statement provides a road map for any other state facing similar litigation, but may also represent a criticism of the vigor with which the case was defended and/or a pointed reference to the fact that the Hawaii Supreme Court expressly refused to allow attorneys representing religious interests to present legal arguments in support of traditional marriage. Baehr v. Miike, 910 P.2d 112 (Hawaii 1996) (affirming denial of motion for leave to intervene by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints and three LDS clergy members who believed the State Attorney General "might not be willing to assert at the upcoming trial all the known compelling state interests which have been determined, in other jurisdictions, to be legally sufficient to justify similar legislation [banning same-sex marriage].").

The Defense of Marriage Act

In anticipation of the Hawaii court decision mandating state approval of same-sex marriage, the United States Congress adopted the Defense of Marriage Act, Public Law 104-199 [H.R. 3396], on September 21, 1996. This Act was subsequently signed into law by President Clinton. The Defense of Marriage Act (DOMA) amends 28 U.S.C. § 1738C by adding the following language: "No State . . . shall be required to give effect to any public act, record, or judicial proceeding of any other State . . . respecting a relationship between persons of the same-sex that is treated as a marriage under the laws of such other State . . . , or a right or claim arising from such relationship." DOMA also amends 1 U.S.C. 1 by adding the following definition of "marriage" for purposes of federal law: "marriage" means only a legal union between one man and one woman as husband and wife, and the word "spouse" refers only to a person of the opposite sex who is a husband or a wife." Thus, DOMA expressly provides that Nebraska and other states are not required to recognize same-sex "marriages" from Hawaii or any other jurisdiction. However, DOMA in no way alters existing Nebraska law or that of any other jurisdiction. It simply protects those States which choose not to recognize same-sex "marriages" from other jurisdictions. Without affirmative legislation on the subject, Nebraska would most likely be subjected to litigation in an attempt to force recognition of same-sex marriage licenses issued in Hawaii.

CONCLUSION

Based upon review of the Baehr decision and the Defense of Marriage Act, the answers to your questions are as follows:

1. New legislation expressly prohibiting or excluding recognition of same-sex marriages under Nebraska law is the only certain way to avoid the possibility that Nebraska could be forced to recognize same-sex marriage licenses issued in Hawaii.
2. The Defense of Marriage Act protects any State, including Nebraska, from being forced to recognize same-sex marriages from other jurisdictions if such State does not wish to do so. However, DOMA does not alter existing State laws nor prohibit States from recognizing same-sex marriages. Given the existing uncertainty under Nebraska law, additional legislation would be required to ensure Nebraska would be protected under DOMA.

Sincerely yours,
DON STENBERG

SUBJECT: Qualification of Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association to Conduct Licensed Horseracing in Nebraska.

REQUESTED BY: Senator Stan Schellpeper

L. Jay Bartel, Assistant Attorney General

You have requested our opinion on several questions concerning the qualification of the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association ["HBPA"] to conduct licensed horseracing in Nebraska. You state that the Nebraska State Racing Commission ["Commission"] is to consider an application by the HBPA for a license to conduct a live thoroughbred horse race meeting at Fonner Park in 1997. Your questions concern whether the granting of such a license to the HBPA is consistent with various existing statutes governing the conduct of race meetings. If we conclude that it is not, you indicate that you may consider amendatory legislation to address the questions presented.

Initially, you direct our attention to Neb. Rev. Stat. § 2-1204 (1991), which sets forth the requirements for applicants seeking a license to conduct horseracing in Nebraska. Section 2-1204 provides, in part:

The State Board of Agriculture, or any county society for the improvement of agriculture organized under section 2-201 or 2-221, or any corporation or association of persons organized and carried on for civic purposes, or which conducts a livestock exposition for the promotion of the livestock or horse-breeding industries of the state, and which does not permit its members to derive personal profit from its activities by way of dividends or otherwise. may apply to the State Racing Commission for a license to conduct horseracing at a designated place within the state. (emphasis added).

Your question is, assuming the HBPA is organized as a nonprofit entity, "does the fact that its members win purses which are generated through its activities violate the provision of this statute which forbids permitting the members of the organization from deriving personal profit from its activities?"

A fundamental principle of statutory construction is to attempt to ascertain legislative intent and to give effect to that intent. County of Lancaster v. Maser, 224 Neb. 566, 400 N.W.2d 238 (1987). A statute should be interpreted in such a manner as to give effect to the purpose and intent of the legislature as ascertained from the entire language of the statute in its plain and ordinary sense. NC+ Hybrids v. Growers Seed Ass'n, 219 Neb. 296,

An examination of the language of § 2-1204 reveals that the Legislature intended to limit the type of entities which could obtain licenses to conduct horseracing to the following: (1) The State Board of Agriculture; (2) A county society for the improvement of agriculture organized under § 2-201 (county agricultural society) or § 2-221 (county fair); (3) A corporation or organization organized and carried on for civic purposes; or (4) a corporation or association which conducts a livestock exposition for the promotion of the livestock and horse-breeding industries in the state. With respect to these last two classes of entities (corporations or associations organized and carried on for civic purposes, or corporations or associations which conduct livestock or horse-breeding expositions), the Legislature added a further requirement. An entity of this type may be licensed to conduct horseracing only if its members are not permitted "to derive personal profit from its activities by way of dividends or otherwise, . . ."

The prohibition against an entity of this nature obtaining a license if its members derive "personal profit" from its activities "by way or dividends or otherwise" appears to be intended to ensure that only entities which are "non-profit" in nature are licensed by the Commission to conduct horseracing. The term "dividend", in its usual and ordinary sense, refers to a distribution of earnings or profits to shareholders out of or attributable to a corporation's earnings or profits. Cohen v. Dept. of Revenue, 197 Colo. 385, 593 P.2d 957, 960 (1979); see also Wright v. United States, 482 F.2d 600, 604 (8th Cir. 1973) (Dividend is "a pro rata distribution out of corporate earnings and profits."). The payment of dividends is, of course, associated with "for-profit" corporations; "non-profit" corporations, by definition, are corporations "no part of the income of which is distributable to its members, directors, or officers." Black's Law Dictionary 953 (5th ed. 1979).

Section 2-1204 not only prohibits personal profit by members through the receipt of "dividends", but expands on the prohibition by precluding personal profit "by way of dividends or otherwise." (emphasis added). While this language is susceptible of a broad interpretation, it appears that, in the context used, it is meant to prohibit direct monetary gain to members of corporations or associations seeking a license to conduct horseracing. This construction is consistent with the common understanding of a non-profit corporation as one which hinges on "whether the corporation is being exploited for direct monetary gain." People ex rel. Meiresonne v. Arnold, 37 Colo. App. 414, 553 P.2d 79, 81 (1976). Moreover, it seems to comport with the Legislature's intent to prohibit members from receiving direct financial gain amounting to "personal profit." Cf. In re Donald Sheldon & Co., Inc., 186 B.R. 364, 369 (S.D.N.Y. 1995) (Holding that, under New York law, "personal profit or advantage" under illegal personal gain exclusion in officers' and directors' liability policy required existence of "direct benefit" to officers.).

In light of the foregoing, we cannot say that the HBPA, as a non-profit entity, is definitely precluded from obtaining a license under § 2-1204 because its members may benefit from purses awarded at licensed horserace meetings.¹ The potential for members to receive such purse monies constitutes an indirect, contingent financial benefit which does not appear to fall within the prohibition against direct financial gain to members in § 2-1204.² As there is, however, some uncertainty concerning the HBPA's qualification for a license under § 2-1204, you may wish to propose amendatory legislation addressing this issue.

You next direct our attention to Neb. Rev. Stat. § 2-1205 (1991), which provides, in part:

No license [to conduct horse racing] shall be granted to any corporation or association except upon the express condition that it shall not, by any lease, contract, understanding, or arrangement of whatever kind or nature, grant, assign, or turn over to any person, corporation, or association the operation or management of any racing or race meeting licensed under such sections or of the parimutuel system of wagering described in section 2-1207 or in any manner permit any person, corporation, or association other than the licensee to have any share, percentage, or proportion of the money received for admissions to the racing or race meeting or from the operation of the parimutuel system; and any violation of such conditions shall authorize and require the commission immediately to revoke such license.

Your question is whether "this provision prohibit[s] granting a license to the horsemen's organization to use the same facilities which are owned and operated by another organization which has a license to conduct live racing or simulcasting?"

Based on the facts presented in your request, it is our understanding that the HBPA is contemplating seeking a license to conduct a certain number of days of live horse racing in 1997. If such a license is issued, the HBPA would be the licensee conducting its own race meet. As such, it would be responsible for the conduct and operation of the race meeting. While it will no doubt be necessary for the HBPA to enter into some arrangement for the lease or use of horseracing facilities to enable it to conduct a race meeting, this would not be contrary to § 2-1205. Section 2-1205 prohibits a licensee from assigning an interest in or turning over the operation and management of the licensee's race meeting to another person or entity. The lease of such facilities by another licensee (the HBPA) to allow it to conduct a race meeting does not amount to an arrangement whereby the licensee has turned over the operation and management of its race meeting to the HBPA. Rather, the HBPA will be conducting its own separate, independent, race meeting. Thus, we do not believe § 2-1205 has any application in this situation.

You also ask if there is "a conflict between being prohibited from permitting any person, corporation or association other than the licensee from having any share, percentage or proportion of the money received from the operation of the parimutuel system pursuant to this section and receiving a share of the parimutuel wagering for purses pursuant to sections 2-1207.01 and 2-1208.04?"

Neb. Rev. Stat. § 2-1207(2) (Cum. Supp. 1996) requires licensees to deduct certain amounts from wagers on horse races "to be used to promote agriculture and horse breeding in Nebraska and for the support and preservation of horseracing pursuant to section 2-1207.01." Section 2-1207.01 provides, in part, that "[t]he amount deducted from wagers pursuant to subsection (2) of section 2-1207 may be used to promote agriculture and horsebreeding in Nebraska and shall be distributed as purse supplements and breeder and stallion awards for Nebraska-bred horses, . . ." Neb. Rev. Stat. § 2-1208.04(1) (Cum. Supp. 1996), requires the withholding of a portion of gross daily receipts generated from exotic wagers for placement into the Track Distribution Fund. The Fund is distributed to racetracks conducting parimutuel wagering on thoroughbred horseracing "to supplement purses at the track." Neb. Rev. Stat. § 2-1208.04(2) (Cum. Supp. 1996).

Arguably, a conflict can be seen between the prohibition in § 2-1205 against "any person, corporation, or association other than the licensee" having "any share, percentage, or proportion of the money received. . . from the operation of the parimutuel system. . .", and the provisions of §§ 2-1207.01 and 2-1208.04, requiring the withholding of receipts from certain wagers to promote agriculture and horsebreeding through purse supplements or breeder and stallion awards for Nebraska-bred horses. Even if these provisions were construed to be conflicting, however, this would not invalidate §§ 2-1207.01 and 2-1208.04. "It is a well-established rule that special provisions of a statute in regard to a particular subject will prevail over general provisions in the same or other statutes so far as there is a conflict." Kibbon v. School Dist. of Omaha, 196 Neb. 293, 298-99, 242 N.W.2d 634, 637 (1985). Moreover, "[w]here general and special provisions of statutes are in conflict, the general law yields to the special, without regard to the priority of dates in enacting the same. . . ." Id. Thus, even if construed to be conflicting, the special provisions of §§ 2-1207.01 and 2-1208.04 requiring the use of a percentage of certain wagers for specified purposes, would control over the general language in § 2-1205.

Finally, you note that, pursuant to Neb. Rev. Stat. §§ 2-1243 to 2-1246

(Cum. Supp. 1996), certain rights are granted to "horseracing industry participants." "Horseracing industry participant" is defined to "mean an individual who currently holds a license from the State Racing Commission and who owns, trains, cares for, or rides horses stabled at a Nebraska-licensed racetrack for the purposes of horseracing at the live race meeting at such racetrack." Neb. Rev. Stat. § 2-1244 (Cum. Supp. 1996). Under § 2-1245, horseracing industry participants are entitled to certain rights, including "reasonable treatment from those licensed to conduct thoroughbred race meets." Neb. Rev. Stat. § 2-1245(1) (Cum. Supp. 1996). Your question is as follows:

If the HBPA holds the license to conduct racing, is it in the same position as any other licensee and therefore restricted from taking any of the actions outlined in that section with regard to its membership, or does it have another relationship because of the fact that its members are composed of horseracing industry participants, and, if so, are there potential conflicts of interest in relation to the statute because of its position as representative of both the track and the horseracing industry participant?

If the HBPA is acting as a licensee conducting a horse race meeting, it is subject to the provisions of § 2-1245 in relation to horseracing industry participants, to the same extent as any other licensee. If, as you suggest, this may create potential conflicts or inconsistencies by virtue of the HBPA's status as a representative of the horseracing industry on behalf of its members, you may wish to consider amendatory legislation dealing with this issue.

Very truly yours,
DON STENBERG
Attorney General

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 97002

DATE: January 7, 1997

SUBJECT: Buy-Outs for State Employees

REQUESTED BY: Lawrence S. Primeau, Director
Department of Administrative Services

Dale A. Comer, Assistant Attorney General

You state that you are contemplating certain proposed legislation to be introduced in the 1997 legislative session, and therefore, you have requested our opinion on a number of legal issues involving state employee buy-outs. We will respond to each of the questions you presented separately below.

1. Is there a legal right to continued employment?

The general rule in Nebraska with respect to the right of employment is the "at will" rule. That is, when the employment is not for a definite term, and there are no contractual or statutory restrictions upon the right of discharge, an employer may lawfully discharge an employee whenever and for whatever cause he chooses, without incurring any liability. Smith v. City of Omaha, 220 Neb. 217, 369 N.W.2d 67 (1985); Mau v. Omaha National Bank, 207 Neb. 308, 299 N.W.2d 147 (1980). As a result, government employment, in the absence of legislation, can be revoked at the will of the appointing officer, so long as the public employee is not dismissed or terminated for constitutionally impermissible reasons such as race, religion, or the assertion of rights guaranteed by law or under the Constitution. Nevels v. State, 205 Neb. 642, 289 N.W.2d 511 (1980).

While the "at will" rule applies generally to state employment, a public employee cannot be deprived of a property interest in continued employment without a due process hearing and appropriate notice. Benton v. Board of Education of School District No. 17, 219 Neb. 134, 361 N.W.2d 515 (1985); Weeks v. State Board of Education, 204 Neb. 659, 284 N.W.2d 843 (1979). The existence of such a property interest must be determined by state law. Packett v. Stenberg, 969 F.2d 721 (8th Cir. 1992). Typically, such a property interest arises from statutory or contractual limitations on the employer's ability to terminate an employee, and a court must look to the contract of employment and to state law to determine if there are any rules or understandings that secure certain benefits and support claims of entitlement to those benefits. Packett v. Stenberg, supra; Taufest v. City of Lincoln, 742 F.2d 477 (8th Cir. 1984).

The statutes creating the Nebraska State Personnel Service are found generally at Neb. Rev. Stat. §§ 81-1301 through 81-1354.05 (1994, Cum. Supp. 1996). In addition, the State Personnel Division of the Department of Administrative Services has promulgated the Classified System Personnel Rules & Regulations ("Personnel Rules"), 273 NAC 1-16, and those regulations were duly adopted in accordance with the provisions of the Nebraska Administrative Procedure Act. As a result, the Personnel Rules are as binding as statutes enacted by the Legislature. Douglas County Welfare Administration v. Parks, 204 Neb. 570, 284 N.W.2d 10 (1979). The Personnel Rules apply to certain classified or "code" agencies, while other agencies and departments of state government are specifically exempted from coverage under those rules. See Neb. Rev. Stat. § 81-1316 (Cum. Supp. 1996); 273 NAC 1. In addition, state employees covered by collective bargaining agreements or union contracts are not covered by the Personnel Rules to the extent that their contracts provide separately for wages, hours, and other terms and conditions of employment. 273 NAC 1.

Under the Personnel Rules, new state employees serve an initial six-month probationary period during which they may be separated from state employment at any time without grievance rights. 273 NAC 5. However, after that probationary period, the Personnel Rules establish certain specified offenses which will lead to disciplinary action against state employees, including dismissal. 273 NAC 13. Presumably, non-probationary state employees subject to the Personnel Rules may not be terminated for disciplinary reasons in the absence of such an offense.¹ In addition, the Personnel Rules establish rules for state employee lay-offs and bumping rights.² 273 NAC 12.

We believe that the statutes and Personnel Rules establishing the State Personnel Service create a property interest in continued state employment which cannot be abrogated for the state employees covered by those rules without a due process hearing and appropriate notice. See also Packett v. Stenberg, 969 F.2d 721 (8th Cir. 1992) (stating that state employees in Nebraska are "arguably" granted a property interest in their employment by the state personnel system which sets forth procedures for selection, compensation, grievances, etc. of state employees); Hill v. Gerber, 217 Neb. 670, 350 N.W.2d 545 (1984) (impliedly recognizing a property interest in public employment under the Nebraska Merit System). Also, in the event of state employee lay-offs caused by decreased funding or other reasons, state employees with bumping rights under the Personnel Rules have a property interest in the exercise of those rights. See also Smith v. Sorensen, 748 F.2d 427 (8th Cir. 1984) (interpreting the nature of the bumping rights under the reduction in force guidelines established by the Nebraska Merit System).

With that analysis in mind, it seems to us that the answer to your initial question is "yes," to a limited degree. That is, state employees who are not covered by the Personnel System and Personnel Rules or who are not covered by a labor contract generally have no legal right to continued employment. On the other hand, state employees subject to the Personnel Rules or labor contracts have the rights established by those enactments and agreements and are not employees "at will." In that limited sense, therefore, those latter state employees have some legal right to continued employment.

2. Can a value be assigned to continued employment?

We are not entirely sure what you mean by "value" in your second question. However, if a person were to be improperly deprived of a legitimate contractual right to continued employment, we assume that, in the context of litigation, some theory could be developed to place a value on that contract right. Such damage theories are frequently developed by actuaries, economists, statisticians and the like in litigation. Therefore, to that extent, we believe that some "value" could be assigned to continuing employment. However, we are not certain what the precise nature of such a valuation theory would be, and it also seems to us that such a process would be speculative in many respects, given the number of imponderables in government employment.

² To "bump" is to fill a position with an employee of greater seniority at the expense of one with less seniority, so that the senior employee may avoid layoff. Smith v. Sorensen, 748 F.2d 427 (8th Cir. 1984).

3. If continued employment is a legal right and can be assigned a quantifiable value, can the value be paid to any state employee?

At the outset, it seems to us that there are two possible issues included in this question. First, your question could involve the issue of whether the Personnel Division of the Department of Administrative Services may pay the quantifiable value of continued employment to any state employee under the existing Nebraska statutes pertaining to the Personnel Service. Alternatively, given your preamble regarding proposed legislation, your third question could also involve the issue of whether legislation might constitutionally be drafted which would allow the state to pay the value of continued employment to any state employee. We have previously indicated that, under Fullmer v. State, 94 Neb. 217, 142 N.W. 908 (1913), it is our responsibility to provide opinions to state officers upon questions of law which arise "in the discharge of their duties." Op. Att'y Gen. No. 157 (December 24, 1985). In keeping with that responsibility, it has been our general practice and policy to issue opinions to members of the Legislature only with respect to pending or proposed legislation and not with respect to the requirements of existing statutes. Op. Att'y Gen. No. 157 (December 24, 1985). Conversely, since it is generally the duty of members of the Executive Branch of government to apply and enforce the existing statutes, we have made it our policy to issue opinions to Executive officers only with respect to their duties under existing statutes and not with respect to proposed legislation. Based upon those policies, we will limit our response to your third question to the first issue noted above. We prefer to address the alternative issue in the context of an opinion request from a legislator in reference to specific proposed legislation.

Generally, an administrative body has no power or authority other than that specifically conferred upon it by statute or by a construction of the statutes necessary to accomplish its purpose. Ventura v. State Equal Opportunity Commission, 246 Neb. 116, 517 N.W.2d 368 (1994). We have reviewed the various statutes pertaining to the State Personnel Service, the State Personnel Division, and the Director of Personnel, and we have found no existing statutes which specifically authorize the state to pay the quantifiable value of continued employment to any state employee.³ As a result, we do not believe that the value of continued employment can be paid to any state employee under the existing statutes. This is particularly true since those same statutes provide that other types of payment can be made for the value of employee benefits under certain circumstances. For example, under Neb. Rev. Stat. § 81-1328 (1994), state employees who retire or voluntarily separate from state employment can be paid for their accumulated vacation time. And, under Neb. Rev. Stat. § 81-1325 (1994), state employees who retire can be paid for certain portions of their accumulated sick leave. Consequently, we believe that the answer to your third question, as we have articulated it, is "no."

4. Can a value be assigned to bumping rights?

Our answer to this question is much the same as our answer to question 2 above. If a person were to be improperly deprived of a legitimate contractual right to "bump" other employees in the event of force reductions or lay-offs, we assume that, in the context of litigation, some theory could be developed to place a value on that contract right. Therefore, to that extent, we believe that some "value" could be assigned to bumping rights. Again, however, we are not certain what the precise nature of such a valuation theory would be, and the process would obviously be speculative in many respects.

5. If a value can be assigned to bumping rights, may the state, without a general reduction in force program, offer a buy-out to an employee or a certain class of employees in lieu of an employee exercising his or her bumping rights, resulting in the exit of the employee from employment in state government and the filling of the vacant position by another individual? Would that outcome be different if the position were eliminated?

For the reasons discussed in our answer to your question number 3 above, we will limit our response to your question number 5 to the issue of whether the existing statutes allow the Personnel Division of the Department of Administrative Services, without a general reduction in force program, to offer a buy-out to a state employee or a certain class of state employees in lieu of an employee exercising his or her bumping rights, thus resulting in the exit of the particular employee from employment in state government and the filling of the vacant position by another individual. Once again, we have reviewed the various statutes pertaining to the State Personnel Service, the State Personnel Division, and the Director of Personnel, and we have found no existing statutes which specifically authorize the state to offer a buy-out to the employee or employees involved in the situation you described. Therefore, our answer to your initial question number 5 is "no." Our answer would remain the same if the position or positions in question were eliminated.

6. If a value can be assigned to bumping rights, can the state offer a buy-out to only one class of employees in lieu of exercising their bumping rights? Would the outcome be different if the position were eliminated?

For the reasons discussed in our answer to your question number 3 above, we will limit our response to your question number 6 to the issue of whether the existing statutes allow the Personnel Division of the Department of Administrative Services to offer a buy-out to only one class of employees in lieu of exercising their bumping rights. We have reviewed the various statutes pertaining to the State Personnel Service, the State Personnel Division, and the Director of Personnel, and we have found no existing statutes which specifically authorize the state to offer a buy-out to only one class of employees in lieu of exercising their bumping rights. Therefore, our answer to your initial question number 6 is "no." Our answer would remain the same if the position in question was eliminated.

7. Is the right to continued employment a state liability that may be purchased by the state in consideration for the employee's current accrued benefits? (Benefits may include sick leave, annual leave, health insurance, and vested retirement benefits.) Would the outcome be different if the position were eliminated?

For the reasons discussed in our answer to your question number 3 above, we will limit our response to your question number 7 to the issue of whether the existing statutes allow the Personnel Division of the Department of Administrative Services to purchase any limited right to continued state employment in consideration for the employee's current accrued benefits such as sick leave, annual leave, health insurance, and vested retirement benefits. We have reviewed the various statutes pertaining to the State Personnel Service, the State Personnel Division, and the Director of Personnel, and we have found no existing statutes which specifically authorize the state to purchase any limited right to continued state employment in consideration for the employee's current accrued benefits. Therefore, our answer to your initial question number 7 is "no." Our answer would remain the same if the position in question was eliminated.

8. Is the right to continued employment a state liability that may be purchased by the state in consideration for the employee's current accrued and future benefits calculated to current dollar value? (Benefits may include sick leave, annual leave, health insurance, future social security contributions, and vested and future retirement benefits.) Would the outcome be different if the position were eliminated?

For the reasons discussed in our answer to your question number 3 above, we will limit our response to your question number 8 to the issue of whether the existing statutes allow the Personnel Division of the Department of Administrative Services to purchase any limited right to continued state employment in consideration for the employee's current accrued and future benefits calculated to current dollar value. We have reviewed the various statutes pertaining to the State Personnel Service, the State Personnel Division, and the Director of Personnel, and we have found no existing statutes which specifically authorize the state to purchase any limited right to continued state employment in consideration for the employee's current accrued and future benefits calculated to current dollar value. Therefore, our answer to your initial question number 8 is "no." Our answer would remain the same if the position in question was eliminated.

Sincerely yours,
 DON STENBERG

RESOLUTIONS

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 32CA. Introduced by Schimek, 27.

THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-FIFTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION, RESOLVE THAT:

Section 1. At the general election in November 1998 the following proposed amendment to the Constitution of Nebraska shall be submitted to the electors of the State of Nebraska for approval or rejection:

To amend Article III, sections 2 and 3:

III-2 "The first power reserved by the people is the initiative whereby laws may be enacted and constitutional amendments adopted by the people independently of the Legislature. This power may be invoked by petition wherein the proposed measure shall be set forth at length. If the petition be for the enactment of a law, it shall be signed by seven percent of the registered voters of the state, and if the petition be for the amendment of the Constitution, the petition therefor shall be signed by ten percent of such registered voters. In all cases the registered voters signing such petition shall be so distributed as to include five percent of the registered voters of each of two-fifths of the counties of the state, and when thus signed, the petition shall be filed with the Secretary of State who shall submit the measure thus proposed to the electors of the state at the first general election held not less than four months after such petition shall have been filed. The same measure, either in form or in essential substance, shall not be submitted to the people by initiative petition, either affirmatively or negatively, more often than once in three years. If conflicting measures submitted to the people at the same election be approved, the one receiving the highest number of affirmative votes shall thereby become law as to all conflicting provisions. The constitutional limitations as to the scope and subject matter of statutes enacted by the Legislature shall apply to those enacted by the initiative. Initiative measures shall contain only one subject."

III-3 "The second power reserved is the referendum which may be invoked, by petition, against any act or part of an act of the Legislature, except those making appropriations for the expense of the state government or a state institution existing at the time of the passage of such act. Petitions invoking the referendum shall be signed by not less than five percent of the registered voters of the state, distributed as required for initiative petitions, and filed in the office of the Secretary of State within ninety days after the Legislature at which the act sought to be referred was passed shall have adjourned sine die or for more than ninety days. Such Each such petition shall set out the title of the act against which the referendum is invoked and, in addition thereto, when only a portion of the act is sought to be referred, the number of the section or sections or portion of sections of the act designating such portion. No more than one act or portion of an act of the Legislature shall be the subject of each referendum petition. When the referendum is thus invoked, the Secretary of State shall refer the same to the electors for approval or rejection at the first general election to be held not less than thirty days after the filing of such petition.

When the referendum is invoked as to any act or part of act, other than emergency acts or those for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, or safety, by petition signed by not less than ten percent of the registered voters of the state distributed as aforesaid, it shall suspend the taking effect of such act or part of act until the same has been approved by the electors of the state."

Sec. 2. The proposed amendment shall be submitted to the electors in the manner prescribed by the Constitution of Nebraska, Article XVI, section 1, with the following ballot language:

"A constitutional amendment to require initiative and referendum measures to contain or refer to only one subject or act of the Legislature.

RESOLUTIONS

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 37. Introduced by Kristensen, 37.

WHEREAS, targeted business incentive programs have proliferated into a counterproductive economic war between the states and now form the cornerstone of state-sponsored economic development policies; and

WHEREAS, these programs fail to promote healthy and equitable statewide economic growth and, in reality, result in states engaging in economic warfare by moving businesses from one location to another both within and between states, with no significant economic benefit in the aggregate; and

WHEREAS, America's future in the global economy lies within its educational, industrial, technological, and research capabilities throughout the entire fifty states; and

WHEREAS, disarmament of wasteful programs can be achieved through a combination of new state and federal policies; and

WHEREAS, states would be better off providing a less burdensome tax climate for all businesses and a quality educational system geared to providing an adequately trained and ready work force, support for research and development, and a quality transportation system, along with other high-quality traditional government services; and

WHEREAS, efforts are currently under way in the United States Congress to identify and eliminate federally funded programs that are used by the states to escalate this economic warfare.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-FIFTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Legislature strongly urges the Nebraska Congressional delegation to embrace and support efforts in the United States Congress such as H.R. 1842 and other legislative initiatives that will begin to mitigate this economic warfare.

2. That the Legislature strongly urges the governors and other legislatures in the respective states to promulgate this message.

3. That the Clerk of the Legislature send copies of this resolution to the members of the Nebraska Congressional delegation, to the Speaker and Clerk of the United States House of Representatives, to the President Pro Tempore and Secretary of the United State Senate, and to the governors and the appropriate officers of the legislatures of all the other states.

Laid over.

MOTION - Escort Governor

Mr. Withem moved that a committee of five be appointed to escort the Governor of the State of Nebraska to the Legislative Chamber to deliver his State of the State Address.

The motion prevailed.

The Chair appointed Messrs. D. Pederson, Matzke, Mmes. Bohlke,

McKenzie, and Suttle to serve on said committee.

The Committee returned and escorted Governor Ben Nelson to the rostrum where he delivered the following State of the State Address.

STATE OF THE STATE ADDRESS

ONE NEBRASKA - AHEAD OF ITS TIME

Sixty years ago, the legendary Senator George Norris stood here in this chamber now bearing his name in a Capitol building just five years old. He was here to address the very first session of the Nebraska Unicameral, the non-partisan body he fought so hard to establish.

He reminded them that the entire country was watching this great Nebraska experiment. This Unicameral was part of Senator Norris's vision for his home state. He saw Nebraska as a national leader, a state that took risks, a state on the cutting edge.

As most of you know, Senator Norris has been a hero and an inspiration to me since I was a young boy growing up in McCook, the hometown we share. His vision for the state, his willingness to explore new ideas, his belief in the spirit of Nebraskans - those are qualities I have made a living part of my public service.

Like Senator Norris, I am not content to stay in the comfort zone - that familiar area where all too often, change is avoided. And I believe it is a mistake for our state to stay in its comfort zone simply because "that's the way we've always done it." The comfort zone is a place of no growth, a place that allows others to pass you by. And that's not what Nebraska is all about.

This is a state that has progressed from the Pony Express to e-mail, from textbooks to a virtual university. Even this historic chamber has a different look this year. The stacks of bills we're used to seeing on your desks are gone - replaced by lap-top computers. I'm using a state-of-the-art computer to help me deliver this message, which you'll also be able to find on the state's home page on the Internet.

In the six years I've been in office, we've become leaders in welfare reform, mandate relief, education, job growth, ethanol production and promotion, international trade, technology and re-inventing government.

By working together, we can keep this state ahead of its time as we move into a new century.

Now, I know stepping outside of that comfort zone can be difficult; and we are not always anxious to embrace changes, especially those that appear to be overwhelming and risky. I was reminded of that last month when I was asked to conduct a little experiment for the television show "Candid

We brought unsuspecting people into the Governor's office, where I told them that I had decided to change the name of the state. We needed something more futuristic to position us for the next century, I said, something like "Zenmar" or "Quentron."

As you can imagine, most of our victims looked at me as if I had gone mad. One woman accused me of forgetting my Nebraska heritage. After struggling for an answer, our Secretary of State diplomatically told me the idea was "bold."

Of course, some thought it would be a good idea. Eight-year-old Tyler Bullock thought Zenmar would certainly be easier to spell. Wanda Essex said the idea was worth considering, but thought we should let the young people decide. One has to wonder how the visionary George Norris would have responded!

What can we learn from this experiment?

First, that Nebraskans truly treasure this state we call home, and that we are very proud of our past. But it's also clear that Nebraskans are looking ahead to the beginning of a new century. They are wondering how we can position our state to remain a world competitor, how we can work together to take Nebraska into that 21st century ahead of its time.

No, we don't want to change the name of the state. But we know we need to move this state into a 21st century way of doing business. And we all know that this is the time to do it.

All big changes begin with a change in attitude. And too often, progress is defined in terms of the negatives. We hear about unemployment, and not about those who are employed. We hear about young people in trouble, not about those who are turning their lives around. We hear about government inefficiency and waste, but not about individuals, organizations and agencies that are working together to save taxpayer dollars.

I'm certainly not saying we should ignore our problems. But I believe we must move away from expecting the worst to planning for the best.

When I took office six years ago, I started with the recognition that Nebraska has both demographic and geographic challenges - we have a relatively sparse population scattered across a vast landscape.

Instead of giving in to these challenges, we developed the idea of One Nebraska - pulling together these very different areas of the state to achieve our common purpose.

We've helped develop partnerships and build consensus with a reliance on local decision-making. And we've built on the belief that government doesn't have to grow for the state to grow.

Today, we are seeing the results:

- * More than half of our counties are now growing in population.
- * Over the last decade, we've seen a 30-percent increase in manufacturing, compared to 10 percent for our neighboring states and a decline nationally.
- * Our exports have more than tripled since 1990.
- * Our unemployment rate continues to be the lowest in the nation; or to state it more positively, our employment rate continues to be the highest in the nation.
- * National and state experts predict our economy will outpace the nation during the next two years with continued growth in jobs and income.
- * Our quality of life is unsurpassed - we live in one of the safest and healthiest states in the country and one of the best states for raising families.

Now is the time to recapture Norris's vision of Nebraska as a leader. Now is the time to renew our efforts to pull this state together, to continue this great experiment we call One Nebraska into the new century ahead of our time.

The challenge Senator Norris issued that very first day of the Unicameral was this:

Your constituents do not expect perfection...but they do expect and have the right to expect absolute honesty, unlimited courage and a reasonable degree of efficiency and wisdom.

Six decades later, that remains our challenge. This is where the future begins. And every day, every hour counts.

No state can progress unless it has a firm financial foundation, and ours is solid. That strong economy did not happen by accident or chance. Our economy grew job by job, community by community, with state and local leaders working side by side.

With an emphasis on fiscal restraint, we have rebuilt our state's cash reserve fund - our number one budget priority last session. We have provided for a pay increase for our valued state employees over the next two years. And our projections show a continued surplus in tax revenue.

The projected surplus is expected to spark a firestorm of proposals for new programs and new spending. But I want to make it clear right now that those surplus dollars should be off the table. We must continue to spend only what we must, save what we can and give the rest back to Nebraskans through tax cuts.

For the third year in a row, I am proposing that we share our economic success with Nebraskans by letting them keep more of their hard-earned dollars. Our Economic Growth Income Tax Reduction is an across-the-board income tax cut of five-and-a-half percent for the average Nebraskan. The reduction recognizes the investments Nebraska taxpayers have made to our economy and gives them a return on that investment.

Reducing the property tax burden remains a priority in Nebraska. There is no doubt that voters gave us a mandate in the last election - a mandate to continue to work for true, long-lasting property tax relief.

This past session, we delivered important property tax relief measures by working together to curb local spending. We also will continue to provide funding to local school districts under the LB 1059 state aid formula, with increases totaling $47.3 million over the biennium.

This session, I am also calling for the adoption of a Resident-Homeowners Property Tax Credit. This $160 annual credit would be direct relief, much like the former food tax credit.

Together, the income tax cut and the property tax credit would provide $450 in tax relief to the average Nebraska homeowner over the biennium. That's a reduction in the average homeowner's tax bill of nearly 20 percent each year.

I am also supporting a one-year study of a Local Option Property Tax Relief measure. That measure would give taxpayers the option, with local voter approval, of initiating a local income tax, not for new spending, but only for directly reducing local property taxes.

This is a bold idea and deserves careful consideration. A task force would conduct the study of how a local income tax fits into the state aid formula and our current levy and spending limits. Our goal is to enact this measure during the current biennium.

Our state budget priorities must be clear - spending only what is necessary for the continued prosperity of Nebraska.

To continue to remain a state that's ahead of its time, we need to invest in job training, to customize that training and to provide state-of-the-art equipment for that training. By working as partners with the University, the community colleges and the private sector, we will make those investments work for Nebraska.

Agriculture continues to be the driving force behind Nebraska's economic prosperity. Our farmers and ranchers will generate nearly $9 billion in economic activity in Nebraska this year.

The past year has been a good one with a near record harvest and high grain prices. But challenges remain, especially for our beef producers. As the nation's number one exporter of red meat, the concerns of the cattle industry concern all of us.

Ten leading beef states have now supported the report of last year's Beef States Summit in Omaha, and we continue to press Congress and the Secretary of Agriculture for action on our recommendations. I have directed our State Agriculture Department to pursue re-implementation of a state meat inspection program. And we are requesting funding to increase livestock market reporting.

Our goal is to keep Nebraska on the cutting edge. That includes expanding international trade, promoting the "good life" through our "Work Nebraska" campaign and building on the success of the Nebraska Cooperative Initiative. It's a cutting edge that includes improving Enterprise Zones, working for more affordable housing, helping small businesses get started and boosting the efforts of our Tourism Division and Film Office.

By working together, we can position Nebraska as a state willing to work with employers and customers worldwide to establish long-term successful partnerships.

One of the keys to selling Nebraska as the good life is our safe streets. An essential public safety issue - one we have delayed too long - is to clarify the aggravating circumstances under which the death penalty can be applied. We owe it to our law enforcement officers to pass legislation, clearly spelling out that the killing of an officer while in the performance of his or her duties is such an aggravating circumstance.

Public safety is an area we can't afford not to invest in. Because we have been putting more dangerous offenders behind bars for longer periods of time, our prisons and other correctional facilities have become overcrowded. Immediate action is necessary to keep this issue in the hands of Nebraskans instead of federal courts.

The Public Safety Act of 1997 will mean adding space for more than 1,100 offenders over the next four years. That includes a medium-security facility for 800 inmates, more space for inmates who need to be separated from the general prison population and a work camp and treatment center.

Together, we must find ways to prevent our young people from turning to crime and to keep those who are in trouble from becoming more serious offenders.

We propose a $5-million investment to increase community services and provide more help for young people and their families closer to home. This investment will ease the burden on our youth facilities in Geneva and Kearney.

We must also support continued funding for the DARE program and funding to match federal dollars for gang prevention.

The key is to give our young people in Nebraska a good start in life by giving them and their families the kind of support they need to be successful.

That's why I'm so pleased we will begin statewide implementation this year of our "Employment First" welfare reform program - a program that is improving the lives of welfare recipients like Rhonda Strong of Lincoln and her two daughters.

Rhonda was featured in a newspaper article just last month. This single mom had trouble keeping a job before she signed the program's self sufficiency contract. Today, she's been working for more than a year at a day care center and is planning to open her own center this year.

I've been paired with a welfare recipient through the "Walk a Mile" program and have learned firsthand that most of these Nebraskans want to get out of the spider web of welfare - that what they really need and want is a safety net to help them turn their lives around.

Rhonda and others like her are living proof that with the right kind of programs, we can move people from welfare to the workplace and improve the quality of life for all.

The restructuring of our human services agencies will also have a positive impact on Nebraska families needing help. Our new system was designed by Nebraskans for Nebraskans. It will result in better service and taxpayer savings. Interest from across the country proves that, once again, Nebraska has taken the lead in finding a better way to do business.

The project was led by Lieutenant Governor Kim Robak. Kim, I want to thank you for your excellent work.

An essential component in building strong children is financial and emotional support from both parents. In Nebraska, we believe all children have a right to that support. That's why we must go after the parents who deprived their children of $52 million in child support in Nebraska last year alone. They are cheating their children and they are cheating the taxpayers, who so often end up paying the bill.

We need to let parents know that failing to pay child support could cost them their professional, occupational, driver's and recreational licenses.

This is one of the few areas where Nebraska has fallen behind - 39 other states have already found that license suspension laws work.

I remain opposed to federal mandates, but there's no escaping the fact that the federal welfare reform bill has added a new financial dimension to this year's debate. Failure to pass a license suspension bill will cost this state $11 million in federal child support enforcement funds. Passing the law will increase collections by an estimated $10 million. The choice is clear for both our children and our taxpayers.

We also owe it to our children to keep our environment healthy. That remains a major priority for my administration, and I am proud of our accomplishments.

We have taken the lead through the Nebraska Environmental Trust Fund by providing more than $14 million in lottery funds for environmental projects statewide.

Nebraska has taken the lead in the area of renewable and sustainable energy. And I believe we must continue working toward a future in which we produce more energy in this state than we consume.

This state also took the lead in promoting common sense reforms in the federal Safe Drinking Water Act to reduce the expensive federal mandates imposed on our communities.

We can keep that lead by helping the many communities that still face major expenses in bringing their water systems into compliance with federal regulations. We propose enrolling in a federal low-interest loan program that will provide those communities with the funds they need to test and treat their drinking water.

It is also essential that we strengthen our efforts to clean up the piles of old tires - 2.5 million tires - and the illegal dumpsites that fill too many ditches and ravines in our beautiful state. The resources are there, but we need to make them easier to use so we can leave our children with a cleaner environment.

It is said that our children are 20 percent of our population, but 100 percent of our future. And perhaps no issue is more important to that future than education. This past year, we brought together parents, teachers, administrators, business people and community leaders for the first Nebraska Education Summit. We now have a draft of statewide academic standards which go to the public for comment this spring.

I strongly support the idea of establishing broad standards and letting local communities decide how best to meet them. And I believe those standards are necessary if we expect our children to be ahead of their competitors in the global marketplace of today and of the 21st century.

We are blessed in Nebraska with dedicated, committed and caring teachers - classroom heroes like Jane Edwards of Southeast High School in Lincoln, who recently won the American Teacher Award as the nation's outstanding vocational educator.

Our students are high achievers compared to many of their peers across the nation. What we need to do is to keep those best and brightest here in Nebraska, to stop the "brain drain." My budget includes additional funding for scholarships and the establishment of a grant program to promote a "brain gain" by providing incentives for graduates of Nebraska's institutions of higher education to live and work in Nebraska.

A major priority in our educational efforts is the rapidly growing technology that is reshaping our future. It is said that today's average consumers wear more computing power on their wrists than existed in the entire world before 1961.

We have a record in Nebraska of not just keeping up with high tech advances but taking the lead. The century date change issue is just one example where others are looking to Nebraska to see how we are solving the problem.

"Wired Magazine" says "most of the progress (in technology) is inevitable. Government, however, can block or accelerate progress...a state can do right or wrong in this area." We must work together to see that we "do right" in Nebraska.

The Information Science, Technology and Engineering Institute is a key to those efforts. It's an idea whose time has definitely come. This Institute will use the latest technology to teach the latest technology.

Like the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources based in Lincoln, this new Institute will have statewide benefit. Although the actual bricks and mortar will go up in Omaha, students in Scottsbluff will be able to attend this virtual university without leaving their hometown. Workers in Valentine will be able to get the latest job training on site.

University of Nebraska President Dennis Smith calls the Institute "the future of economic development in our state." It will provide the educational resources needed to help keep our best and brightest in Nebraska and to train our work force for the jobs of tomorrow. It also ties directly into our continued planning for the Western Governors University, our multi-state university without walls.

As we march into an increasingly high-tech future, we must also be careful not to let our history slip away. And I want to assure all the schoolchildren who are listening today: I promise you that we will not let our State Capitol fall down!

This beautiful building is a symbol of all that is good in Nebraska - our appreciation of history and nature, our common vision and our common sense, especially our good financial sense. It took ten years to build. But when it was dedicated, this Capitol was paid for.

It's been an important year for our Capitol. With last November's dedication of the eight murals in the Memorial Chamber, this building, as originally designed, was finally completed.

This year we also found out that it will take twice as much to repair the Capitol as it originally cost to build.

Of course, we all care about our Capitol. But our schoolchildren have a special attachment to this grand building that they call their own. Thousands of young Nebraskans tour this building every year.

Students across the state have already started projects to raise money for the Capitol. I want to thank them for those efforts, and I want to help them out by including, in our budget, funding to begin the restoration of our Capitol this year.

I hope the restoration of the Capitol will come to symbolize a restoration of optimism across Nebraska. I came across a new term for our times from the editor of an international techno-culture magazine. He refers to outbreaks of "pro-noia" - the sneaking feeling that someone is conspiring behind our backs to help us.

I hope we will see outbreaks of pro-noia all across Nebraska - that people will see that their leaders are working on their behalf to help them improve their lives and to prepare this state for the future. Together, we can do it.

To our Senators, I'd like to offer these words of advice on the hundreds of bills that you'll be facing this session:

Some legislation is needed at each session of the Legislature.

Much legislation is seldom needed. Let us remember that a successful session can be based on what is not done as well as by what is done.

Those aren't my words. They are the comments of Governor Robert Leroy Cochran to the first Unicameral shortly after Norris's historic address 60 years ago.

Your job is to decide what we don't need as well as what we do. Those are very difficult decisions, and I call on you to muster the honesty, courage and wisdom of Senator Norris to make the best decisions possible.

One of the lawmakers who was in that very first Unicameral in 1937 was Senator Charles J. Warner, who later became Lieutenant Governor. His son, Jerome Warner, has served in the Unicameral longer than any other Senator. With their combined service, there has been a Warner in the Unicameral for 41 of its 60 years.

Senator Warner, all Nebraskans owe your family a great deal of appreciation for your commitment to this state.

The historical ties that bind us together in this state are strong. My parents were of the generation that financed and built this great Capitol. My new granddaughter's generation will be using the new Information Science, Technology and Engineering Institute.

Our generation is the one making today's decisions. We must never forget Nebraska's role as a leader, a state on the cutting edge.

Every once in a while someone will be tempted to promote the idea of making political parties a bigger factor in how we run our state. But Senator George Norris knew how divisive excessive partisanship can be. And this non-partisan Unicameral he envisioned has now been validated by 60 years of experience.

I am confident that this body will continue to reject calls for increased partisanship. I believe this body realizes that we have something unique and special in Nebraska. And I know we all recognize that we have achieved our greatest successes when we have worked together as One Nebraska.

For continued success, we must avoid the temptation to put personal and partisan agendas ahead of Nebraska's agenda. Politicians may get headlines, but statesmen and women get things done.

I challenge you to keep that in mind as you make the decisions for the future of this state and its people, decisions that will keep this One Nebraska ahead of its time.

The Committee escorted Governor Ben Nelson from the Chamber.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 53. Introduced by Schimek, 27; Beutler, 28; Robak, 22; Vrtiska, 1.

WHEREAS, on the 25th of September in 1789, the 1st Congress of the United States offered as Article 2 of the original Bill of Rights to the Federal Constitution, a constitutional amendment for consideration by the state legislatures delaying any variances in the compensation of Members of Congress until an election of the United States House of Representatives has first intervened; and

WHEREAS, during the forenoon on the 7th of May in 1992, the Legislature of the State of Michigan provided the 38th and, therefor, determinative ratification of this 207-year-old constitutional amendment; and

WHEREAS, on the 18th of May in 1992, the Archivist of the United States issued a proclamation declaring the then 203-year-old constitutional amendment to have been duly approved by the requisite number of state legislatures pursuant to Article 5 of the United States Constitution, which proclamation was then reproduced in Volume 57 of the Federal Register at pages 21187 and 21188; and

WHEREAS, within 48 hours of the Archivist's actions, both houses of the 102nd Congress did adopt resolutions, by roll-call votes, concurring with the

Archivist's conclusion that the proposal had in fact become Amendment 27 to the United States Constitution; and

WHEREAS, after the Michigan's Legislature's pivotal 38th approval of Amendment 27, the legislatures of California, Hawaii, Illinois, Kentucky, New Jersey, Rhode Island, and Washington saw fit to post-ratify it; and

WHEREAS, in general, it is not unusual for a state's legislature to post-ratify an amendment that has already become part of the United States Constitution. In addition to the legislatures of those states listed in the preceding paragraph, the legislatures of Alabama, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Maryland, Massachusetts, Mississippi, North Carolina, Oregon, South Carolina, and Virginia have likewise post-ratified various amendments to the Federal Constitution; and

WHEREAS, until now, Nebraska had been among the handful of states whose legislatures have not, as of yet, approved Amendment 27 to the Nation's highest legal document -- even though the Nebraska State Constitution contains a provision parallel to Amendment 27; and

WHEREAS, it is important that Nebraska place its special imprint upon Amendment 27, as has been done by the legislatures of 45 other states.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-FIFTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the amendment to the Constitution of the United States delaying any variances in the compensation of Members of Congress, until an election of the United States House of Representatives has first intervened, is hereby post-ratified, which reads more particularly as follows: Amendment 27

"No law, varying the compensation for the services of the Senators and Representatives, shall take effect, until an election of Representatives shall have intervened."

2. That properly-endorsed copies of this resolution, attested by the Secretary of State of the State of Nebraska, with the Great Seal of Nebraska attached thereto, be forwarded by the Secretary of State to the following officials in Washington, D.C.: The Archivist of the United States, the Vice-President of the United States, and the Speaker of the United States House of Representatives with the respectful request that this resolution be reproduced in the Congressional Record.

Referred to the Reference Committee.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 54. Introduced by Preister, 5.

WHEREAS, a Constitution which protects our personal security is the heart of the American system; and

WHEREAS, the Constitution of the United States seeks to ensure that each person is free of the threat of attack and free of actions by others that diminish life, liberty, health, or property or that prevent the "pursuit of happiness"; and

WHEREAS, we are the custodians of the health of our children and of future generations whose ability to breathe clean air, drink healthful water, and enjoy America's many wilderness areas and natural resources is in danger; and

WHEREAS, a constitutional remedy is necessary to accomplish this goal.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-FIFTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION:

1. That the Nebraska Legislature proposes to the Congress of the United States that procedures be instituted in the Congress to add a new section to the Constitution of the United States and requests the Congress to prepare and submit to the several states the following amendment to the Constitution of the United States:

The natural resources of the nation are the heritage of present and future generations. The rights of each person to clean and healthful air and water and to the protection of the other natural resources of the nation shall not be infringed upon by any person.

2. That the Clerk of the Legislature shall send copies of this resolution to the Nebraska Congressional Delegation, to the Secretary of State and presiding officers of both Houses of the Legislature of each of the other States of the Union, to the Clerk of the United States House of Representatives, Washington, D.C., and to the Secretary of the United States Senate, Washington, D.C.

Referred to the Reference Committee.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 56CA. Introduced by Beutler, 28.

THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-FIFTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION, RESOLVE THAT:

Section 1. At the general election in November 1998 the following proposed amendment to the Constitution of Nebraska shall be submitted to the electors of the State of Nebraska for approval or rejection:

To amend Article III, section 2:

III-2 "The first power reserved by the people is the initiative whereby laws may be enacted and constitutional amendments adopted by the people, ~~independently of the Legislature.~~ This power may be invoked by petition wherein the proposed measure shall be set forth at length. If the petition be for the enactment of a law, it shall be signed by seven percent of the registered voters of the state, and if the petition be for the amendment of the Constitution, the petition therefor shall be signed by ten percent of such registered voters. In all cases the registered voters signing such petition shall be so distributed as to include five percent of the registered voters of each of two-fifths of the counties of the state, and when thus signed, the petition shall be filed with the Secretary of State.

An initiative petition shall be filed with the Secretary of State on or before the Tuesday prior to the regular session of the Legislature in the year of the general election in which the proposal would be submitted to the voters. If the proposed law is enacted by the Legislature and approved by the Governor in the same manner as other statutes are enacted, the law shall be subject to referendum petition as provided in Article III, section 3, of this Constitution. If a law proposed by an initiative is rejected by the Legislature or if no action is taken on the proposed law by the end of the legislative session or if the petition is for the amendment of the Constitution, the Secretary of State shall submit the proposal to the voters at the general election if the signed petitions are found to be valid and sufficient. If the Legislature rejects the proposed law, the Legislature may propose a different law on the same subject and the Secretary of State shall submit the proposal to the voters at the same general election, who shall submit the measure thus proposed to the electors of the state at the first general election held not less than four months after such petition shall have been filed.

The same measure, either in form or in essential substance, shall not be submitted to the people by initiative petition, either affirmatively or negatively, more often than once in three years. If conflicting measures submitted to the people at the same election be approved, the one receiving the highest number of affirmative votes shall thereby become law as to all conflicting provisions. The constitutional limitations as to the scope and subject matter of statutes enacted by the Legislature shall apply to those enacted by the initiative."

Sec. 2. The proposed amendment shall be submitted to the electors in the manner prescribed by the Constitution of Nebraska, Article XVI, section 1, with the following ballot language:

12 investigators, employees, or agents, or an official in conjunction

13 with a preliminary or formal investigation undertaken pursuant to 14 section 81-2704, the personnel action shall be presumed to have

16 presumption may be rebutted by appropriate evidence.

17 (5) No appeal by the state shall operate as a supersedeas
18 of any judgment, decision, or order of a district court or the

Section 1. At the general election in November 1998 the following proposed amendment to the Constitution of Nebraska shall be submitted to the electors of the State of Nebraska for approval or rejection:

To amend Article V, section 30:

V-30 "(1) A Justice or Judge of the Supreme Court or judge of any court of this state may be reprimanded, disciplined, censured, suspended without pay for a definite period of time, not to exceed six months, or removed from office for (a) willful misconduct in office, (b) willful disregard of or failure to perform his or her duties, (c) habitual intemperance, (d) conviction of a crime involving moral turpitude, (e) disbarment as a member of the legal profession licensed to practice law in the State of Nebraska, ~~or~~ (f) inadequate level of competence to perform the duties of the office, or (g) conduct prejudicial to the administration of justice that brings the judicial office into disrepute, or he or she may be retired for physical or mental disability seriously interfering with the performance of his or her duties if such disability is determined to be permanent or reasonably likely to become permanent. Any citizen of the State of Nebraska may request the Commission on Judicial Qualifications to consider the qualifications of any Justice or Judge of the Supreme Court or other judge, and in such event the commission shall make such investigation as the commission deems necessary and shall, upon a finding of probable cause, reprimand such Justice or Judge of the Supreme Court or other judge or order a formal open hearing to be held before it concerning the reprimand, discipline, censure, suspension, removal, or retirement of such Justice or Judge of the Supreme Court or other judge. In the alternative or in addition, the commission may request the Supreme Court to appoint one or more special masters who shall be judges of courts of record to hold a formal open hearing to take evidence in any such matter, and to report to the commission. If, after formal open hearing, or after considering the record and report of the masters, the commission finds that the charges are established by clear and convincing evidence, it shall recommend to the Supreme Court that the Justice or Judge of the Supreme Court or other judge involved shall be reprimanded, disciplined, censured, suspended without pay for a definite period of time not to exceed six months, removed, or retired as the case may be.

(2) The Supreme Court shall review the record of the proceedings and in its discretion may permit the introduction of additional evidence. The Supreme Court shall make such determination as it finds just and proper, and may order the reprimand, discipline, censure, suspension, removal, or retirement of such Justice or Judge of the Supreme Court or other judge, or may wholly reject the recommendation. Upon an order for retirement, the Justice or Judge of the Supreme Court or other judge shall thereby be retired with the same rights and privileges as if he or she had retired pursuant to statute. Upon an order for removal, the Justice or Judge of the Supreme Court or other judge shall be removed from office, his or her salary shall cease from the date of such order, and he or she shall be ineligible for judicial office. Upon an order for suspension, the Justice or Judge of the Supreme Court or other judge shall draw no salary and shall perform no judicial functions during the period of suspension. Suspension shall not create a vacancy in the office of Justice or Judge of the Supreme Court or other judge.

(3) Upon order of the Supreme Court, a Justice or Judge of the Supreme Court or other judge shall be disqualified from acting as a Justice or Judge of the Supreme Court or other judge, without loss of salary, while there is pending (a) an indictment or information charging him or her in the United States with a crime punishable as a felony under Nebraska or federal law or (b) a recommendation to the Supreme Court by the Commission on Judicial Qualifications for his or her removal or retirement.

(4) In addition to the procedure set forth in subsections (1) and (2) of this section, on recommendation of the Commission on Judicial Qualifications or on its own motion, the Supreme Court (a) shall remove a Justice or Judge of the Supreme Court or other judge from office when in any court in the United States such justice or judge pleads guilty or no contest to a crime punishable as a felony under Nebraska or federal law, and (b) may suspend a Justice or Judge of the Supreme Court or other judge from office without salary when in any court in the United States such justice or judge is found guilty of a crime punishable as a felony under Nebraska or federal law or of any other crime that involves moral turpitude. If his or her conviction is reversed, suspension shall terminate and he or she shall be paid his or her salary for the period of suspension. If he or she is suspended and his or her conviction becomes final the Supreme Court shall remove him or her from office.

(5) All papers filed with and proceedings before the commission Commission on Judicial Qualifications or masters appointed by the Supreme Court pursuant to this section prior to a reprimand or formal open hearing shall be confidential. The filing of papers with and the testimony given before the commission, the ~~or~~ masters, or the Supreme Court shall be deemed a privileged communication.

When the Commission on Judicial Qualifications determines that disciplinary action is warranted, whether it be a reprimand or otherwise, the Commission on Judicial Qualifications shall issue one or more short announcements confirming that a complaint has been filed; stating the subject and nature of the complaint, the disciplinary action recommended or reprimand issued, or the date of the hearing; clarifying the procedural aspects; and reciting the right of a judge to a fair hearing.

When the Commission on Judicial Qualifications determines that disciplinary action is not warranted, and the existence of any investigation or complaint has become publicly known, the judge against whom a complaint has been filed or investigation commenced may waive the confidentiality of papers and proceedings under this subsection.

The Supreme Court shall by rule provide for procedure under this section before the commission, the masters, and the Supreme Court.

(6) No Justice or Judge of the Supreme Court or other judge shall participate, as a member of the commission, or as a master, or as a member of the Supreme Court, in any proceedings involving his or her own reprimand, discipline, censure, suspension, removal, or retirement."

Sec. 2. The proposed amendment shall be submitted to the electors in the manner prescribed by the Constitution of Nebraska, Article XVI, section 1, with the following ballot language:

"A constitutional amendment to provide for disciplinary action against judges on the basis of an inadequate level of competence to perform the duties of the office of judge.

THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-FIFTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION, RESOLVE THAT:

Section 1. At the general election in November 1998 the following proposed amendment to the Constitution of Nebraska shall be submitted to the electors of the State of Nebraska for approval or rejection:

To amend Article III, section 17:

III-17 "(1) The Legislature shall have the sole power of impeachment, but a majority of the members elected must concur therein. Proceedings may be initiated in either a regular session or a special session of the Legislature. Upon the adoption of a resolution of impeachment, which resolution shall give reasonable notice of the acts or omissions alleged to constitute impeachable offenses but need not conform to any particular style, a notice of an impeachment of any officer, other than a Judge of the Supreme Court, shall be forthwith served upon the Chief Justice, by the Clerk of the Legislature, who shall thereupon call a session of the Supreme Court to meet at the Capitol in an expeditious fashion after such notice to try the impeachment. A notice of an impeachment of the Chief Justice or any Judge of the Supreme Court shall be served by the Clerk of the Legislature, upon the clerk of the judicial district within which the Capitol is located, and he or she thereupon shall choose, at random, seven Judges of the District Court in the State to meet within thirty days at the Capitol, to sit as a Court to try such impeachment, which Court shall organize by electing one of its number to preside. The case against the impeached civil officer shall be brought in the name of the Legislature and shall be managed by two senators, appointed by the Legislature, who may make technical or procedural amendments to the articles of impeachment as they deem necessary. The trial shall be conducted in the manner of a civil proceeding and the impeached civil officer shall not be allowed to invoke a privilege against self-incrimination, except as otherwise applicable in a general civil case. No person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members of the Court of impeachment that clear and convincing evidence exists indicating that such person is guilty of one or more impeachable offenses, but judgment in cases of impeachment shall not extend further than removal from office and disqualification to hold and enjoy any office of honor, profit, or trust, in this State, but the party impeached, whether convicted or acquitted, shall nevertheless be liable to prosecution and punishment according to law. No officer shall exercise his or her official duties after he or she shall have been impeached and notified thereof, until he or she shall have been acquitted.

(2) A member of the Legislature is subject to recall from office by the voters of the senator's district. The grounds for recall shall be a serious malfeasance or nonfeasance during the term of office in the performance of the duties of the office or conviction of a serious crime during the term of office. The petition shall set forth the specific conduct that may warrant a recall. A petition shall not issue until the Supreme Court has determined that the facts alleged in the petition are true and are sufficient grounds for issuing a recall petition. A petition may only be circulated and signed by registered voters who reside in the district that the senator represents. A petition for recall must contain signatures of registered voters equal to or exceeding twenty-five percent of the number of votes cast for the office at the most recent general or special election. Upon determination by the Secretary of State that a petition has been signed by at least the minimum number of registered voters, a recall election must be conducted in the manner provided by law. A petition for recall may not circulate, nor shall a recall election be held, less than six months before the end of the senator's term. A senator who is removed from office by recall or who resigns from office after a petition for recall issues may not be appointed to fill the vacancy that is created."

"A constitutional amendment to provide for recall of members of the Legislature.

Against".

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 65CA. Introduced by Warner, 25, at the request of the Governor.

THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-FIFTH LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, FIRST SESSION, RESOLVE THAT:

Section 1. At the general election in November 1998 the following proposed amendment to the Constitution of Nebraska shall be submitted to the electors of the State of Nebraska for approval or rejection:

To amend Article VIII, section 1:

VIII-1 "The necessary revenue of the state and its governmental subdivisions shall be raised by taxation in such manner as the Legislature may direct. Notwithstanding Article I, section 16, Article III, section 18, or Article VIII, section 4, of this Constitution or any other provision of this Constitution to the contrary: (1) Real property and franchises as defined by the Legislature, not exempted by this Constitution or by legislation, shall all be taxed at a value determined either uniformly and proportionately or based upon the average of the actual value of the real property or franchises for the three years prior to the tax year; Taxes shall be levied by valuation uniformly and proportionately upon all real property and franchises as defined by the Legislature except as otherwise provided in or permitted by this Constitution; (2) tangible personal property, as defined by the Legislature, not exempted by this Constitution or by legislation, shall all be taxed at depreciated cost using the same depreciation method with reasonable class lives, as determined by the Legislature, or shall all be taxed by valuation uniformly and proportionately; (3) the Legislature may provide for a different method of taxing motor vehicles and may also establish a separate class of motor vehicles consisting of those owned and held for resale by motor vehicle dealers which shall be taxed in the manner and to the extent provided by the Legislature and may also establish a separate class for trucks, trailers, semitrailers, truck-tractors, or combinations thereof, consisting of those owned by residents and nonresidents of this state, and operating in interstate commerce, and may provide reciprocal and proportionate taxation of such vehicles; PROVIDED, that such tax proceeds from motor vehicles taxed in each county shall be allocated to the counties, townships, cities, villages, school districts, and other governmental subdivisions of such county in the same proportion that the levy of each bears to the total levy of the county on taxable property; (4) the Legislature may provide that agricultural land and horticultural land, as defined by the Legislature, shall constitute a separate and distinct class of property for purposes of taxation and may provide for a different method of taxing agricultural land and horticultural land which results in values that are either not uniform and proportionate with all other real property and franchises but which results in values that are uniform and proportionate upon all property within the class of agricultural land and horticultural land or based upon the average of the actual value of agricultural land and horticultural land for the three years prior to the tax year; (5) the Legislature may enact laws to provide that the value of land actively devoted to agricultural or horticultural use shall for property tax purposes be that value which such land has for agricultural or horticultural use without regard to any value which such land might have for other purposes or uses; (6) the Legislature may prescribe standards and methods for the determination of the value of real property; ~~at uniform and proportionate values~~; (7) in furtherance of the purposes for which such a law of the United States has been adopted, whenever there exists a law of the United States which is intended to protect a specifically designated type, use, user, or owner of property or franchise from discriminatory state or local taxation, such property or franchise shall constitute a separate class of property or franchise under the laws of the State of Nebraska, and such property or franchise may not be taken into consideration in determining whether taxes are levied by valuation uniformly or proportionately upon any property or franchise, and the Legislature may enact laws which statutorily recognize such class and which tax or exempt from taxation such class of property or franchise in such manner as it determines; and (8) the Legislature may provide that livestock shall constitute a separate and distinct class of property for purposes of taxation and may further provide for reciprocal and proportionate taxation of livestock located in this state for only part of a year. Each actual property tax rate levied for a governmental subdivision shall be the same for all classes of taxed property and franchises. Taxes uniform as to class of property or the ownership or use thereof may be levied by valuation or otherwise upon classes of intangible property as the Legislature may determine, and such intangible property held in trust or otherwise for the purpose of funding pension, profit-sharing, or other employee benefit plans as defined by the Legislature may be declared exempt from taxation. Taxes other than property taxes may be authorized by law. Existing revenue laws shall continue in effect until changed by the Legislature."

Sec. 2. The proposed amendment shall be submitted to the electors in the manner prescribed by the Constitution of Nebraska, Article XVI, section 1, with the following ballot language:

LEGISLATIVE BILL 397. Placed on General File as amended.
 Standing Committee amendment to LB 397:

1 1. Strike sections 2, 31, and 39 and insert the 2 following new sections:

3 "Sec. 4. Section 66-4,142, Reissue Revised Statutes of
4 Nebraska, is amended to read:

5 66-4,142. (1) The department shall at the end of each
6 calendar quarter determine the total amount of motor fuel tax that 7 was not collected in the preceding calendar quarter due to the 8 credit provided in section 66-1344 and due to any exemption
9 provided in sections 66-489 and 66-4,105 less the amount
10 transferred to the Highway Trust Fund from the Ethanol Production
11 Incentive Cash Fund pursuant to section 66-1345.

12 (2) If the amount determined in subsection (1) of this 13 section is at least equal to the amount of revenue raised in the 14 same period by one-tenth of one cent of the fuel tax imposed by 15 sections 66-489, 66-4,105, 66-668, and 66-6,107, the department
16 shall for the next succeeding calendar quarter adjust the rate of 17 the fuel tax imposed by such sections in an amount which the 18 department estimates, based on the estimates provided to the State
19 ~~Tax Board of Equalization and Assessment~~ pursuant to section 20 66-4,144, will raise sufficient revenue to meet and not exceed the 21 amount so determined, except that all such adjustments shall be in 22 increments of one-tenth of one cent per gallon.

24 Nebraska, is amended to read:

1 66-4,144. (1) In order to insure that an adequate
2 balance in the Highway Restoration and Improvement Bond Fund is 3 maintained to meet the debt service requirements of bonds to be 4 issued by the commission under subsection (2) of section 39-2223,
5 the Governor may call a meeting of the State ~~Tax Board of~~ 6 ~~Equalization and Assessment~~ at any time in advance of the issuance 7 of such bonds. At such meeting, the board shall set the rate of 8 the excise tax imposed by sections 66-4,140, 66-669, and 66-6,108
9 for each year during which such bonds are outstanding to provide in 10 each such year money equal in amount to not less than one hundred 11 twenty-five percent of such year's bond principal and interest
12 payment requirements. Such rate shall be in addition to the rate
13 of excise tax set pursuant to subsection (2) of this section. Each 14 such rate shall be effective from July 1 of a stated year through 15 June 30 of the succeeding year or during such other period not 16 longer than one year as the board determines to be consistent with 17 the principal and interest requirements of such bonds. Such excise 18 tax rates set pursuant to this subsection may be increased, but 19 such excise tax rates shall not be subject to reduction or 20 elimination unless the board has received from the Nebraska Highway 21 Bond Commission notice of reduced principal and interest
22 requirements for such bonds, in which event the Governor may call a 23 meeting of the board to determine whether the rate or rates shall 24 be changed. The new rate or rates, if any, set by the board shall

25 become effective on the first day of the following calendar
26 quarter.

27 (2) In order to insure that there is maintained an 1 adequate Highway Cash Fund balance to meet expenditures from such 2 fund as appropriated by the Legislature, within fifteen days after 3 the adjournment of each regular session of the Legislature, the 4 board shall set the rate of the excise tax imposed by sections
5 66-4,140, 66-669, and 66-6,108 which will be effective from July 1
6 through June 30 of the succeeding year. The rate of excise tax for 7 a given July 1 through June 30 period set pursuant to this 8 subsection shall be in addition to and independent of the rate or 9 rates of excise tax set pursuant to subsection (1) of this section 10 for such period.

11 (3) The Department of Roads, with assistance from the 12 Department of Revenue, shall prepare and provide the necessary
13 information to each member of the board at least five days before
14 each meeting. Such information shall include, but not be limited
15 to, the unobligated balance in the Highway Cash Fund anticipated on 16 the subsequent June 30, monthly estimates of anticipated receipts 17 to the Highway Cash Fund for the subsequent fiscal year, and the 18 appropriations made from the Highway Cash Fund for the subsequent 19 fiscal year.

20 (4) The board shall determine the cash and investment
21 balances of the Highway Cash Fund at the beginning of each fiscal 22 year under consideration and the estimated receipts to the Highway
23 Cash Fund from each source which provides at least one million
24 dollars annually to such fund. The board shall then fix the rate
25 of excise tax in an amount sufficient to meet the appropriations
26 made from the Highway Cash Fund by the Legislature. Such rate
27 shall be set in increments of one-tenth of one percent.

1 (5) On or before the fifteenth day of each month, the 2 Department of Roads shall provide to each member of the board and 3 the Clerk of the Legislature a report reflecting a comparison of 4 the Highway Cash Fund deposits for the preceding calendar month and 5 fiscal year to date against the projections for the same periods
6 and the limitations of information contained in such report. The 7 projections in the report shall be those last used by the board in 8 setting the excise tax rate for the periods being reviewed. The 9 report shall contain a comparison of actual receipts received to 10 date added to any modified projections of deposits to the Highway
11 Cash Fund for the remainder of the current fiscal year, as supplied
12 by the Department of Roads to the board, against the appropriation 13 for the current fiscal year. If the accumulative total deposits to 14 the Highway Cash Fund under Chapter 66, articles 4 and 6, for the 15 fiscal year are at any time less than ninety-eight percent or 16 greater than one hundred four percent of the projected deposits for 17 such period or if the actual receipts received to date added to any 18 modified projections of deposits to the Highway Cash Fund for the 19 current fiscal year, as supplied by the Department of Roads to the 20 board, are less than ninety-eight percent or greater than one 21 hundred four percent of the appropriation for the current fiscal 22 year, the Governor may call a meeting of the board to determine

 23 whether the rate shall be changed. If such a change is required, 24 the board shall set the new rate which shall become effective on 25 the first day of the following calendar quarter.

26 (6) Nothing in this section shall be construed to 27 abrogate the duties of the Department of Roads or attempt to change
 1 any highway improvement program schedule.

2 Sec. 8. Section 77-501, Reissue Revised Statutes of
 3 Nebraska, is amended to read:

4 77-501. The Governor, Secretary of State, Auditor of 5 Public Accounts, State Treasurer, and Tax Commissioner shall 6 collectively constitute the State Tax Board of Equalization and 7 Assessment.

8 Sec. 9. Section 77-502, Reissue Revised Statutes of
 9 Nebraska, is amended to read:

10 77-502. The Governor shall be ex officio chairperson of 11 the State Tax Board of Equalization and Assessment and preside at 12 all meetings when present. The Tax Commissioner shall be secretary
 13 of the board and as such shall perform such duties as may devolve
 14 on him or her by law or the rules and regulations of the board. In 15 the absence of either the chairperson or the secretary, their 16 places may be filled temporarily by other members of the board.
 17 Attendance of three members of the board shall constitute a quorum
 18 for the transaction of business.

19 Sec. 10. Section 77-503, Reissue Revised Statutes of
 20 Nebraska, is amended to read:

21 77-503. The Tax Commissioner shall have authority to 22 call special meetings of the State Tax Board of Equalization and 23 Assessment at such times as its business may require. The Tax
 24 Commissioner shall also have authority to administer oaths and 25 affirmations and to sign all orders, certificates, and process in 26 the name of the board upon a roll call vote. The Tax Commissioner 27 shall attest all orders, certificates, and process with the 1 official seal of the board."

Opinion No. 97010

DATE: February 6, 1997

SUBJECT: Authority to Pay Municipal Fees with Credit Cards

REQUESTED BY: Senator Ron Withem

WRITTEN BY: Don Stenberg, Attorney General
Timothy J. Texel, Assistant Attorney General

You have requested the opinion of this office concerning the authority of municipalities to accept credit cards for payment of certain fees. You specifically requested advice regarding whether the Legislature would have to affirmatively act in order to allow cities to perform such a function. Due to the number of variables involved, and that no one statute or case appears to control the issue raised, there does not appear to be any one clear answer to your inquiry.

We note you mentioned in your request that in a cursory review of the statutes, you found no statutory prohibition against the acceptance of credit card payments for municipal fees. In our research, we likewise did not find any statute prohibiting this practice. However, due to the nature of the area of law involved, that determination alone does not answer the issue.

It is well established in Nebraska that municipalities have only those powers which are expressly conferred on them by statute, are necessary or fairly implied in order to carry into effect some enumerated power, or are essential to the declared objects and purposes of the municipal corporation. State ex rel. Ransom v. Irely, 42 Neb. 186, 60 N.W. 601 (1894); Giger v. City of Omaha, 232 Neb. 676, 442 N.W.2d 182 (1989); Professional Firefighters Local 385 v. Omaha, 243 Neb. 166, 498 N.W.2d 325 (1993). The Nebraska Supreme Court has also stated that the powers a municipal corporation may exercise as essential to its declared purposes must be indispensable, not simply convenient. Giger at 688, 442 N.W.2d at 192; Professional Firefighters at 174, 498 N.W.2d at 331. Under normal circumstances it would not seem necessary for a city to accept credit cards for municipal fee payments in order to carry out an enumerated power, and such action would not be essential to the declared purposes of a city.

Nebraska statutes establish several classes of cities, according to their population. These categories classify cities as metropolitan, primary, first class, second class, and villages. Separate sets of statutes establish the powers available to the cities within each class. There are also statutes which apply to all cities and villages. See Neb. Rev. Stat. §§ 18-131 to 18-2808. There is no statute specifically granting all municipalities the power to accept credit cards as payment for all types of municipal fees. Despite the lack of explicit statutory language controlling the issue, some statutes may grant certain classes of Nebraska cities the authority to accept credit card payments for certain fees.

One statute which may authorize acceptance of credit cards for municipal fees is Neb. Rev. Stat. § 18-509. That statute begins by stating that "The mayor and city council of any city, or the board of trustees of any village, in addition to other sources of revenue available to the city or village, may by ordinance set up a rental or use charge, to be collected from users of any system of sewerage, and provide methods for collection thereof. . . ." Neb. Rev. Stat. § 18-509(1) (1991). Similar language is provided specifically for metropolitan cities in § 14-365.10 (1991). The term "methods for collection" is not defined, and it is not clear whether such a term would be broad enough to allow a city to enact ordinances establishing acceptable methods of payment, such as credit cards, as well as collection procedures such as mailing monthly bills. If it were determined that "methods for collection" includes setting acceptable payment methods, the statute would appear to allow, by fair implication, municipalities to accept credit cards for payment of fees if authorized by ordinance.

It should be pointed out that § 18-509 applies only to fees charged for sanitary sewer services, not all municipal fees. Also, the statute goes on to state:

All money raised from the charges . . . shall be used for maintenance or operation of the existing system, for payment of principal and interest on bonds issued . . . or to create a reserve fund for the purpose of future maintenance or construction of a new sewer system for the city or village. Any funds raised from this charge shall be placed in a separate fund and not be used for any other purpose or diverted to any other fund.

Neb. Rev. Stat. § 18-509(2) (1991). Again, very similar language is found in § 14-365.10.

The above language raises an additional concern. The acceptance of credit cards would incur the cost of service fees paid to the credit card companies, which would have to be deducted from the total payments collected by the municipality. This payment may conflict with the statutory mandate that "all money" raised must be used for the required purposes. Under such an arrangement, some of the funds would be used to satisfy credit card company service fees and would not be deposited in the separate fund. It is therefore not clear whether credit card payments could be accepted. The Nebraska Supreme Court has stated that "Statutes granting powers to municipalities are to be strictly construed, and where doubt exists, such doubt must be resolved against the grant." Professional Firefighters at 175, 498 N.W.2d at 331-32 (1993) (citations omitted). When analyzed using this standard, the potential for ambiguity present in §§ 18-509 and 14-365.10 indicates that a municipality may not have the authority to accept credit card payments for sanitary sewer system use fees.

There are other examples of statutes which may authorize certain municipalities to accept credit cards, albeit for specific types of fees. Section 19-1404 states:

19-1404. Municipal heat, light, and ice plants; management; rates; service. When any such utility shall have been established, the municipality shall provide by ordinance for the management thereof, the rates to be charged, and the manner of payment for service or for the product.

Neb. Rev. Stat. § 19-1404 (1991).

The language in the above statute appears to provide cities and villages with the authority to allow payment of certain utility bills with credit cards. Section 19-1404 does not apply to metropolitan cities because it appears in chapter 19, article 14 of the Nebraska Revised Statutes. That article applies to all cities except cities of the metropolitan class. But the authorization extends only to the manner of payment for municipal light, heat, and ice utility services. It does not authorize credit card payments for any other municipal fees. A similar provision authorizing municipalities other than metropolitan class cities to provide by ordinance for the manner of payments for garbage disposal services is set out in Neb. Rev. Stat. § 19-2106 (1991).

Neb. Rev. Stat. § 16-682 (1991), which pertains to public utilities operated by cities of the first class, states that "water taxes, rents, or rates shall be paid and collected and such lien enforced in such manner as the council or commission, as the case may be, shall by ordinance direct and provide. . . ." As with the previously mentioned statutes, this statute allows certain cities the authority to enact ordinances allowing for the manner of payment for specified utility services. The statutory language appears to provide cities of the first class with the authority to accept credit cards for payment of water service fees if provided for by ordinance. A similar provision pertaining to waterworks in cities of the second class and villages is set out in Neb. Rev. Stat. § 17-538 (1991).

The above examples provide an illustration of the numerous limitations and variables present in many of the statutes affecting the area of whether municipalities can accept credit card payments for fees. Other statutes specifically mention credit card payments, although not necessarily in the context of municipal services.

Several statutes explicitly authorize credit card payments for fees and costs charged or taxed by courts. See Neb. Rev. Stat. §§ 25-2710 (1995), 29-424 (1995), and 32-1549(5) (Cum. Supp. 1996). Individuals may also pay their fines and costs for handicap parking citations with credit cards. Neb. Rev. Stat. § 18-1741.04 (Cum. Supp. 1996). Neb. Rev. Stat. § 81-118.01 (1994) allows state agencies operating a facility in a proprietary capacity to accept credit cards. Although none of the above-mentioned statutes directly state whether municipalities can accept credit card payments, they demonstrate that the Legislature has considered credit card payments for other state entities and political subdivisions and enacted specific legislation to allow such payments. Also, Neb. Rev. Stat. § 77-1702 (1996), which deals primarily with taxes, states that "Lawful money of the United States, checks, drafts, money orders or other bills of exchange may be accepted in payment of any state, county, village, township school district or other governmental subdivision tax, levy, excise, duty, custom, toll, penalty, fine, license, fee, or assessment of whatever kind or nature, whether general or special." Id.

As is demonstrated by the above examples, some statutes specifically provide for payments by credit cards, while others provide a list of means acceptable as payment to governmental entities, which does not include credit cards. This language could be interpreted as an indication that the Legislature considered the issue and decided not to provide political subdivisions with the authority to accept credit cards for payment of all types of municipal fees. It is a general rule of statutory interpretation that mention of one thing implies the exclusion of another. Under this principle the enumeration of certain powers implies the exclusion of all other powers not fairly incident to the stated enumerated powers, and an affirmative description of cases in which certain powers may be exercised implies a negative on the exercise of such powers in other cases. Hueftle v. Eustis Cemetery Ass'n., 171 Neb.293, 296, 106 N.W.2d 400, 403 (1960). See also Op. Att'y Gen. No. 95-067 (August 31, 1995).

In conclusion, when determining whether municipalities have the ability to accept credit cards for payment of certain municipal fees, one clear answer controlling the issue does not appear available due to the number of variables which must be taken into account. Considerations such as the class of city involved, whether the statute includes language requiring all money collected to be deposited in designated funds, and the type of fee, such as utility charges or fines, can all affect the answer.

In order for it to be clear that all classes of municipalities are granted the authority to accept credit card payments for all types of municipal fees, legislation may be necessary. If the Legislature would deem such legislation appropriate, it may wish to consider whether a provision should be included in the legislation addressing whether incurring credit card service charges are to be considered a power incident to the establishment of credit card acceptance agreements, notwithstanding language in certain statutes that all funds from certain fees be deposited in specific funds.

Sincerely,
 DON STENBERG
 Attorney General

20 Sec. 14. Section 21-17,109, Revised Statutes Supplement,
 21 1996, is amended to read:

22 21-17,109. (1) Any credit union organized under the 23 Credit Union Act may, with the approval of the department, merge or 24 consolidate with one or more other credit unions organized under 25 the act or under the laws of the United States, if the credit
 26 unions merging or consolidating possess coinciding common bonds of 27 association.

1 (2) When two or more credit unions merge or consolidate,
 2 one shall be designated as the continuing credit union or a totally 3 new credit union shall be organized. If the latter procedure is 4 followed, the new credit union shall be organized under the Credit
 5 Union Act or under the laws of the United States. All
 6 participating credit unions other than the continuing or new credit
 7 union shall be designated as merging credit unions.

8 (3) Any merger or consolidation of credit unions shall be 9 done according to a plan of merger or consolidation. After 10 approval by the boards of directors of all participating credit
 11 unions, the plan shall be submitted to the department for 12 preliminary approval. If the plan includes the organization of a

13 new credit union, all documents required pursuant to section
14 21-1724 shall be submitted as a part of the plan. In addition,
15 each participating credit union shall submit the following
16 information:

17 (a) The time and place of the meeting of the boards of 18 directors at which the plan of merger or consolidation was agreed 19 upon;

20 (b) The vote of the directors in favor of the adoption of 21 the plan; and

22 (c) A copy of a resolution or other action by which the 23 plan was agreed upon.

24 The department shall grant preliminary approval if the 25 plan has been approved properly by the boards of directors and if 26 the documentation required to organize a new credit union, if any,
27 complies with section 21-1724.

1 (4) After the department grants preliminary approval,
2 each merging credit union shall, unless waived by the department,
3 conduct a membership vote on its participation in the plan. The 4 vote shall be conducted either at a special meeting called for that 5 purpose or by mail ballot. If a majority of the members voting
6 approve the plan, the credit union shall submit a record of that 7 fact to the department indicating the vote by which the members
8 approved the plan and either the time and place of the membership
9 meeting or the mailing date and closing date of the mail ballot.

10 (5) The department may waive any voting requirements
11 described in the Credit Union Act for any credit union upon the 12 determination that it is in the best interests of the membership or 13 that the credit union is insolvent or in imminent danger of 14 becoming insolvent.

15 (6) The director shall grant final approval of the plan
16 of merger or consolidation after determining that the requirements
17 of subsections (1) ~~to~~ through (4) of this section have been met in 18 the case of each merging credit union. If the plan of merger or 19 consolidation includes the organization of a new credit union, the 20 department must approve the organization of the new credit union

22 or consolidation. The department shall notify all participating 23 credit unions of the plan.

25 all property, property rights, and members' interests in each
26 merging credit union shall vest in the continuing or new credit
27 union as applicable without deed, obligations, and other
1 instruments of transfer, and all debts, obligations, and 2 liabilities of each merging credit union shall be deemed to have 3 been assumed by the continuing or new credit union. The rights and 4 privileges of the members of each participating credit union shall 5 remain intact. If a person is a member of more than one of the 6 participating credit unions, the person shall be entitled to only a 7 single set of membership rights in the continuing or new credit

8 union.

9 (8) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the 10 department may authorize a merger or consolidation of a credit
11 union which is insolvent or which is in danger of insolvency with 12 any other credit union or may authorize a credit union to purchase
13 any of the assets of or assume any of the liabilities of any other 14 credit union which is insolvent or which is in danger of 15 insolvency, if the department is satisfied that:

16 (a) An emergency requiring expeditious action exists with 17 respect to such credit union;

18 (b) Other alternatives for such credit union are not 19 reasonably available; and

20 (c) ~~The credit unions merging or consolidating possess~~
21 ~~coinciding common bonds of association; and~~

22 (d) The public interest would best be served by the 23 approval of such merger, consolidation, purchase, or assumption.

24 (9) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the 25 director may authorize an institution, the deposits or accounts of 26 which are insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or 27 any derivative thereof, to purchase any assets of or assume any 1 liabilities of a credit union which is insolvent or in danger of 2 insolvency, except that prior to exercising this authority the 3 director shall attempt to effect a merger or consolidation with, or 4 purchase or assumption by, another credit union as provided in 5 subsection (8) of this section.

6 (10) For purposes of the authority contained in 7 subsection (9) of this section, insured share accounts of each
8 credit union may, upon consummation of the purchase or assumption, 9 be converted to insured deposits or other comparable accounts in 10 the acquiring institution, and the department and the National 11 Credit Union Share Insurance Fund shall be absolved of any 12 liability to the credit union's members with respect to those 13 accounts."

14 2. On page 17, strike beginning with "not" in line 2
15 through "violation" in line 3; in line 6 after the period insert

17 the first offense and twenty-five thousand dollars per violation

 20 Nebraska, is amended to read:

21 77-3002. (1) Any operator shall be required to procure a

Opinion No. 97013

DATE: February 13, 1997

SUBJECT: Constitutionality Under Neb. Const. art. III, § 24, of LB 522 and LB 534.

L. Jay Bartel, Assistant Attorney General

You have requested our opinion concerning the constitutionality under Neb. Const. art. III, § 24, of portions of two bills currently before the Legislature (LB 522 and LB 534) proposing to expand the manner in which certain gambling activities may be conducted in Nebraska. LB 522 proposes, in part, to authorize a form of "electronic" pickle card device which would incorporate a video display feature. LB 522, §§ 1 to 7. The bill also would amend the provisions of the Nebraska County and City Lottery Act to eliminate the "paper ticket" requirement currently contained in the Act, as well as the prohibitions against "player activation" and the use of "mechanical", "computer", "electronic" or "video" gaming devices, to permit "electronic" keno. LB 522, §§ 8-13. Section 14 of LB 522 would authorize organizations licensed to conduct live thoroughbred horseracing to apply for a license to conduct a lottery under the County and City Lottery Act. LB 534, which is virtually the same as LB 915, introduced during the last legislative session, would amend the definition of "lottery" under the County and City Lottery Act to include, in addition to the ticket drawing or keno forms presently authorized, a third method of determining winners, broadly stated as being "[b]y some other method based on an element of chance; . . ." LB 534, § 1. The bill also proposes to eliminate the prohibition in Neb. Rev. Stat. § 9-607(2)(a) (Cum. Supp. 1996) against lotteries including "any gambling scheme which uses any mechanical gaming device, computer gaming device, electronic device, or video gaming device. . .," and to remove such devices from the definition of "gambling device" under Neb. Rev. Stat. § 28-1101(5) (1995).

You request our advice concerning whether these provisions of LBs 522 and 534 are within the Legislature's power under Neb. Const. art. III, § 24, to authorize "lotteries" for charitable or community betterment purposes, or whether the proposed legislation impermissibly proposes to authorize "games of chance" prohibited under the Nebraska Constitution.¹ For the reasons outlined below, we reiterate our prior conclusion that, in order to give effect to the separate recognition of the prohibition against "games of chance" under the Nebraska Constitution, and the exception allowing "lotteries" for charitable or community betterment purposes, the term "lotteries" must be interpreted in its narrow sense, meaning schemes in which tickets or tokens are distributed or sold and prize winners are either secretly predetermined or ultimately selected by some form of random drawing.² Applying this interpretation to LBs 522 and 534, it is our opinion that, for the reasons stated below, the amendments proposed are likely unconstitutional.³

I. Previous Attorney General Opinions.

In your request, you reference two recent Attorney General opinions addressing the constitutionality of legislation which proposed to authorize "slot machines" or other "electronic gaming devices" as "lotteries" for charitable or community betterment purposes. Op. Att'y Gen. No. 95085 (November 17, 1995); Op. Att'y Gen. No. 96007 (January 23, 1996). In Opinion No. 95085, based on our understanding that the terms "slot machine" or "video or electronic gaming device" referred to gaming devices in the nature of "traditional" slot machines, or video devices based on a slot machine theme, and video or electronic devices based on games such as poker, blackjack, or dice, (id. at 2n.1), we concluded:

(1) Except as provided in this section, the Legislature shall not authorize any game of chance or any lottery or gift enterprise when the consideration for a chance to participate involves the payment of money or the purchase of property, services, or a chance or admission ticket or requires an expenditure of substantial effort or time.

(2) The Legislature may authorize and regulate a state lottery pursuant to subsection (3) of this section and other lotteries, raffles, and gift enterprises which are intended solely as business promotions or the proceeds of which are to be used solely for charitable or community betterment purposes without profit to the promoter of such lotteries, raffles, or gift enterprises.

[T]he Legislature may not enact legislation to permit the use of "slot machines" or other "electronic gaming devices" under the constitutional grant permitting the Legislature to authorize "lotteries, raffles, and gift enterprises. . . the proceeds of which are used for charitable or community betterment purposes." Under Article III, § 24, the Legislature is precluded from authorizing "any game of chance or any lottery or any gift enterprise" except as provided in the Constitution. In our opinion, "slot machines" or other forms of "electronic gaming devices" fall within the category of "games of chance" prohibited by the Constitution, and not "lotteries" which the Legislature may sanction under its authority to permit "lotteries" for charitable or community betterment purposes. Accordingly, "slot machines" or other "electronic gaming devices" may not be authorized by the Legislature for these purposes absent an amendment to the Nebraska Constitution.

Id. at 24-25.

Subsequently, in Opinion No. 96007, in which we addressed the constitutionality of legislation (LB 915) identical to LB 534 proposing to amend the County and City Lottery Act to allow "lotteries" to be "based on some other element of chance", we stated:

[T]he issue is not whether the Constitution prohibits the use of video or electronic gaming devices in the conduct of a "lottery;" rather, as we have stated, the issue is whether the gambling activity constitutes a permissible "lottery," as opposed to a prohibited "game of chance." . . . Thus, the Legislature may not constitutionally adopt a definition of "lottery" which purports to authorize "lotteries" for charitable or community betterment purposes which, in fact, constitute prohibited "games of chance."

Id. at 3-4.⁴

⁴ In addition, we have issued opinions to the Tax Commissioner concluding that proposed "video" or "electronic" devices for the conduct of pickle card or keno lotteries were not consistent with the provisions of the Nebraska Pickle Card Lottery Act, Neb. Rev. Stat. §§ 9-301 to 9-356 (1991 and Cum. Supp. 1996) and the Nebraska County and City Lottery Act, Neb. Rev. Stat. §§ 9-601 to 9-653 (1991 and Cum. Supp. 1996). Op. Att'y Gen. No. 97004 (January 12, 1997) ("video" pickle card dispensing device); Op. Att'y Gen. No. 95074 (September 19, 1995) ("video" keno device). In neither case, of course, was it necessary for us to address whether use of these proposed "video" or "electronic" gambling devices, even if authorized by statute, would be consistent with the limitations imposed under art. III, § 24. Accordingly, our opinions were limited to addressing the particular issues of statutory interpretation raised by the Tax Commissioner in his

II. Application of Prior Opinions to LBs 522 and 534.

As your opinion request relates to two distinct legislative proposals for expanded gambling, we will address each separately for purposes of our analysis.

A. LB 522

LB 522, as noted, contains language proposing to amend provisions of both the Nebraska Pickle Card Lottery Act and the Nebraska County and City Lottery Act. You have presented three separate questions pertaining to the constitutionality of LB 522.

1. "Electronic" Pickle Cards.

Sections 1 through 7 of LB 522 propose to amend the Nebraska Pickle Card Lottery Act, Neb. Rev. Stat. §§ 9-301 to 9-356 (1991 and Cum. Supp. 1996) to authorize a form of "electronic" pickle card device. Section 2 would amend the definition of "pickle card" in § 9-315 to include an "electronic pickle card", which would be "electronically open[ed]. . .by moving a finger or other physical object over the face of the displayed pickle card,. . . ." You state that [t]his provision is intended to authorize use of technology which electronically duplicates a pickle card lottery as currently authorized by Nebraska law, and is intended to contain all of the characteristics of the paper game including: finite pool of predetermined winning and losing tickets, random selection of winners and losers, number and amount of preselected prizes, having players play against one another as opposed to playing against a machine, and visual depiction of the same types of symbols as well as electronic duplication of the manner of selecting winners. The language of this section continues to require that the person play the game by opening the card to reveal certain numbers, letters, symbols or configurations in order to determine winners or losers and does not authorize slot machines, video or electronic devices based on a slot machine theme, or video, computer or electronic gaming devices based on games such as poker, blackjack, or dice. This provision is only intended to change the means of accessing the game, similar to the concept of using a fax machine to send a letter rather than the post office; the content is not changed, merely the means of transmitting it.

requests; the constitutionality of these proposals was not considered in these opinions.

Based on this description, your question is whether the Legislature may authorize use of this electronic pickle card device as a lawful form of "lottery", or whether such would be a "game of chance" prohibited by art. III, § 24, of the Nebraska Constitution?

The Nebraska Supreme Court upheld the validity of the sale of "pickle cards" as a permissible form of "lottery" under Nebraska statutes in CONtact, Inc. v. State, 212 Neb. 584, 324 N.W.2d 804 (1982) ["CONtact, Inc."]. CONtact, Inc. brought a declaratory judgment action seeking a determination that the sale of "pickle cards" for fundraising by a nonprofit corporation was a permissible form of "lottery" under Neb. Rev. Stat. §§ 28-1101(6) and 28-1115 (1979). "Lottery" was defined as "a gambling scheme in which (a) the players pay or agree to pay something of value for chances, represented and differentiated by numbers or by combinations of numbers or by some other medium, one or more of which chances are to be designated the winning ones, (b) the winning chances are to be determined by a drawing or by some other method based on an element of chance, and (c) the holders of the winning chances are to receive something of value." Id. at 585-86, 324 N.W.2d at 805. The State contended that the sale of pickle cards by nonprofit organizations did not fall within this definition of "lottery" because, as the number of winners was predetermined, the potential for fraudulent manipulation was great, and the game therefore did not possess the requisite element of chance. The State also argued that the statutes permitted only lotteries having a drawing after all tickets had been sold, in which the winner was determined by the drawing itself. Id. at 587, 324 N.W.2d at 805-06.

The Court in CONtact, Inc. noted that the statute defining "lottery" was "a codification of earlier case law", and contained the "basic elements" of "(1) consideration, (2) prize, and (3) chance." Id. at 587, 324 N.W.2d at 806. It saw the issue as "simply one of statutory construction." Id. Finding that the statutory language was "unambiguous", the Court rejected the contention that only lotteries consisting of drawings after the sale of all tickets were permissible, stating:

Section 28-1101(6) requires one or more chances to be designated the winning ones. The statute makes no time reference as to when the designation is to take place, but merely states that "the winning chances are to be determined by a drawing or by some other method based on an element of chance." The statute requires designation of the winner only by "chance" or by a drawing.

Id. at 587-88, 324 N.W.2d at 806.

The Court further found that the pickle card scheme satisfied the "chance" requirement, stating: "The drawing of the cards from a tub provides the element of 'chance' required by statute. The fact that the winning numbers are predetermined does not eliminate 'chance.'" Id. at 592, 324 N.W.2d at 808. It therefore held "that the sale of pickle cards is a lottery and thus permitted by §§ 28-1101(6) and 28-1115." Id.

The decision in CONtact, Inc. involved consideration only of whether the sale of "pickle cards" constituted a permissible "lottery" under a legislative definition of the term. Also, while the Court in CONtact, Inc. noted that the statute defining "lottery" in relation to the three elements of prize, chance, and consideration was "a codification of earlier case law" (212 Neb. at 587, 324 N.W.2d at 806), it must be remembered that such case law predated the 1968 constitutional amendment to art. III, § 24, allowing the Legislature to authorize "lotteries, raffles, and gift enterprises" for charitable or community betterment purposes. These decisions were rendered when Nebraska's Constitution and statutes generally prohibited any "games of chance, lottery, or gift enterprise", thus obviating the need for the Court to make any distinction between "games of chance" and "lotteries".

As reflected in our earlier opinion, the term "games of chance" is broad in nature, and refers to any game in which chance is the predominant element, as opposed to skill, "when the consideration for a chance to participate involves the payment of money or the purchase of property [or] services." State ex rel. Spire v. Strawberries, Inc., 239 Neb. 1, 7, 473 N.W.2d 428, 434 (1991). A "game of chance" includes the three elements of chance, consideration, and prize. Id. The broad definition of "lottery", as reflected in CONtact, Inc. and other cases (e.g. Video Consultants of Nebraska, Inc. v. Douglas, 219 Neb. 868, 367 N.W.2d 697 (1985), State ex rel. Line v. Grant, 162 Neb. 210, 75 N.W.2d 611 (1956)), encompasses the same three elements: (1) chance; (2) prize; and (3) consideration.

We believe that a proper construction of art. III, § 24, requires that the term "lotteries", under the exception authorizing the Legislature to permit "lotteries, raffles, and gift enterprises" for charitable or community betterment purposes, must be construed in a narrower manner than the broad definition of any scheme involving the elements of prize, chance, and consideration. As we stated in our prior opinion:

If the term "lotteries" under the exception in art. III, § 24, authorizing the Legislature to permit "lotteries, raffles, and gift enterprises" for community betterment purposes, is construed to authorize any scheme involving the elements of prize, chance, and consideration, the prohibition against "games of chance" would be rendered meaningless. . . . In order to give effect to the separate recognition of "games of chance" and "lotteries" under art. III, § 24, the term "games of chance" must be interpreted as a broad prohibition against gambling activities, and the term "lotteries", under the exception allowing such for community betterment purposes, must be interpreted in a narrower sense, as involving schemes in which tickets or tokens are distributed or sold and prize winners are either secretly predetermined or ultimately selected by some form of random drawing.

The present statutory scheme authorizing the conduct of "pickle card lotteries" under Neb. Rev. Stat. §§ 9-301 to 9-356 (1991 and Cum. Supp. 1996) requires the use of a physical card, board or ticket to be opened by the player to determine if it is a winner. Neb. Rev. Stat. §§ 9-315 and 9-346(2) (Cum. Supp. 1996). The cards are distributed in units consisting of a predetermined number of winning and losing cards. Neb. Rev. Stat. § 9-317 (1991). Thus, the conduct of pickle card lotteries in this manner clearly comports with the narrow definition of "lottery" outlined in our earlier opinion, as it involves a scheme whereby tickets are sold from a pool consisting of a finite number of predetermined winning and losing tickets.

Under LB 522, the "ticket" limitation presently incorporated in the Pickle Card Lottery Act would be altered to authorize use of devices which do not dispense a card or ticket to be opened by the player; rather, the player will apparently move a finger or physical object over an electronic machine with a video display which imitates the form of a pickle card to visually reveal its contents. As we understand the proposed operation of the electronic pickle card device, no physical card or ticket would be dispensed to the player.

The absence of a physical card or ticket in connection with the proposed device raises a question as to whether operation of such a device comports with the definition of a permissible "lottery" under art. III, § 24, as defined in our prior opinion. We recognize and appreciate that the manner in which the game would be conducted would be similar in all respects to the manner in which pickle card lotteries are presently authorized, with the exception of the substitution of a video or electronic display and "opening" of the "card", as opposed to the dispensing of a physical card to be opened by the player. It could be argued that the use of such technology does not alter the fundamental nature of the manner of play, and, therefore, the use of such a device would not be inconsistent with the Legislature's power to authorize "lotteries" under art. III, § 24. Because of the absence of a physical card or ticket, however, it is questionable whether the "electronic" pickle card play proposed under LB 522 can be considered a permissible form of "lottery" under art. III, § 24.

We note, however, that another bill pending before the Legislature (LB 723), also proposes to amend the Pickle Card Lottery Act to allow video pickle card display devices. Unlike LB 522, however, LB 723 continues to require that the player receive a physical card or ticket, to be opened by the player. In this situation, the video display of the contents of the ticket could be viewed as a legitimate form of technological aid or enhancement to play, with the physical card or ticket remaining as an element of the lottery. In our view, use of video enhancement in the play of the game in this manner, while retaining the physical card or ticket element, would be consistent with the type of "lottery" which the Legislature may authorize under art. III, § 24.

2. "Electronic" Keno Games.

Sections 8 to 13 of LB 522 propose to amend various provisions of the County and City Lottery Act to eliminate the "paper ticket" requirement currently contained in the Act, as well as the prohibitions against "player activation" and the use of "mechanical", "computer", "electronic" or "video" gaming devices, to permit "electronic" keno. Specifically, section 9 would amend Neb. Rev. Stat. § 9-607 (Cum. Supp. 1996) to: (1) Eliminate the requirement that winning opportunities be represented by tickets and provide that such are to be "determined on the basis of chance and may be represented by paper or electronic tickets"; (2) Eliminate the prohibition against player-activation of a computer or electronic selection device and the requirement that no selection of winners for a game can occur within five minutes of the completion of the prior selection of winners; (3) Eliminate the prohibition against the use of "any mechanical gaming device, computer gaming device, electronic gaming device, or video gaming device which has the capability of awarding something of value, . . ."; and (4) Eliminate the requirement that a "paper ticket" be used to select numbers.

Your question is whether, if the County and City Lottery Act is amended "to permit the use of electronic means to replace the paper ticket which the player currently uses to select his or her numbers, to allow the player to activate the number selection device, to remove the time limits on number selection, to remove the prohibition on use of electronic devices, and all other provisions concerning the operation of the lottery continue to follow current practice. . .", would this constitute a permissible "lottery", or a "game of chance" prohibited by art. III, § 24?

In your request, you refer specifically to the Nebraska Supreme Court's decision in Video Consultants of Nebraska, Inc. v. Douglas, 219 Neb. 868, 367 N.W.2d 697 (1985) [Video Consultants], in which the Court found that video lottery machines, operated in much the same manner as those proposed under §§ 8 to 13 of LB 522, did not contravene a Nebraska statutes defining the terms "lottery" and "gambling device." As was the case in our prior opinions, we will again analyze this decision and explain why we do not believe that it supports the conclusion that the conduct of "electronic" keno games such as proposed under LB 522 may be authorized by the Legislature as a form of "lottery"; rather, we believe that such fall within the category of a prohibited "game of chance".

Video Consultants involved the "question whether an electronic gaming machine, such as a video computer, is a form of lottery permitted under statutes enacted by the Nebraska Legislature in 1983 relative to gambling." Id. at 868-69, 367 N.W.2d at 698.⁵ Video Consultants, and IGT Nebraska,

Inc., each provided video lottery equipment to the City of Bellevue. The video lottery equipment was stipulated to consist of computer-based video machines which [were] activated by a participant inserting one or more coins. The machine [was] equipped with an eighty-number pad from which the participant [could] select from one to ten numbers. Upon selection of his numbers, the participant activate[d] the machine which select[ed], purely at random, twenty (20) numbers from the total base of eighty (80) numbers. The participant's winnings, if any, [were] determined by matching the numbers selected by the participant with the random numbers selected by the machine.

Id. at 870, 367 N.W.2d at 699.

At issue in Video Consultants was whether the "video lottery" fell within the definition of "lottery" in Neb. Rev. Stat. § 28-1101(6) (Supp. 1983), and whether the "video lottery equipment" was a "gambling device" prohibited under Neb. Rev. Stat. § 28-1101(5) (Supp. 1983). The State "conced[ed] that the activity produced by the video gaming device [was] a lottery. . . ." 219 Neb. at 873, 367 N.W.2d at 700. It argued that the video lottery was an illegal gambling device under the statute, however, because the machines did not fall within the statutory exemption for nongambling devices. The State also asserted that the sale of a ticket was a necessary part of the "playing phase" of a lottery under the statute, and that the ticket given by the machines was actually a receipt or evidence of winning, and not a ticket. Id.

As to the contention that the machines were illegal "gambling devices" because they did not fall within the statutory exemption for nongambling devices, the Court stated:

Obviously, video and electronic machines are being used in production of a lottery. In its regulation of gambling, had the Legislature intended to exclude a machine, especially an electronic or video gaming device, as an object proscribed in a permissible lottery, such exclusion was not an impossible statutory feat. Yet, the Legislature employed unrestrictive, generic terms in describing the means to conduct a permissible lottery so that any article or any method was available in the 'playing phase' of a legal lottery. This court cannot now insert into the statute an exclusion or restriction which the Legislature might have included when enacting § 28-1101(5) and (6) in 1983. We cannot assume that the Legislature intended to exclude electronic gaming devices from "other items used in the playing phases" of a lottery authorized by statute. . . .

Neb. at 869, 367 N.W.2d at 698; 1984 Neb. Laws, LB 744, § 1 (codified at Neb. Rev. Stat. § 28-1101(6) (Cum. Supp. 1984)). Because the legality of activities conducted under the earlier statutes continued to raise questions of potential civil or criminal liability, the Court proceeded to address the issue of the legality of the use of the electronic gaming machines under the prior statutes.

We conclude that the electronic gaming devices involved in this case are not "gambling devices" as such phrase and description are used in § 28-1101(5).

Id. at 873-74, 367 N.W.2d at 701.

As to the State's contention that a ticket was an essential part of a lottery as defined in § 28-1101(6), the Court determined that it could not "rewrite" the statutes to require that purchase of a ticket be the only method of satisfying the chance element, finding that "[p]urchase of a ticket is not the only means of participating in a lottery otherwise permissible under Nebraska's gambling statutes." Id. at 874, 367 N.W.2d at 701.

As we pointed out in Opinion No. 95085, Video Consultants involved only issues of whether the video gaming activities at issue constituted a "lottery" or involved use of unlawful "gaming devices" as those terms were defined by statute; no issue was raised as to whether the video gaming activity was a permissible form of "lottery" under the Constitution, as opposed to a prohibited "game of chance." Indeed, in a case discussed at length in Opinion No. 95085, the Supreme Court of South Dakota held that "video lottery" was not a permissible lottery under a South Dakota constitutional provision authorizing a "state lottery", but, rather, was a "game of chance" prohibited under the Constitution. Poppen v. Walker, 520 N.W.2d 238 (1994). The South Dakota court specifically noted that, prior to South Dakota's authorization of "video lottery", a legislative committee concluded a "video lottery" could be implemented under the constitutional grant to create a "state lottery", relying on Video Consultants. The South Dakota Supreme Court recognized that "[t]he court in Video Consultants was not construing the Nebraska constitutional provision, but was determining the applicability of a series of statutes enacted under the general police power, one of which broadly defined the term "lottery", and "[t]hat the state on appeal conceded that the video device was a lottery. . . ." 520 N.W.2d at 246. We believe the South Dakota court properly concluded that Video Consultants "does not in any way stand for the proposition that video lottery is permissible under the Nebraska Constitution." Id.

The operative question, then, is whether the "electronic" keno game proposed under LB 522 is a permissible form of lottery, or, rather, is a prohibited "game of chance." We reiterate our view that a proper construction of art. III, § 24, requires that the term "lottery", under the exception authorizing the Legislature to permit "lotteries, raffles, and gift enterprises" for charitable or community betterment purposes, must be construed in a narrower manner than the broad definition of any scheme involving the elements of prize, chance, and consideration. As we stated previously:

If the term "lotteries" under the exception in art. III, § 24, authorizing the Legislature to permit "lotteries, raffles, and gift enterprises" for community betterment purposes, is construed to authorize any scheme involving the elements of prize, chance, and consideration, the prohibition against "games of chance" would be rendered meaningless. . . . In order to give effect to the separate recognition of "games of chance" and "lotteries" under art. III, § 24, the term "games of chance" must be interpreted as a broad prohibition against gambling activities, and the term "lotteries", under the exception allowing such for community betterment purposes, must be interpreted in a narrower sense, as involving schemes in which tickets or tokens are distributed or sold and prize winners are either secretly predetermined or ultimately selected by some form of random drawing.

Op. Att'y Gen. No. 95085 at 22-23 (citations omitted).

Applying this definition, it is our opinion that the "electronic" keno proposed under LB 522 does not constitute a form of "lottery" which the Legislature may authorize under art. III, § 24. The bill proposes to eliminate the current "paper ticket" requirement, which, of course, is one part of the definition noted above. Of greater significance, however, is the elimination of the "player-activation" restriction. You state that these "provisions are not intended to change the essential nature of the lotteries authorized. . .", and that "[c]urrent law requires that a keno game be conducted by having the player select up to 20 numbers from a total of 80 numbers and that the winning numbers be randomly selected by 'a computer, other electronic selection device, or electrically operated blower machine,' . . ." We cannot accept the premise that elimination of the "player-activation" prohibition does not "change the essential nature" of the activity. While it is true that a computer or electronic device may be used to select winning numbers under current law, we believe it is significant that these devices are not activated by the players, but, rather, are used by the keno operator. The concept of individual players activating gambling devices utilizing random-generation of numbers to determine winners at each device is, in our view, inconsistent with what we believe is the narrow manner in which the people, through their Constitution, intended to grant the Legislature power to permit "lotteries" for community betterment purposes. We therefore conclude that the Legislature may not, consistent with art. III, § 24, enact legislation permitting the use of "electronic" keno devices in the manner proposed under §§ 8 to 13 of LB 522.

3. Authorization of Horseracing Licensees to Conduct Lotteries.

Your final question regarding LB 522 concerns § 14, which would permit certain organizations licensed to conduct live thoroughbred horseracing in Nebraska to be licensed "to conduct a lottery pursuant to the Nebraska County and City Lottery Act." You note that art. III, § 24, requires that the proceeds from such lotteries must "be used solely for. . . community betterment purposes,. . ." and that the Nebraska Supreme Court, in City of Ralston v. Balka, 247 Neb. 773, 779, 530 N.W.2d 594, 600 (1995), held that legislation requiring that a percentage of keno lottery proceeds be credited for use as purse supplements for live thoroughbred racing in Nebraska violated art. III, § 24, as such use did "not qualify for the 'community betterment' exception to article III, § 24." You therefore ask whether organizations licensed to conduct live thoroughbred horseracing "may qualify to conduct" a lottery under the County and City Lottery Act, or whether such entities are "rendered ineligible for such a license" under art. III, § 24.

Initially, we note that there may be a question as to whether the Legislature can "single out" these entities to allow them to obtain such a license, without contravening the prohibition in art. III, § 18, against "special legislation". A legislative act constitutes "special legislation" if it creates an arbitrary and unreasonable method of classification. Haman v. Marsh, 237 Neb. 699, 467 N.W.2d 836 (1991). To determine if a legislative classification is unreasonable, it is necessary to determine if the classification is "'based upon some reason of public policy, some substantial difference of situation or circumstance, that would naturally suggest the justice or expediency of diverse legislation with respect to the objects to be classified. . . .'" Haman v. Marsh, 237 Neb. at 711, 467 N.W.2d at 846 (quoting State ex rel. Douglas v. Marsh, 207 Neb. 598, 300 N.W.2d 181 (1980)). The legislation contains no statement articulating the Legislature's purpose for creating this classification.

Apart from consideration of this issue, we believe that your question, whether such organizations may be licensed to conduct a lottery under the County and City Lottery Act, does not reach the fundamental issue presented by this proposed amendment. The crucial question raised by this portion of LB 522 is not whether certain thoroughbred horseracing licensees may also be licensed to conduct a lottery under the Nebraska County and City Lottery Act. Rather, it is whether, if they are so licensed, in what manner may they constitutionally utilize the proceeds generated from the conduct of lottery activities?

In this context, the decision in City of Ralston v. Balka becomes relevant. The Court held that the use of keno lottery proceeds to supplement purses for live thoroughbred horseracing in Nebraska did not serve a "community betterment purpose" as required by art. III, § 24. Specifically, the Court stated:

[S]upplementing the purses for live thoroughbred racing in Nebraska clearly does not confer any direct and peculiar benefit to the entire community. To the contrary, only the owners of Nebraska-bred horses stand to benefit from implementation of L.B. 795, § 6, and any argument that such a lottery regulation will eventually trickle down to the general populace is at best tenuous. Such a 'betterment' clearly is not shared by the entire community. As a result, L.B. 795, § 6, does not qualify for the 'community betterment' exception to article III, § 24.

247 Neb. at 779, 530 N.W.2d at 600.

Thus, in response to this question, while it is not clear that the classification created is proper, we feel the real issue is not whether organizations licensed to conduct live thoroughbred horseracing in Nebraska may be granted eligibility to obtain a license to conduct a lottery. Even if such entities could do so, they would still be limited in the manner in which any lottery proceeds could be used, as mandated by art. III, § 24. As City of Ralston instructs, our Supreme Court does not view the use of such proceeds to supplement purses for live thoroughbred horseracing as constituting a "community betterment" purpose under art. III, § 24. While the bill does not address this issue, we believe it is incumbent on us to note this aspect of the Court's decision in City of Ralston.

B. LB 534

Your final question concerns the constitutionality of LB 534. The bill, which is virtually identical to LB 915, introduced in the last session of the Legislature, would amend Neb. Rev. Stat. § 9-607 (Cum. Supp. 1996) to provide that winning opportunities in games conducted under the County and City Lottery Act may be represented by "chances", as well as tickets, or "by some other method based on an element of chance". It would also eliminate the prohibition against the use of mechanical, computer, electronic, or video gaming devices, and would remove such devices from the criminal definition of "gambling device". Your question is whether the Legislature may, consistent with art. III, § 24, enact this legislation.

As noted above, the provisions of LB 534 are, in substance, identical to those proposed last session under LB 915. At your request, we issued a formal opinion on the constitutionality of LB 915 in January, 1996. Op. Att'y Gen. No. 96007 (January 23, 1996). To avoid undue repetition, we will not reiterate all of the reasoning employed, or conclusions reached, in our previous opinion. The important point which we tried to convey at that time was that LB 915 proposed (without definition) to authorize "lotteries" for community betterment purposes involving "chances or tickets", and the determination of winners in a manner not only as authorized under existing law, but also "[b]y some other method based on an element of chance; . . ." (emphasis added). Because of the vague, broad language employed in LB 915, and the lack of definition, we concluded that, "to the extent that the amendment proposed by LB 915 [could be] construed to authorize 'games of chance,' and the use of video or electronic devices to conduct what are, in actuality, 'games of chance,' it would violate art. III, § 24." Id. at 4.

The same is true in response to your request concerning LB 534. The same problems of "vagueness" or "indefiniteness" presented by LB 915 exist with respect to any consideration of LB 534. Accordingly, to the extent LB 534 can be construed to authorize prohibited "games of chance", it would also violate art. III, § 24.

C. Conclusion

For the reasons noted above, we conclude that there is a serious question as to whether the devices authorizing "electronic" pickle card play in the manner provided under LB 522 are consistent with the Legislature's power to authorize "lotteries" under art. III, § 24, of the Nebraska Constitution. Should the Legislature deem it advisable to consider expanding such gambling, we believe that the amendments proposed under LB 723 provide a mechanism to allow the use of electronic or video technology to facilitate or enhance pickle card lottery activities in a manner which is consistent with the limitations imposed by art. III, § 24.

We further conclude that the proposed operation of "electronic" keno games under LB 522 is inconsistent with the Legislature's constitutional power to authorize "lotteries" under art. III, § 24. The concept of individual players activating gambling devices utilizing random-generation of numbers to determine winners at each device is, in our view, inconsistent with what we believe is the narrow manner in which the people, through their Constitution, intended to grant the Legislature power to permit "lotteries" for community betterment purposes. If enacted, we believe that this would amount to legislative authorization of a "game of chance" prohibited under our Constitution. We therefore conclude that the Legislature may not, consistent with art. III, § 24, enact legislation permitting the use of "electronic" keno devices in the manner proposed under §§ 8 to 13 of LB 522.

In reviewing your various questions concerning the constitutionality of these legislative proposals to expand gambling activity in Nebraska, we believe it is appropriate to quote the following language from an opinion issued in 1981 by New York Attorney General Robert Abrams in response to an inquiry as to whether certain forms of "electronic" gaming activities were, if allowed, consistent with New York's Constitution and statutes. 1981 N.Y. Op. Att'y Gen. 68 (September 8, 1981). Attorney General Abrams, in response to these proposals, stated:

Those who favor introduction of the proposed games in New York will no doubt argue that these electronic games are similar in many respects to non-electronic games already utilized. . . . It is true that many similarities can be identified. What is controlling in my judgment is not the similarities, however, but the differences. Mankind has displayed characteristic ingenuity in the invention of ways to gamble. Since the taxonomy of the various forms of gambling has never to my knowledge, been precisely delineated, it is no great trick to push at the edges of any abstract definition which covers one variety of gambling games and emerge with a definition which covers a great many new varieties. In legal interpretation, however, it may be unwise to focus excessively upon abstract definitions of single terms; meaning must be sought in context as well. One need only step back a little from the immediate task of defining lottery for the problem to vanish. However much these . . . new games may be like old lottery games already played, the fact is that they are fundamentally like slot machines, and slot machines are [illegal]. . . . The proposed devices programmed with these new games are, finally, much more like casino gambling than anything [which] has ever been done. The people have very clearly never authorized this sort of casino gambling. Finally, it requires no more than simple common sense to conclude that New York law does not presently permit these games.

In sum, we believe that, if gambling opportunities in Nebraska are to be expanded in ways such as proposed under LBs 522 and 534, the Nebraska Constitution must be amended to provide the Legislature authority to enact such legislation. We understand, of course, that computer and video technology has advanced to a great degree in recent years, and that this resultant expansion has generated new and innovative ways to augment the potential for persons to perform activities in ways not previously possible. Any expansion of gambling to permit the type of gambling activities proposed under these bills, however, must be approved by the people through amendment of their Constitution. Until such time, we conclude that the expansion of gambling activities proposed under LB 522, §§ 8 to 13, and LB 534, would be unconstitutional.

Very truly yours,
DON STENBERG

Mr. Wickersham offered the following amendment:
AM0341

- 1 1. Insert the following new sections:
- 2 "Section 1. Section 37-105, Revised Statutes Supplement,
- 3 1996, is amended to read:
- 4 37-105. (1) The Game and Parks Commission shall
- 5 establish and administer a bow hunter education program consisting

- 9 program, the commission shall train volunteers as bow hunter
- 10 education training instructors. The commission shall issue a
- 11 certificate of successful completion to any person who
- 12 satisfactorily completes a bow hunter education program established
- 13 by the commission and shall print, purchase, or otherwise acquire
- 14 materials necessary for effective program operation. The
- 15 commission shall adopt and promulgate rules and regulations for
- 16 carrying out and administering such program.
- 17 (2) A person born on or after January 1, 1977, who is

- 2 37-215. (1)(a) The commission may issue permits for the
- 3 hunting and killing of deer and prescribe and establish regulations
- 4 and limitations for the hunting, killing, transportation, and
- 5 possession of deer. The commission may specify by regulation the
- 6 information to be required on applications for such permits.
- 7 Regulations and limitations for the hunting, killing,
- 8 transportation, and possession of deer may include, but not be
- 9 limited to, regulations and limitations as to the type, caliber,
- 10 and other specifications of firearms and ammunition used and
- 11 specifications for bows and arrows used. Such regulations and

13 deer and may provide for dividing the state into management units
14 or areas, and the commission may enact different deer harvest
15 regulations for the different management units pertaining to sex, 16 species, and age of the deer harvested.

17 (b) The number of such permits may be limited, as 18 provided by the rules and regulations of the commission, and except 19 as provided in section 37-215.04 the permits shall be disposed of 20 in an impartial manner. Whenever the commission deems it advisable
21 to limit the number of permits issued for any or all management

24 eligibility, the commission shall give preference to persons who

6 establish and charge a fee of not less than twenty dollars and not

13 nonresident permits, the issuance of resident permits shall 14 continue until permit quotas have been filled or a reasonable
15 cutoff date reached. No permit shall be issued until after a 16 reasonable period for making application, as established by the 17 commission, has expired. When more valid applications are received 18 for any management unit than there are permits available, such 19 permits shall be allocated on the basis of a public drawing. All 20 valid applications received during the predetermined application
21 period shall be considered equally in any such public drawing 22 without regard to time of receipt of such applications by the 23 commission.

24 (f) No person shall be issued a permit to kill deer, 25 antelope, or elk unless such person is at least twelve years of 26 age, except that any person who is twelve through fifteen years of 27 age shall only hunt deer, antelope, or elk when accompanied by a
1 person twenty-one years of age or over.

2 (2) The commission may issue permits for the hunting and
3 killing of antelope and may establish separate and, when necessary,
4 different regulations therefor within the limitations prescribed in

7 charge a fee of not less than twenty dollars and not more than

8 twenty-five dollars for residents and not less than one hundred 9 dollars and not more than one hundred thirty dollars for 10 nonresidents for each permit issued under this subsection. The 11 provisions for the distribution of deer permits and the authority
12 of the commission to determine eligibility of applicants for 13 permits as described in subsection (1) of this section shall also 14 apply to the distribution of antelope permits.

15 (3) The commission may issue permits for the hunting and 16 killing of elk and may establish separate and, when necessary,
17 different regulations therefor within the limitations prescribed in 18 subsection (1) of this section for the taking of deer. Permits to 19 hunt and kill elk issued pursuant to this subsection shall not be 20 issued to nonresidents. The commission shall, pursuant to section 21 81-814.02, establish and charge a nonrefundable application fee of 22 not less than five dollars and not more than seven dollars and a 23 fee of not less than one hundred dollars and not more than one 24 hundred thirty dollars for each elk permit issued. A person may 25 obtain only one elk permit in his or her lifetime except for a 26 limited permit to hunt elk pursuant to section 37-215.03. The 27 provisions for the distribution of deer permits and the authority
1 of the commission to determine eligibility of applicants for
2 permits as described in subsection (1) of this section shall also
3 apply to elk permits.

4 (4) The commission may issue permits for the hunting and 5 killing of mountain sheep and may establish separate and, when 6 necessary, different regulations therefor within the limitations
7 prescribed in subdivisions (1)(a) and (f) of this section for the 8 taking of deer. Except as otherwise provided in this subsection, 9 the permits shall be issued to residents of Nebraska. The 10 commission shall, pursuant to section 81-814.02, establish and 11 charge a nonrefundable application fee of not less than twenty 12 dollars and not more than twenty-five dollars for permits issued 13 only to residents. Any number of resident-only permits, as 14 authorized by the commission, shall be awarded by random drawing to 15 eligible applicants. No permit fee shall be charged in addition to 16 the nonrefundable application fee. No more than one additional 17 permit may be authorized and issued pursuant to an auction open to 18 residents and nonresidents. The auction shall be conducted
19 according to rules and regulations prescribed by the commission.
20 Any money derived from the sale of permits by auction shall be used 21 only for perpetuation and management of mountain sheep, elk, and 22 deer. If the commission determines to limit the number of permits 23 issued for any or all management units, the commission shall by 24 rule and regulation determine eligibility requirements for the 25 permits. A person may obtain only one mountain sheep permit in his 26 or her lifetime.

27 (5)(a) ~~(4)(a)~~ Subject to rules and regulations adopted
1 and promulgated by the commission, the secretary of the commission
2 may designate special deer depredation seasons by executive order.

3 The secretary may designate a depredation season whenever he or she 4 determines that deer are causing excessive property damage. The 5 secretary shall specify the number of permits to be issued,
 6 shooting hours, the length of the depredation season, and the 7 geographic area in which hunting will be permitted. Each such 8 permit shall give the holder the right to take one deer. Hunting
 9 during a special depredation season shall be limited to residents
 10 and shall be restricted to firearms which are permissible for use
 11 during the regular deer season.

12 (b) The depredation season may commence not less than 13 five days after the first public announcement that the depredation

AM0449

- 1 1. Insert the following new sections:
- 2 "Sec. 6. Section 79-549, Reissue Revised Statutes of
- 3 Nebraska, is amended to read:
- 4 79-549. (1) The board of education of a Class III school
- 5 district of which more than seventy-five percent of the
- 6 geographical area lies within a city of the metropolitan class
- 7 shall consist of six members to be elected as provided in section
- 8 32-543 and also may include one or more nonvoting student members
- 9 selected pursuant to section 79-559. Until the registered voters
- 10 of the district vote not to continue to have a caucus for
- 11 nominations pursuant to subsection (2) of this section, a caucus
- 12 shall be held pursuant to subsection (3) of this section not less
- 13 than seventy days prior to the holding of the election to nominate
- 14 two or more candidates for each vacancy to be voted upon at the
- 15 election to be held in conjunction with the statewide primary
- 16 election. If the registered voters vote not to continue to have a
- 17 caucus, candidates shall be nominated at a primary election held in
- 18 conjunction with the primary election for the city of the
- 19 metropolitan class. No candidate nominated shall have his or her
- 20 name placed upon the ballot for the general election unless, not
- 21 more than ten days after his or her nomination, he or she files

- 24 shall certify the names of the candidates to the election
- 1 commissioner or county clerk who shall prepare the official ballot

2 listing the names as certified and without any area designation.
3 All registered voters residing within the school district shall be 4 permitted to vote at such election.

5 (2) The board of education may place before the 6 registered voters of the school district the issue of whether to 7 continue to have a caucus for nominations by adopting a resolution
8 to do so and certifying the issue to the election commissioner or 9 county clerk prior to September 1 for placement on the ballot at 10 the next statewide general election. The registered voters of the 11 school district may also have the issue placed on the ballot at the 12 statewide general election by circulating a petition and gathering
13 the signatures of the registered voters residing within the school
14 district at least equal to seven percent of the number of persons
15 registered to vote in the school district at the last statewide
16 primary election. The petitions shall be filed with the election 17 commissioner or county clerk for signature verification on or 18 before August 15 prior to a statewide general election. If the 19 election commissioner or county clerk determines that the 20 appropriate number of registered voters signed the petition, he or 21 she shall place the issue on the ballot for the next statewide
22 general election. The issue shall not be placed on the ballot
23 again within four years after voting on the issue at a statewide
24 general election.

25 (3) A school district which uses a caucus for nominations 26 shall develop rules and procedures for conducting the caucus which 27 will ensure:

1 (a) Publication of the rules and procedures by multiple
2 sources if necessary so that every resident of the school district
3 has access to information on the process for placing a name in 4 nomination and voting at the caucus;

5 (b) Facilities for voting at the caucus which comply with 6 the federal Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 and which will 7 accommodate a reasonably anticipated number of registered voters;

8 (c) Election security which will provide for a fair and 9 impartial election, including the secrecy of the ballot, one vote
10 per registered voter, and only registered voters of the school
11 district being allowed to vote;

12 (d) Equal access to all registered voters of the school
13 district, including the presence of an interpreter at the caucus at 14 the expense of the school district and ballots for the blind and 15 visually impaired to provide access to the process by all
16 registered voters of the school district;

17 (e) Adequate time and opportunity for registered voters
18 of the school district to exercise their right to vote; and

19 (f) Notification of nomination to the candidates and to 20 the secretary of the board of education.

21 The rules and regulations shall be approved by the 22 election commissioner or county clerk prior to use for a caucus.

 26 agency means the amount computed by dividing the total operating

7 (1) Department means the Department of Health and Human 8 Services;

9 (2) Person with a disability or disabled family member
10 means a person who has a medically determinable severe, chronic

11 disability which: (a) Is attributable to a mental or physical 12 impairment or combination of mental and physical impairments; (b)
13 is likely to continue indefinitely; (c) results in substantial

22 duration and are individually planned and coordinated; and

23 (3) Personal assistance services means assistance
24 provided by one or more persons as directed by a person with a

8 Sec. 4. The purpose of the Personal Assistance Services
9 Act is to establish and demonstrate a personal assistance services
10 delivery model in at least two sites, one in a metropolitan area
11 and one in a rural area. Such services are necessary to:

12 (1) Minimize the likelihood of institutionalization of 13 persons with disabilities and maximize their potential for 14 independent living in society;

15 (2) Enhance the capacity of families to meet the needs of 16 disabled family members;

17 (3) Remove disincentives for entering into and remaining
18 in a marriage;

19 (4) Strengthen, promote, and empower families to 22 children with disabilities;

23 (5) Prevent persons with disabilities from terminating
24 employment because of lack of personal assistance services;

27 persons with disabilities would be encouraged to engage in 1 employment and ultimately become self-supporting;

2 (7) Enhance the capacity of persons with disabilities to 3 self-direct their services;

4 (8) Reduce administrative costs of federal and state
5 programs by establishing a model which allows persons with 6 disabilities to control contracting, billing, payment, rate

8 (9) Make special outreach efforts for delivery of

- 9 personal assistance services to minority populations;
 10 (10) Determine applicability of the personal assistance
 11 services model for other populations, including persons with 12 cognitive disabilities or behavioral health disabilities, and older 13 Nebraskans; and
 14 (11) Enhance Nebraska's capacity to provide quality
 15 personal assistance services and expand and improve existing 16 personal assistance services being provided to persons with 17 disabilities and their families.
 18 Sec. 5. It is the intent of the Legislature to establish 19 two demonstration sites, one in a metropolitan area and one in a 20 rural area. The department and the statewide Independent Living
 21 Council together shall:
 22 (1) Determine financial guidelines for the demonstration
 23 sites;
 24 (2) Determine eligibility of persons with physical 25 disabilities, mental illnesses, and developmental disabilities.
 26 The demonstration projects should be designed in coordination with 27 Nebraska Developmental Disabilities and Behavioral Health State
 1 Plans;
 2 (3) Establish criteria for edibility;
 3 (4) Emphasize the self-directed approach to service
 4 delivery as outlined in the Nebraska Partnership Services
 5 Coordination Model at each demonstration site; and 6 (5) Insure the funding for the personal assistance
 7 services demonstration sites shall be supplemental to other support
 8 programs for which the family or disabled person is eligible. It 9 is not intended to reduce the responsibility for the provision of 10 services and support by such other programs from federal, state,
 11 local, and private sources, including public and private insurance
 12 coverage."
 13 2. Renumber the remaining sections and correct internal 14 references accordingly.

Mr. Elmer offered the following amendment:

AM0531

- 1 1. Strike original section 3 and insert the following
- 2 new sections:
- 3 "Section 1. Section 46-235.04, Revised Statutes
- 4 Supplement, 1996, is amended to read:
- 5 46-235.04. (1) Induced ground water recharge
- 6 appropriations shall be administered in the same manner as
- 7 prescribed by Chapter 46, article 2, for other appropriations.
- 8 Appropriations for induced ground water recharge may be canceled
- 9 and annulled as provided in section 46-229.04.
- 10 (2) The Department of Water Resources may approve the
- 11 transfer of priority dates among water wells, including replacement
- 12 water wells, located within a single well field that are subject to
- 13 an induced recharge appropriation, or are part of an application
- 14 for such an appropriation, to improve the water well field's
- 15 efficiency of operation with respect to river flow. The transfers
- 16 shall be approved if the department finds that (a) the transfers
- 17 would not increase the quantity of induced ground water recharge
- 18 under the original priority date or application, (b) the amount of
- 19 water withdrawn from water wells under the original priority date
- 20 or application would not increase, (c) the quantity of streamflow
- 21 needed to sustain well field operation under the original priority
- 22 date would decrease, (d) the transfer would not impair the rights
- 23 of other appropriators, and (e) the transfer is in the public
- 24 interest in the same manner as provided in section 46-235. The
- 1 department may assign multiple priority dates to a single water
- 2 well that replaces two or more water wells which are abandoned.
- 3 Replacement water wells installed pursuant to this subsection ~~may~~

4 ~~must~~ be installed without regard to the geographical limitation
5 found in the definition of replacement water well in section 46-602
6 if the replacement water well is located within the same well field
7 as the abandoned water well. Notice shall be furnished and any 8 hearing held as provided in sections 46-291 to 46-293. For 9 purposes of this subsection, the term "single well field" shall 10 mean those contiguous tracts of land owned or leased by the 11 applicant containing two or more water wells subject to induced 12 recharge.

13 Sec. 2. Section 46-602, Revised Statutes Supplement,
14 1996, is amended to read:

15 46-602. (1) For each water well completed in this state
16 on or after September 9, 1993, the water well contractor as defined 17 in section 46-1213 constructing the water well and the owner of the 18 water well shall complete the appropriate registration form after 19 the completion of the water well. The registration form for ~~(a)~~
20 water wells, ~~excluding replacement water wells and~~ excluding test 21 holes and dewatering wells with intended use of ninety days or 22 less, shall be filed with the Department of Water Resources by the 23 owner within thirty days after completion of the water well, ~~and~~ 24 ~~(b) replacement water wells shall be filed with the department at~~ 25 ~~the same time as the notice of abandonment of the water well being~~
26 ~~replaced as required by subsection (2) of this section. If no~~
27 ~~replacement water well is constructed at the time of abandonment~~
1 ~~but is constructed within the time provided in subsection (3) of~~
2 ~~this section, the registration form for such replacement water well~~
3 ~~shall be filed within thirty days after construction of such~~
4 ~~replacement water well. Registration shall be on a form provided~~
5 ~~by the Director of Water Resources. The form shall contain (i) (a)~~
6 ~~the name, address, and signature of the owner, (ii) (b) the legal~~
7 ~~description of the water well, (iii) (c) the date drilling~~
8 ~~commenced and the date construction was completed, (iv) (d) the~~ 9 ~~intended use of the water well, (v) (e) the description and depth~~
10 ~~of geologic materials encountered, (vi) (f) the depth and diameter~~
11 ~~or dimension of the constructed water well and test hole, (vii) (g)~~ 12 ~~the depth and diameter or dimension of the excavated hole if~~ 13 ~~applicable, (viii) (h) the depth of the formation stabilizer or~~ 14 ~~gravel pack and size of particles if used, (ix) (i) the depth and~~ 15 ~~thickness of grout or other sealing materials if applicable, (x)~~
16 ~~(j) casing information, including length, inside diameter, wall~~
17 ~~thickness, and type of material if applicable, (xi) (k) the static~~ 18 ~~water level, (xii) (l) the water level when pumped at the~~ 19 ~~designated rate, giving the rate of pumping and amount of time~~
20 ~~pumped, if applicable, (xiii) (m) the yield of the water well in~~ 21 ~~gallons per minute if applicable, (xiv) (n) the identification~~
22 ~~number of any permit for the water well issued pursuant to Chapter~~
23 ~~46, article 6, Chapter 66, article 11, or any other law, (xv) (o)~~
24 ~~the name, address, and license number of any license issued~~
25 ~~pursuant to the Water Well Standards and Contractors' Licensing Act~~

26 to any person, other than the owner of the water well, who 27 constructed the water well, ~~(xvi)~~ (p) screen information, including 1 length, trade name, inside and outside diameter, slot size, and 2 type of material if applicable, ~~(xvii)~~ (q) the signature of the 3 water well contractor, ~~(xviii)~~ (r) when the newly constructed water 4 well is a replacement water well, the registration number of the 6 original water well was or will be decommissioned, and ~~(xix)~~ (s)

7 such additional information conformable to the statement of purpose
8 contained in section 46-601 as the director requires. A series of 9 water wells completed for purposes of installation of a ground heat
10 exchanger for a structure for utilizing the geothermal properties
11 of the ground shall be considered as one water well, and one 12 registration form and detailed site plan shall be completed for 13 each such series. For water wells constructed as part of a single 14 site plan for monitoring ground water, obtaining hydrogeologic
15 information, or extracting contaminants from the ground and for 16 water wells constructed as part of remedial action approved by the 17 Department of Environmental Quality pursuant to section 66-1525,
18 66-1529.02, or 81-15,124, one registration form shall be required
19 which shall include a detailed site plan which shows the location
20 of each such water well in the site and a log from each such water
21 well. The Department of Water Resources shall be notified of any 22 change in the ownership of a water well required to be registered 23 under this section. Notification shall be in such form and shall 24 include such evidence of ownership as the director by rule and 25 regulation directs. The department shall use such notice to update
26 the registration on file. The registration requirement in this 27 subsection shall not apply to water wells constructed prior to 1 September 9, 1993, unless previously required to be registered.

2 (2) Whenever a water well becomes an illegal water well
3 as defined in section 46-1207.01, the owner of the water well shall 4 decommission the water well by completely filling and sealing the 5 water well cavity in accordance with the rules and regulations
6 adopted pursuant to the Water Well Standards and Contractors'
7 Licensing Act. The method specified in such rules and regulations
8 for filling and sealing water well cavities shall be designed to 9 eliminate any safety hazard created by illegal water wells and to 10 prevent deterioration in the quality of the underlying ground
11 water. Written Upon proper decommissioning of any water well, 12 written notice of any such the abandonment shall be provided by the 13 owner to the department within sixty days. The department shall 14 not collect a fee for the filing of the notice.

15 (3) For purposes of this section, replacement water well
16 means a water well which (a) replaces an abandoned water well
17 within three years of the last operation of the abandoned water
18 well or replaces a water well that will not be used after 19 construction of the new water well and the original water well will 20 be decommissioned within one year of construction of the new water

21 well and (b) is constructed to provide water to the same tract of 22 land as the ~~abandoned~~ served by the water well being replaced.

23 (4) For purposes of water well registration under this 24 section, registration fees shall be collected as provided in 25 sections 46-606 and 46-1224.

26 Sec. 3. Section 46-637, Reissue Revised Statutes of
 27 Nebraska, is amended to read:

1 46-637. The use of water described in section 46-636 may
 2 only be made after securing a permit from the Department of Water
 3 Resources for such use. In approving or disapproving applications
 4 for such permits, the Director of Water Resources shall take into 5 account the effect that such pumping may have on the amount of 6 water in the stream and its ability to meet the requirements of 7 appropriators from the stream. This section shall not apply to (1)
 8 water wells located within fifty feet of the bank of any natural
 9 stream which were in existence on September 9, 1993, and (2)
 10 replacement water wells as defined in subsection (3) of section
 11 46-602 that are located within fifty feet of the banks of a stream
 12 if the water wells being replaced were originally constructed prior 13 to September 9, 1993, and were located within fifty feet of the 14 bank of any natural stream.

15 Sec. 6. Original sections 46-235.04 and 46-637, Reissue

Standing Committee amendment to LB 531:

AM0463

1 1. Strike the original sections and insert the following
2 new sections:

3 "Section 1. Section 31-739, Revised Statutes Supplement,
4 1996, is amended to read:

5 31-739. (1) The district may borrow money for corporate 6 purposes and issue its general obligation bonds therefor and shall 7 annually levy a tax on the taxable value of the taxable property in 8 the district sufficient to pay the interest and principal on the 9 bonds. Such levy shall be known as the bond tax levy of the 10 district. The district shall also annually levy a tax on the 11 taxable value of the taxable property in the district for the 12 purpose of creating a sinking fund for the maintenance and 13 repairing of any sewer or water system or electric lines and 14 conduits in the district, for the payment of any hydrant rentals,
15 for the maintenance and repairing of any sidewalks, public roads, 16 streets, and highways, public waterways, docks, or wharfs, and 17 related appurtenances in the district, for the cost of operating 18 any street lighting system for the public streets and highways
19 within the district, for the building, construction, improvement, 20 or replacement of facilities or systems when necessary to remove or 21 alleviate an existing threat to public health and safety affecting 22 no more than one hundred existing homes, for the cost of building,
23 acquiring, maintaining, and operating public parks, playgrounds,
24 and recreational facilities, or, when permitted by section 31-727,
1 for contracting with other sanitary and improvement districts for 2 building, acquiring, maintaining, and operating public parks,
3 playgrounds, and recreational facilities for the joint use of the 4 residents of the contracting districts, or for the cost of any
5 other services for which the district has contracted or to make up
6 any deficiencies caused by the nonpayment of any special
7 assessments. Such levy shall be known as the operating levy of the 8 district. On or before September 20 of each year, the clerk of the 9 board shall certify the tax to the county clerk of the counties in 10 which such district is located in order that the tax may be 11 extended upon the county tax list. Nothing contained in this 12 section shall authorize any district which has been annexed by a 13 city or village to levy any taxes within or upon the annexed area 14 after the effective date of the annexation if the effective date of 15 the annexation is prior to such levy certification date of the 16 district for the year in which such annexation occurs.

17 (2) The county treasurer of the county in which the 18 greater portion of the area of the district is located shall be ex 19 officio treasurer of the sanitary and improvement district and 20 shall be responsible for all funds of the district coming into his 21 or her hands. He or she shall collect all taxes and special

22 assessments levied by the district and deposit the same in a bond
23 sinking fund for the payment of principal and interest on any bonds
24 outstanding.

25 (3) The trustees or administrator of the district may 26 authorize the clerk or appoint an independent agent to collect
27 service charges and all items other than taxes, connection charges,
1 special assessments, and funds from sale of bonds and warrants, but
2 all funds so collected shall, at least once each month, be remitted
3 to the treasurer to be held in a fund, separate from the general
4 fund or construction fund of the district, which shall be known as 5 the Service Fee Fund, which fund is hereby created. The trustees
6 or administrator may direct the district's treasurer to disburse
7 funds held in the Service Fee Fund to maintain and operate any 8 service for which the funds have been collected or to deposit such 9 funds into the general fund of the district.

10 (4) The treasurer of the district shall not be 11 responsible for such funds until they are received by him or her.
12 The treasurer shall disburse the funds of the district only on 13 warrants authorized by the trustees or the administrator and signed 14 by the chairperson and clerk or the administrator.

15 Sec. 2. Section 31-744, Revised Statutes Supplement,
16 1996, is amended to read:

17 31-744. Whenever the board of trustees or the 18 administrator deems it advisable or necessary to build,
19 reconstruct, purchase, or otherwise acquire a water system, an 20 emergency management warning system, a sanitary sewer system, a 21 sanitary and storm sewer or sewage disposal plant, pumping
22 stations, sewer outlets, gas or electric service lines and conduits
23 constructed or to be constructed in whole or in part inside or 24 outside of the district, a system of sidewalks, public roads,
25 streets, and highways wholly within the district, public waterways, 26 docks, or wharfs, and related appurtenances, wholly within the 27 district, or a public park or parks, playgrounds, and recreational 1 facilities wholly within the district, to contract, as permitted by 2 section 31-727, with other sanitary and improvement districts for 3 acquiring, building, improving, and operating public parks,
4 playgrounds, and recreational facilities for the joint use of the 5 residents of the contracting districts, or to contract for the 6 installation and operation of a water system, ~~the~~ the board of 7 trustees shall declare the advisability and necessity therefor in a
8 proposed resolution, which resolution, in the case of pipe sewer 9 construction, shall state the kinds of pipe proposed to be used,
10 shall include cement concrete pipe and vitrified clay pipe and any 11 other material deemed suitable, shall state the size or sizes and 12 kinds of sewers proposed to be constructed, and shall designate the 13 location and terminal points thereof. If it is proposed to 14 construct a water system, disposal plants, pumping stations, outlet 15 sewers, gas or electric service lines and conduits, or a system of 16 sidewalks, public roads, streets, or highways or public waterways, 17 docks, or wharfs, to construct or contract for the construction of 18 dikes and levees for flood protection for the district or public 19 parks, playgrounds, or recreational facilities, or to contract, as 20 permitted by section 31-727, with other sanitary and improvement

21 districts for acquiring, building, improving, and operating public
22 parks, playgrounds, and recreational facilities for the joint use 23 of the residents of the contracting districts, the resolution shall 24 refer to the plans and specifications thereof which have been made
25 and filed before the publication of such resolution by the engineer
26 employed for such purpose. If it is proposed to purchase or 27 otherwise acquire a water system, a sanitary sewer system, a
1 sanitary or storm water sewer, sewers, sewage disposal plant,
2 pumping stations, sewer outlets, gas or electric service lines and
3 conduits, or public parks, playgrounds, or recreational facilities
4 or to contract, as permitted by section 31-727, with other sanitary 5 and improvement districts for acquiring, building, improving, and 6 operating public parks, playgrounds, and recreational facilities
7 for the joint use of the residents of the contracting districts,
8 the resolution shall state the price and conditions of the purchase
9 or how such facility is being acquired. If it is proposed to 10 contract for the installation and operation of a water system for 11 fire protection and for the use of the residents of the district, 12 to contract for the construction of dikes and levees for flood 13 protection for the district or gas or electric service lines and 14 conduits, to contract with a county within which all or a portion 15 of such sanitary and improvement district is located or a city
16 within whose zoning jurisdiction the sanitary and improvement
17 district is located for any public purpose specifically authorized 18 in this section, or to contract, as permitted by section 31-727, 19 with other sanitary and improvement districts for acquiring,
20 building, improving, and operating public parks, playgrounds, and 21 recreational facilities for the joint use of the residents of the 22 contracting districts, the resolution shall state the principal 23 terms of the proposed agreement and how the cost thereof is to be 24 paid. When gas or electric service lines and conduits are among 25 the improvements that are proposed to be constructed, purchased, or 26 otherwise acquired or contracted for, and no construction 27 specifications and standards therefor have been established by the 1 municipality having zoning jurisdiction over the area where such 2 improvements are to be located, or when such service lines and 3 conduits are not to be located within any municipality's area of 4 zoning jurisdiction, the plans and specifications for and the 5 method of construction of such service lines and conduits shall be 6 approved by the supplier of gas or electricity within whose service
7 or customer area they are to be located. Such engineer shall also

8 make and file, prior to the publication of such resolution, an 9 estimate of the total cost of the proposed improvement. The 10 proposed resolution shall state the amount of such estimated cost.
11 The board of trustees or the administrator shall assess, to the 12 extent of special benefits, the cost of such improvements upon 13 properties specially benefited thereby, except that if the 14 improvement consists of the replacement of an existing facility,
15 system, or improvement that poses an existing threat to public
16 health and safety affecting no more than one hundred existing 17 homes, the cost of such improvements may be paid for by an issue of 18 general obligation bonds under section 31-755. The resolution 19 shall state the outer boundaries of the district or districts in 20 which it is proposed to make special assessments.

21 Sec. 3. Section 31-753, Reissue Revised Statutes of
22 Nebraska, is amended to read:

23 31-753. All special assessments provided for in section
24 31-739 shall become due in fifty days after the date of the levy
25 and may be paid within that time without interest, but if not so
26 paid they shall bear interest thereafter at the rate of ten percent
27 per annum until delinquent. Such assessments shall become 1 delinquent in equal annual installments over such periods of years,
2 not exceeding ten twenty, as the board of trustees or the 3 administrator may determine at the time of making the levy.
4 Delinquent installments shall bear interest at the rate set by the 5 district until paid and shall be collected in the usual manner for 6 the collection of taxes. For special assessments levied after 7 April 21, 1982, the district shall set a rate of interest for 8 delinquent installments which shall be the greater of two percent
9 per annum above the rate set by the district on such installments
10 before delinquency or the average rate of interest accruing on 11 construction fund warrants registered against such district sixty 12 days prior to the actual levy of the special assessments, except 13 that no such rate shall exceed the rate specified in section 14 45-104.01, as such rate may from time to time be adjusted by the 15 Legislature. If three or more installments shall be delinquent, 16 the board of trustees or the administrator may declare all of the 17 remaining installments to be at once delinquent and such 18 installments declared delinquent shall bear interest at the rate
19 specified in section 45-104.01, as such rate may from time to time
20 be adjusted by the Legislature, until paid and may be collected the 21 same as other delinquent installments may be collected.

22 Sec. 4. Original section 31-753, Reissue Revised
23 Statutes of Nebraska, and sections 31-739 and 31-744, Revised

Opinion No. 97014

DATE: February 21, 1997

SUBJECT: Constitutionality of LB 482

REQUESTED BY: Senator Stan Schellpeper, Chairperson,
General Affairs Committee

Laurie Smith Camp, Deputy Attorney General

You have asked whether a provision in LB 482 would withstand constitutional scrutiny. Specifically, you request our opinion on the constitutionality of the following language contained in Sections 4 and 16 of the bill:

Nothing in the act shall be construed or interpreted to limit the powers of local governing bodies to (1) suspend, cancel and revoke retail licenses, bottle club licenses, and craft brewery licenses

The governing body of any city or village with respect to licenses within its corporate limits and the governing body of any county with respect to licenses not within the corporate limits of any city or village but within the county shall have the following powers, functions, and duties with respect to retail, bottle club, and craft brewery licenses:

(2) To suspend, cancel or revoke, after receiving a citizen's complaint pursuant to Section 53-134.04 or on its own motion, any license if it determines that the licensee has violated any provision of the Nebraska Liquor Control act, any rule or regulation adopted and promulgated pursuant to the Act, or any ordinance, resolution, rule, or regulation relating to alcoholic liquor. Any administrative proceeding instituted by a local governing body to suspend, cancel, or revoke a license shall be a contested case conducted in accordance with the provisions of the Administrative Procedure Act. Such order of suspension, cancellation or revocation shall be subject to review as provided in Section 53-1,116 . .

As you note in your letter, the Nebraska Supreme Court has ruled that state laws which provided local governing bodies with authority to approve or deny retail liquor licenses were unconstitutional because they delegated authority to the local governing bodies without sufficient, definite, and adequate standards to guide those affected by them. In Bosselman, Inc. v. State, 230 Neb. 471 (1988), the Nebraska Supreme Court found that LB 911, passed in 1986, unconstitutionally delegated the state's legislative power regarding approval or denial of liquor licenses, because the standards by which such powers were to be administered by local governing bodies had not been clearly and definitely stated in the legislature's authorizing act and instead rested on indefinite, obscure, or vague generalities. Id. at 476. In 1989, the Nebraska Legislature attempted to address the deficiencies of LB 911 by enacting LB 781 to provide local governing bodies with the authority to grant or deny liquor licenses based on more explicit criteria. In 1992, the legislature took the additional precautionary measure of placing a proposed constitutional amendment on the November 1992 general election ballot to provide a constitutional basis for the authority of local governing bodies to approve or deny retail liquor licenses. The proposed amendment to the Nebraska Constitution was adopted, and became Art. XV, § 19, of the Constitution:

Notwithstanding any other provision of this Constitution, the governing bodies of municipalities and counties are empowered to approve, deny, suspend, cancel, or revoke retail and bottle club liquor licenses within their jurisdictions as authorized by the legislature.

On February 16, 1993, the provisions of LB 781 were reenacted through LB 183 to bolster the legislature's position that the provisions of LB 781 and LB 183 did not lack a constitutional basis. On April 9, 1993, the Nebraska Supreme Court addressed the issue of the constitutionality of LB 781 in the case of Kwik Shop, Inc. v. City of Lincoln, 243 Neb. 178 (1993). The Plaintiff, Kwik Shop, had challenged the constitutionality of LB 781 under both the Nebraska Constitution and Federal Constitution. The Nebraska Supreme Court found that the 20 standards established by LB 781 (codified at § 53-134(2)(a) through (t)) did not provide local governing bodies with adequate, sufficient, and definite standards within which to exercise their discretion, and did not provide potential applicants with a reasonable opportunity to know what was required to obtain a license. The Court found that the provisions of LB 781 incorporated in § 53-134 were, therefore, unconstitutionally vague and did not meet the requirements of procedural due process under the Fifth and Fourteenth Amendments to the United States Constitution. The Court also found that the provisions of LB 781 contained in § 53-134 were an unconstitutional delegation of power from a legislative authority to an administrative or executive authority, in violation of Art. II, § 1, of the Nebraska Constitution, because those provisions did not provide sufficient guidance to meet the requirements of a constitutional delegation of legislative power.

On April 29, 1993, this office issued its opinion #93034, concluding that LB 183 would be void for the same reasons that the Nebraska Supreme Court had found LB 781 and LB 911 to be void. In Marting v. Nebraska Liquor Control Commission, 250 Neb. 134 (1996), the Court found that despite the legislature's enactment of LB 183 after the adoption of Art. XV, § 19, of the Nebraska Constitution, the 1984 liquor statutes continued to control issues of liquor licensing.

Nebraska's liquor statutes have recognized the authority of local governing bodies to revoke retail liquor licenses "for cause" since the initial adoption of the Liquor Control Act in 1935. The power of local governing bodies to cancel retail licenses was added in 1983. See Neb. Rev. Stat. § 53-134 (1984). This same statute recognized the power of local governing bodies to cancel or revoke liquor licenses if a licensee was found to have violated "any valid and subsisting ordinance or regulation duly enacted relating to alcoholic liquors." The constitutionality of those delegations of power to the local governing bodies would be subject to the same standard of review as were the licensing powers delegated through LB 911, LB 781, and LB 183. A delegation of power to local governing bodies should withstand constitutional scrutiny as long as the delegation is not vague; includes adequate standards to guide the discretion of the local governing bodies; and provides adequate notice to the licensees regarding what actions may cause a suspension, cancellation, or revocation of a license. The proposed language in LB 482 now before the General Affairs Committee would authorize local governing bodies to suspend, cancel, or revoke a license if it is determined in accordance with the provisions of the Administrative Procedure Act that the licensee "has violated any provision of the Nebraska Liquor Control Act, any rule or regulation adopted and promulgated pursuant to the act, or any ordinance, or resolution, rule, or regulation relating to alcoholic liquor."

Liquor licensees have notice of the Nebraska Liquor Control Act, and of the rules and regulations adopted and promulgated by the Nebraska Liquor Control Commission pursuant to the Act. A delegation of authority by the Nebraska Legislature to local governing bodies authorizing them to take action against liquor licensees who violate such statutes or such rules or regulations of the Liquor Commission should not be held unconstitutional on the basis of inadequate notice, vagueness, or inadequate standards to guide discretion. It is more questionable, however, whether the legislature can authorize local governing bodies to suspend, cancel, or revoke liquor licenses based upon a licensee's violation of a local ordinance or a "resolution" or "rule or regulation" not promulgated by the Nebraska Liquor Control Commission pursuant to the Nebraska Liquor Control Act. There are no post-Bosselman Supreme Court cases addressing the power of local governing bodies to revoke or cancel liquor licenses. Even if the licensees were given adequate notice of the ordinances, resolutions, or rules and regulations of the local governing bodies, the proposed delegation of authority might be susceptible to challenge as vague, or lacking clear and definite standards for the exercise of authority by the local governing bodies.

Sincerely,
DON STENBERG
Attorney General

- 11 expertise and in the treatment of work-related injuries to serve as
- 12 independent medical examiners from each of the health care
- 13 specialties that the compensation court finds most commonly used by
- 14 injured employees. The compensation court may establish a fee
- 15 schedule for services rendered by independent medical examiners and

17 questions relating to the medical condition of the employee to be 18 submitted to the independent medical examiner. In addition to the 19 review of records and information, the independent medical examiner
20 may examine the employee as often as the examiner determines 21 necessary to render medical findings on the questions propounded by 22 the parties or by the compensation court.

23 (5) The independent medical examiner shall submit a 24 written report to the compensation court, the employer, and the 25 employee stating the examiner's medical findings on the issues
26 raised and providing a description of findings sufficient to 27 explain the basis of those findings. The fee for the examination
1 and report shall be paid by the employer.

2 (6) The written report of the independent medical 3 examiner's findings shall be admissible in a proceeding before the 4 compensation court and may be received into evidence by the 5 compensation court on its own motion. ~~If the parties agree to use
6 of a medical examiner, the examiner's findings shall be binding
7 unless the employee was not given fair and adequate notice of all 8 rights relinquished by the agreement at the time the agreement was 9 made in a form and manner established by the compensation court or 10 unless the agreement to the use of a medical examiner was procured
11 by fraud or coercion.~~

AMENDMENTS - Print in Journal

Messrs. Wickersham and Schellpeper filed the following amendment to LB 250:

AM0654

- 1 1. Strike original section 4 and insert the following
 2 new section:
 3 "Sec. 4. (1) For purposes of this section:
 4 (a) Political subdivision includes villages, cities of 5 all classes, counties, school districts, public power districts,
 6 and all other units of local government, including entities created
 7 by local public agencies pursuant to the Interlocal Cooperation
 8 Act. Political subdivision does not include any contractor with a 9 political subdivision;
 10 (b) Receiving entity means a political subdivision which 11 receives transferred employees from a separate political 12 subdivision; and
 13 (c) Transferring entity means a political subdivision
 14 which is transferring employees to a separate political 15 subdivision.
 16 (2) For transfers involving a retirement system which 17 maintains a defined benefit plan, the transfer value of the 18 transferring employee's accrued benefit shall be calculated by one
 19 or both of the retirement systems involved as follows:
 20 (a) If the retirement system of the transferring entity
 21 maintains a defined benefit plan, an initial benefit transfer value
 22 of the employee's accrued benefit shall be determined by
 23 calculating the present value of the employee's retirement benefit
 24 based on the employee's years of service as of the date of transfer
 1 and the other actuarial assumptions of the retirement system of the 2 transferring entity so that the effect on the retirement system of 3 the transferring entity will be actuarially neutral; and 4 (b) If the retirement system of the receiving entity
 5 maintains a defined benefit plan, the final benefit transfer value
 6 of the employee's accrued benefit shall be determined by
 7 calculating the present value of the employee's retirement benefit

8 as if the employee were employed on the date of transfer and had 9 completed the same amount of service with the same compensation as 10 the employee actually completed at the transferring entity prior to 11 transfer. The calculation shall then be based on the employee's 12 assumed years of service as of the date of transfer and the other 13 actuarial assumptions of the retirement system of the receiving 14 entity so that the effect on the retirement system of the receiving 15 entity will be actuarially neutral.

16 (3) A full-time or part-time employee of a transferring
17 entity who becomes an employee of a receiving entity pursuant to a 18 merger of services shall receive credit for his or her years of 19 participation in the retirement system of the transferring entity 20 for purposes of membership in the retirement system of the 21 receiving entity.

22 (4) An employee referred to in subsection (3) of this
23 section shall elect one of the following options:

24 (a) The employee may elect to take a termination benefit
25 in the retirement system of the transferring entity as if the 26 employee were terminating employment with the transferring entity 27 and shall thereafter be treated as a new employee for purposes of 1 the retirement system of the receiving entity; or

2 (b)(i) If the retirement system of the receiving entity
3 maintains a defined contribution plan, the employee may transfer 4 all of his or her funds by paying to the retirement system of the 5 receiving entity from funds held by the retirement system of the 6 transferring entity an amount equal to one of the following: (A)
7 If the retirement system of the transferring entity maintains a
8 defined benefit plan, an amount not to exceed the initial benefit 9 transfer value, leaving no funds attributable to the transferred 10 employee within the retirement system of the transferring entity,
11 or (B) if the retirement system of the transferring entity
12 maintains a defined contribution plan, an amount not to exceed the 13 employee and employer accounts of the transferring employee plus 14 earnings during the period of employment with the transferring 15 entity. The employee shall receive eligibility and vesting credit
16 for his or her years of service in a governmental plan, as defined 17 in section 414(d) of the Internal Revenue Code, maintained by the 18 transferring entity. Payment shall be made within five years after 19 employment begins with the receiving entity or prior to retirement,
20 whichever comes first, and may be made through direct payment,
21 installment payments, or an irrevocable payroll deduction
22 authorization; or

23 (ii) If the retirement system of the receiving entity
24 maintains a defined benefit plan, the employee may transfer all of 25 his or her funds out of the retirement system of the transferring 26 entity to purchase service credits that will generate a final 27 benefit transfer value not to exceed the employee's initial benefit
1 transfer value in the retirement system of the transferring entity.
2 After such purchase, the employee shall receive eligibility and

3 vesting credit in the retirement system of the receiving entity for 4 his or her years of service in a governmental plan, as defined in 5 section 414(d) of the Internal Revenue Code, maintained by the 6 transferring entity. The election to purchase service credit shall 7 be made within three years after the employment begins with the 8 receiving entity. The amount to be paid by the member for such 9 service credit shall equal the actuarial cost to the retirement
10 system of the receiving entity for allowing such additional service
11 credit to the employee. If any funds remain in the retirement
12 system of the transferring entity after the employee has purchased 13 service credits in the retirement system of the receiving entity,
14 such remaining funds shall be rolled over into another qualified 15 trust under section 401(a) of the Internal Revenue Code, an 16 individual retirement account, or an individual retirement annuity.
17 Payment shall be made within five years after the employee elects
18 to purchase the service credit or prior to retirement, whichever
19 comes first, and may be made through direct payment, installment
20 payments, or an irrevocable payroll deduction authorization.

21 (5) The transferring entity, the receiving entity, and 22 the employees who are being transferred may by binding agreement
23 determine which parties will provide funds to pay any amount needed 24 to purchase creditable service in the retirement system of the 25 receiving entity sufficient to provide a final benefit transfer
26 value not to exceed the employee's initial benefit transfer value, 27 if the amount of a direct rollover from the retirement system of 1 the transferring entity is not sufficient to provide a final
2 benefit transfer value in the retirement system of the receiving 3 entity.

4 (6) The retirement system of the receiving entity may 5 accept cash rollover contributions from a member who is making 6 payment pursuant to this section if the contributions do not exceed 7 the amount of payment required for the service credits purchased by 8 the member and the contributions represent (a) all or any portion 9 of the balance of the member's interest in a qualified trust under 10 section 401(a) of the Internal Revenue Code or (b) the interest of 11 the member from an individual retirement account or an individual
12 retirement annuity, the entire of which is attributable to a
13 qualified total distribution, as defined in the Internal Revenue 14 Code, from a qualified trust under section 401(a) of the code and 15 qualified as a tax-free rollover amount. The member's interest
16 under subdivision (a) or (b) of this subsection must be transferred 17 to the retirement system within sixty days after the date of the 18 distribution from the qualified trust, individual retirement
19 account, or individual retirement annuity.

20 (7) Cash transferred to the retirement system of the 21 receiving entity as a rollover contribution shall be deposited as 22 other contributions.

23 (8) The retirement system of the receiving entity may 24 accept direct rollover distributions made from a qualified trust

25 pursuant to section 401(a)(31) of the Internal Revenue Code. The 26 direct rollover distribution shall be deposited as all other 27 payments under this section.

1 (9) The receiving entity or its retirement system shall
 2 adopt provisions defining procedures for acceptance of rollovers
 3 which are consistent with sections 401(a)(31) and 402 of the 4 Internal Revenue Code.

5 (10) Any retirement system authorized pursuant to section
 6 14-1805, 15-1017, 16-1004, 16-1023, 19-3501, or 23-1118 or any 7 retirement system for a city of the metropolitan class authorized 8 pursuant to home rule charter shall be modified to conform with 9 this section prior to any merger of service involving such 10 system."

BILL ON FIRST READING

The following bill was read for the first time by title:

LEGISLATIVE BILL 610A. Introduced by Wesely, 26.

A BILL FOR AN ACT relating to appropriations; to appropriate funds to aid in carrying out the provisions of Legislative Bill 610, Ninety-fifth Legislature, First Session, 1997.

STANDING COMMITTEE REPORTS
Natural Resources

LEGISLATIVE BILL 656. Placed on General File as amended.
Standing Committee amendment to LB 656:
AM0521

1 1. Strike the original sections and insert the following
2 new sections:

3 "Section 1. The Legislature finds that the Niobrara
4 River corridor is a local, state, and national treasure and that 5 the natural diversity of the river corridor should be preserved
6 through maximizing cooperation between local landowners and other
7 Nebraska citizens, as well as local, state, and federal 8 governments. The federal Niobrara Scenic River Designation Act,
9 Public Law 102-50, designated a part of the river corridor as a 10 component of the national wild and scenic rivers system, and the 11 United States Department of the Interior, National Parks Service
12 issued a General Management Plan and Final Environmental Impact
13 Statement outlining management alternatives for the federally
14 designated portion of the river corridor. The preferred management 15 alternative suggests creation of a council pursuant to the 16 Interlocal Cooperation Act to coordinate planning and management
17 for the relevant portions of the river corridor in Cherry, Brown,
18 Rock, and Keya Paha counties. Due to the fact that all the people
19 of Nebraska have a stake in continued good stewardship of the land
20 and natural resources of the Niobrara River corridor, it is 21 appropriate that the Legislature provide financial resources to 22 assist the council in its efforts.

23 Sec. 2. For purposes of this act, council means the 24 Nebraska Scenic River Local Management Council formed pursuant to 1 the Interlocal Cooperation Act to carry out the intent stated in 2 section 1 of this act.

3 Sec. 3. The Legislature recognizes that the council can 4 provide important planning and management coordination for the 5 federally designated portions of the Niobrara River corridor if the 6 conditions in this section are met, and it is the intent of the 7 Legislature to annually appropriate fifty percent of the nonfederal
8 share of the costs of the council, up to a maximum of fifty
9 thousand dollars per year if: (1) The membership of the council
10 includes representatives of the county commissions or county boards
11 in Cherry, Brown, Rock, and Keya Paha counties, the Middle Niobrara
12 Natural Resources District, the Lower Niobrara Natural Resources 13 District, the Game and Parks Commission, the United States Fish and 14 Wildlife Service, and the National Parks Service; (2) Cherry, 15 Brown, Rock, and Keya Paha counties each adopt a comprehensive 16 zoning plan that include provisions for the federally designated 17 portions of the Niobrara River corridor in each county; (3) each

18 zoning-related ordinance or resolution adopted by any of the four 19 counties includes provisions for at least thirty days' notice by 20 the county to the council prior to the final public hearing and 21 final vote by the county on any zoning changes or revisions within 22 the federally designated portions of the Niobrara River corridor;
23 and (4) the council submits nonbinding opinions on all
24 zoning-related ordinances or resolutions noticed under subdivision
25 (3) of this section prior to the final public hearing or final vote
26 on the change or revision.

27 Sec. 4. (1) Any state or state-assisted activity or
1 undertaking proposed within the federal boundaries of a river
2 corridor designated pursuant to the federal Niobrara Scenic River
3 Designation Act or the Wild and Scenic Rivers Act of 1968, as 4 amended, shall be consistent with the purpose of the federal acts,
5 including the river corridor's free-flowing condition, scenic,
6 geological, biological, agricultural, historic, and prehistoric 7 resources.

8 (2) The head of any state or local agency having direct 9 or indirect jurisdiction over a proposed state or state-assisted 10 undertaking within the designated federal boundary of the Niobrara
11 River corridor and the head of any agency having authority to 12 license or permit any undertaking in such area shall at the 13 earliest feasible time prepare a detailed proposal and submit it to 14 the council for their review.

15 (3) The council shall review the proposal and consult 16 with the agency. If, within thirty days after such review and 17 consultation, the council finds that the proposed action is not 18 consistent with the purpose of this section, the agency shall not 19 proceed with the action until after a justification for the action
20 has been submitted to the Governor and approved by the Governor in 21 writing. The justification shall include the following elements:
22 The anticipated, current, future, and cumulative effects on the 23 scenic and natural resources of the designated river corridors, the 24 social and economic necessity for the proposed action, all possible
25 alternatives to the proposed action including a no action
26 alternative, the comparative benefits of proposed alternative 27 actions, and the mitigation measures outlined in the proposed
1 action."

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR

February 28, 1997

Patrick J. O'Donnell
Clerk of the Legislature
State Capitol, Room 2018
Lincoln, NE 68509

Dear Mr. O'Donnell:

Engrossed Legislative Bills 108, 194, 195, 222, 254, 106, 170, 261, 272, 52, 185, and 79 were received in my office on February 24, 1997.

These bills were signed by me on February 28, 1997, and delivered to the Secretary of State.

Sincerely,
(Signed) E. Benjamin Nelson
Governor

February 28, 1997

Madam President, Mr. Speaker and Members of the Legislature
State Capitol
Lincoln, NE 68509

Dear Madam President and Senators:

LB 18 was received in my office on February 24, 1997. The bill was signed by me on February 28, 1997 and delivered to the Secretary of State.

LB 18 makes much sense as it would help those noncustodial parents who make every effort to support their children. The bill would alleviate the problems of a person who is complying with an income withholding order and who has support automatically withheld from his/her paycheck from being considered delinquent simply because of a disparity caused by timing.

Now, we must move forward and take another step by passing LB 752 as it comes before you. LB 752 will provide the tools to Nebraska's child support enforcement efforts to ensure that everyone who should pay child support, does pay, by authorizing license suspension by the state for non-payment of support owed. In 1996, $76 million of current court ordered support was unpaid in Nebraska. Our children suffer when their parents shirk their responsibility by failing to pay child support and the taxpayers of Nebraska carry an increased financial burden of support through public assistance programs.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,
(Signed) E. Benjamin Nelson
Governor

19 77-3513. (1) ~~For tax year 1995, all persons who apply~~
 20 ~~for a homestead exemption provided in sections 77-3507 to 77-3509~~
 21 ~~shall file an application pursuant to section 77-3512.~~ For tax
 22 year 1996 and subsequent tax years, except as required by section
 23 77-3514, if an owner is granted a homestead exemption as provided 24 in section 77-3507 or 77-3509 or subdivision (1)(b), (c), (d), or 25 (e) of section 77-3508, no reapplication need be filed for 26 succeeding years, in which case the county assessor and Tax
 27 Commissioner shall determine whether the claimant qualifies for the 1 homestead exemption in such succeeding years as otherwise provided
 2 in sections 77-3501 to 77-3529 as though a claim were made.

3 (2) It shall be the duty of each claimant who wants the 4 homestead exemption provided in subdivision (1)(a) of section
 5 77-3508 to file an application therefor with the county assessor on
 6 or before ~~May 31 in 1996 and April 30 in subsequent years~~ June 30
 7 of each year. Failure to do so shall constitute a waiver of the 8 exemption for such year, except that the county board of the county 9 in which the homestead is located may, by majority vote, extend the 10 deadline to on or before ~~June 20 in 1996 and May 20 in subsequent~~ 11 ~~years~~ July 20 of each year. An extension shall not be granted to 12 an applicant who received an extension in the immediately preceding 13 year.

14 Sec. 29. Section 77-3514, Reissue Revised Statutes of
15 Nebraska, is amended to read:

16 77-3514. In ~~tax year 1996 and subsequent tax years; a~~ A 17 claimant who is the owner of a homestead which has been granted an 18 exemption under sections 77-3507 to 77-3509, except subdivision
19 (1)(a) of section 77-3508, shall certify to the county assessor on
20 or before ~~May 31 in 1996 and April 30 in subsequent years~~ June 30 21 of each year that a change in the homestead exemption status has 22 occurred or that no change in the homestead exemption status has 23 occurred. The county board of the county in which the homestead is 24 located may, by majority vote, extend the deadline to on or before
25 ~~June 20 in 1996 and May 20 in subsequent years~~ July 20 of each 26 year. An extension shall not be granted to an applicant who 27 received an extension in the immediately preceding year. For 1 purposes of this section, change in the homestead exemption status
2 shall include any change in the name of the owner, ownership,
3 residence, occupancy, marital status, veteran status, or rating by 4 the United States Department of Veterans Affairs or any other
5 change that would affect the qualification for or type of exemption
6 granted, except income checked by the Tax Commissioner under 7 section 77-3517. The certificate shall require the attachment of 8 an income statement as prescribed by the Tax Commissioner fully 9 accounting for all household income. The certification and the 10 information contained on any attachments to the certification shall 11 be confidential and available to tax officials only. In addition,
12 a claimant who is the owner of a homestead which has been granted 13 an exemption under sections 77-3507 to 77-3509 may notify the 14 county assessor by August 15 of each year of any change in the 15 homestead exemption status occurring in the preceding portion of 16 the calendar year as a result of a transfer of the homestead
17 exemption pursuant to sections 77-3509.01 and 77-3509.02. If by 18 his or her failure to give such notice any property owner permits 19 the allowance of the homestead exemption for any year, or in the 20 year of application in the case of transfers pursuant to sections 21 77-3509.01 and 77-3509.02, after the homestead exemption status of 22 such property has changed, an amount equal to the amount of the 23 taxes lawfully due but not paid by reason of such unlawful and 24 improper allowance of homestead exemption, together with penalty
25 and interest on such total sum as provided by statute on delinquent
26 ad valorem taxes, shall be due and shall upon entry of the amount 27 thereof on the books of the county treasurer be a lien on such
1 property while unpaid. Such lien may be enforced in the manner
2 provided for liens for other delinquent taxes. Any person who has 3 permitted the improper and unlawful allowance of such homestead
4 exemption on his or her property shall, as an additional penalty,
5 also forfeit his or her right to a homestead exemption on any 6 property in this state for the two succeeding years.

7 Sec. 30. Section 77-3516, Reissue Revised Statutes of
8 Nebraska, is amended to read:

9 77-3516. The county assessor shall examine each 10 application for homestead exemption filed with him or her for an 11 exemption pursuant to sections 77-3507 to 77-3509 and shall 12 determine, except for the income requirements, whether or not such 13 application should be approved or rejected. If the application is 14 approved, the county assessor shall mark the same approved and sign 15 the application. In case he or she finds that the exemption should 16 not be allowed by reason of not being in conformity to law, the 17 county assessor shall mark the application rejected and state
 18 thereon the reason for such rejection and sign the application. In 19 any case when the county assessor rejects an application for 20 exemption, he or she shall notify the applicant of such action by 21 mailing written notice to the applicant at the address shown in the 22 application, which notice shall be mailed not later than ~~June 30 in~~ 23 ~~1996 and May 31 in subsequent years~~ July 31 of each year, except 24 that in cases of a change in ownership or occupancy from January 1
 25 through August 15 or a late application authorized by the county
 26 board, the notice shall be sent within a reasonable time. The 27 notice shall be on forms prescribed by the Tax Commissioner.

1 Sec. 31. Section 77-3517, Reissue Revised Statutes of
 2 Nebraska, is amended to read:

3 77-3517. (1) On or before ~~July 1 in 1996 and June 1 in~~ 4 ~~subsequent years~~ August 1 of each year, the county assessor shall 5 forward approved applications for homestead exemptions and a copy
 6 of the certification of disability status to the Tax Commissioner
 7 who shall determine if the applicant meets the income requirements
 8 and, on or before November 1, certify his or her determinations to 9 the county assessor. If the application is approved, the county
 10 assessor shall make the proper deduction on the assessment rolls.
 11 If the application is denied or approved in part, the Tax
 12 Commissioner shall notify the applicant of the denial or partial 13 approval by mailing written notice to the applicant at the address
 14 shown on the application. The applicant may appeal the Tax
 15 Commissioner's denial or partial approval pursuant to section
 16 77-3520. Late applications authorized by the county board shall be 17 processed in a similar manner after approval by the county
 18 assessor.

19 (2)(a) Upon his or her own action or upon a request by an 20 applicant, a spouse, or an owner-occupant, the Tax Commissioner may 21 review the income information of applicants. Any action taken by 22 the Tax Commissioner pursuant to this subsection shall be taken 23 within three years after December 31 of the year in which the 24 exemption was claimed.

25 (b) If an exemption should have been approved or 26 increased for reasons of the income requirements, the Tax
 27 Commissioner shall notify the applicant, spouse, or owner-occupant
 1 and the county treasurer and assessor of his or her determination.
 2 The applicant, spouse, or owner-occupant shall receive a refund of 3 the tax, if any, that was paid as a result of the exemption being

4 denied, in whole or in part. The county treasurer shall make the 5 refund and shall amend the county's claim for reimbursement from 6 the state.

7 (c) If an exemption should have been denied or reduced
8 for reasons of the income requirements, the Tax Commissioner shall 9 notify the applicant, spouse, or owner-occupant of such denial or 10 reduction. The applicant, the spouse, and any owner-occupant may 11 appeal the Tax Commissioner's denial or reduction pursuant to 12 section 77-3520. Upon the expiration of the appeal period in 13 section 77-3520, the Tax Commissioner shall notify the county
14 assessor of the denial or reduction and the county assessor shall 15 remove or reduce the exemption from the tax rolls of the county.
16 Upon notification by the Tax Commissioner to the county assessor,
17 the amount of tax due as a result of the action of the Tax
18 Commissioner shall become a lien on the homestead until paid. Upon 19 attachment of the lien, the county treasurer shall refund to the 20 Tax Commissioner the amount of tax equal to the denied or reduced 21 exemption for deposit into the General Fund. No lien shall be 22 created if a change in ownership of the homestead or death of the 23 applicant, the spouse, and all other owner-occupants has occurred
24 prior to the Tax Commissioner's notice to the county assessor.

25 Sec. 33. Section 77-3528, Reissue Revised Statutes of
26 Nebraska, is amended to read:

1 by section 77-3527 shall make application to the county assessor
2 upon forms prescribed and furnished by the Tax Commissioner. Such
3 application shall be made on or before ~~May 31 in 1996 and April 30~~
4 ~~in subsequent years~~ June 30 of each year. Exemptions claimed

3 "Section. 1. Section 28-325, Reissue Revised Statutes of
4 Nebraska, is amended to read:

5 28-325. The Legislature hereby finds and declares:

6 (1) That the following provisions were motivated by the 7 legislative intrusion of the United States Supreme Court by virtue
8 of its decision removing the protection afforded the unborn.
9 Sections 28-325 to 28-345 and section 3 of this act are in no way
10 to be construed as legislatively encouraging abortions at any stage 11 of unborn human development, but are rather an expression of the 12 will of the people of the State of Nebraska and the members of the 13 Legislature to provide protection for the life of the unborn child
14 whenever possible;

15 (2) That the members of the Legislature expressly deplore
16 the destruction of the unborn human lives which has and will occur
17 in Nebraska as a consequence of the United States Supreme Court's 18 decision on abortion of January 22, 1973;

19 (3) That it is in the interest of the people of the State
20 of Nebraska that every precaution be taken to insure the protection 21 of every viable unborn child being aborted, and every precaution be 22 taken to provide life-supportive procedures to insure the unborn
23 child its continued life after its abortion;

24 (4) That currently this state is prevented from providing 1 adequate legal remedies to protect the life, health, and welfare of 2 pregnant women and unborn human life; and

3 (5) That it is in the interest of the people of the State
4 of Nebraska to maintain accurate statistical data to aid in 5 providing proper maternal health regulations and education.

6 Sec. 2. Section 28-326, Revised Statutes Supplement,
7 1996, is amended to read:

8 28-326. For purposes of sections 28-325 to 28-345 and 9 section 3 of this act, unless the context otherwise requires:

10 (1) Abortion ~~shall mean~~ means the use or prescription of 11 any instrument, medicine, drug, or other substance or device

12 intentionally to terminate the pregnancy of a woman known to be 13 pregnant with an intention other than to increase the probability 14 of a live birth, to preserve the life or health of the child after 15 live birth, or to remove a dead unborn child, and which causes the 16 premature termination of the pregnancy;

17 (2) Hospital ~~shall mean~~ means those institutions licensed 18 by the Department of Health and Human Services Regulation and 19 Licensure pursuant to sections 71-2017 to 71-2029;

20 (3) Physician ~~shall mean~~ means any person licensed to 21 practice medicine in this state as provided in sections 71-102 to 22 71-110;

23 (4) Pregnant ~~shall mean~~ means that condition of a woman
24 who has unborn human life within her as the result of conception;

25 (5) Conception ~~shall mean~~ means the fecundation of the 26 ovum by the spermatozoa;

27 (6) Viability ~~shall mean~~ means that stage of human
1 development when the unborn child is potentially able to live more
2 than merely momentarily outside the womb of the mother by natural
3 or artificial means;

4 (7) Emergency situation ~~shall mean~~ means that condition
5 which, on the basis of the physician's good faith clinical 6 judgment, so complicates the medical condition of a pregnant woman
7 as to necessitate the immediate abortion of her pregnancy to avert
8 her death or for which a delay will create serious risk of 9 substantial impairment of a major bodily function; and

10 (8) Probable gestational age of the unborn child ~~shall~~ 11 mean means what will with reasonable probability, in the judgment 12 of the physician, be the gestational age of the unborn child at the 13 time the abortion is planned to be performed; and

14 (9) Partial-birth abortion means an abortion procedure in 15 which the person performing the abortion partially delivers 16 vaginally a living unborn child before killing the unborn child and 17 completing the delivery.

18 Sec. 3. (1) No partial-birth abortion shall be performed
19 in this state, unless such procedure is necessary to save the life
20 of the mother whose life is endangered by a physical disorder, 21 physical illness, or physical injury, and no other medical 22 procedure would suffice for that purpose.

23 (2) The intentional and knowing performance of an 24 unlawful partial-birth abortion in violation of subsection (1) of 25 this section is a Class III felony.

26 (3) No woman upon whom an unlawful partial-birth abortion

7 Sec. 4. Section 28-340, Reissue Revised Statutes of 12 district court for all consequential damages, lost wages,

13 reasonable attorney's fees incurred, and the cost of litigation.

15 Nebraska, is amended to read:

16 71-148. For purposes of section 71-147, unprofessional
17 conduct ~~shall mean~~ means any departure from or failure to conform

21 injured, or conduct that is likely to deceive or defraud the public

2 itself by symptoms of sufficient severity, including, but not 3 limited to, severe pain, that a prudent layperson, possessing an

17 Sec. 19. Person means an individual, a corporation, a 18 partnership, an association, a joint venture, joint stock company,

21 Sec. 20. The Managed Care Patient Protection Act applies
22 to all health carriers that offer managed care plans.

23 Sec. 21. A health carrier shall not offer an inducement
24 under a managed care plan to a health care provider to provide less
25 than medically necessary services under the terms of the managed
26 care plan to a covered person.

27 Sec. 22. A health carrier shall not prohibit a 1 participating provider from discussing treatment options with 2 covered persons irrespective of the health carrier's position on 3 the treatment options or from advocating on behalf of covered
4 persons within the utilization review or grievance processes
5 established by the carrier or a person contracting with the 6 carrier.

7 Sec. 23. (1) A health carrier which provides a covered
8 benefit for emergency services is, subject to the terms and 9 conditions of the health benefit plan, responsible for charges for 11 person, including services furnished outside the network and 12 services deemed approved under subsection (2) of this section.

13 (2) If a treating physician or other emergency department
14 personnel who have provided emergency services to a person covered 15 by a health carrier determine that additional medically necessary

16 services are promptly needed by the covered person and they have 17 requested health carrier approval for such services, the health
 18 carrier is deemed to have approved the request if the treating 19 physician or other emergency department personnel involved:

20 (a) Has made a reasonable effort to contact the 21 individual at the health carrier authorized to approve such 22 requests and the health carrier has not provided access to that 23 individual; or

24 (b) Has requested authorization from the individual at 25 the health carrier authorized to approve such requests and the 26 individual has not denied authorization within thirty minutes after 27 the time the request was made, unless the plan can document that it
 1 had made a good faith effort but was unable to reach the emergency
 2 physician within thirty minutes after receiving a request for 3 authorization.

4 A request which is deemed approved under this subsection
 5 shall be treated as approval for any medically necessary covered
 6 benefits that are required to treat the medical condition
 7 identified by the treating physician or other emergency department
 8 personnel.

9 (3) A health carrier may impose a reasonable copayment
 10 for emergency services to deter inappropriate use of services of 11 hospital emergency departments if the copayment is the same without 12 regard to whether the health care professional or facility has a 13 contractual or other arrangement with the health carrier.

14 Sec. 24. The Department of Insurance shall enforce the 15 Managed Care Patient Protection Act. The department may use the 16 types of penalties and remedies available under the Health
 17 Maintenance Organization Act to enforce the Managed Care Patient 18 Protection Act."

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 97015

DATE: March 3, 1997

SUBJECT: LB 878; Constitutionality of a Buy-Out Program

for State Employees

Nebraska State Legislature

Dale A. Comer, Assistant Attorney General

In our Op. Att'y Gen. No. 97002 (January 8, 1997), we discussed a number of questions pertaining to state employee buy-outs posed to us by Lawrence Primeau, the Director of the Nebraska Department of Administrative Services ("DAS"). In his opinion request, Mr. Primeau raised several issues involving the propriety and constitutionality of possible legislation which would permit state employee buy-outs. Based upon our policy of responding to opinion requests from state officials only with respect to questions arising "in the discharge of their duties," we declined to answer Mr Primeau's questions concerning the constitutionality of possible legislation dealing with state employee buy-outs, and we stated that we preferred to address such constitutional questions in the context of an opinion request from a legislator in reference to specific proposed legislation. You have now posed such constitutional questions in reference to LB 878, a legislative bill pertaining to state employee buy-outs.

LB 878 would require the Personnel Division of DAS to "develop, administer, and coordinate all requests from agencies for an employee buy-out program." The Personnel Division would further "determine under what conditions a buy-out is offered, including the appropriateness of a buy-out and the number of buy-outs to be offered." Section 1 of the bill also includes the following specific findings by the Legislature:

The Legislature finds that the state must use its human resources in the most cost-effective manner possible by employing skilled workers at reasonable rates and in positions in which their skills will be best utilized. The Legislature also finds that it is necessary to create a program that will give state employees the opportunity to leave state government with compensation for surrendering vested rights under the State Personnel System or the state's collective-bargaining agreement.

LB 878 goes on to define the "employees" which would be subject to the bill as those state employees covered under the State Personnel System or a collective bargaining agreement, and the bill would apply only to the state agencies, departments, or boards whose employees fit into those categories. LB 878 also creates the following procedure for establishment of a buy-out program:

If an agency determines there is a need for a buy-out program, the director of the affected agency shall submit a proposed plan detailing the scope of the buy-out, addressing such factors as geographic sites, classifications impacted, future agency needs, and potential costs. The Director of Administrative Services shall be responsible for approving any buy-out plan prior to the offering of the plan to eligible employees.

LB 878 does not define the term "buy-out;"¹ nor does the bill describe the particulars of any employee rights which might be the subject of a buy-out program or how those rights might be valued.

You first ask, "[d]oes LB 878 allow impermissible compensation to state employees that is contrary to the constitutional provision prohibiting the payment of extra compensation after services are rendered? (Article III, Section 19)"

Art. III, § 19 of the Nebraska Constitution provides, in pertinent part,

The Legislature shall never grant any extra compensation to any public officer, agent, or servant after the services have been rendered nor to any contractor after the contract has been entered into, . . . nor shall the compensation of any public officer, including any officer whose compensation is fixed by the Legislature, be increased or diminished during his term of office . . .

Since LB 878 specifically applies to state employees rather than officers of state government, we will concern ourselves only with the initial portion of art. III, § 19.

The purpose of state constitutional provisions prohibiting extra compensation to public employees after services are rendered is to prevent payments in the nature of gratuities for past services. 67 C.J.S. Officers § 236. As stated by the Nebraska Supreme Court in Wilson v. Marsh, 162 Neb. 237, 75 N.W.2d 723 (1956), a case which, in part, involved the application of art. III, § 19 to judicial pensions:

It could hardly be made clearer or more positive that retirement benefits are either earned compensation for services rendered after the grant of them and that they are therefore valid or that they are a gratuity and not a part of compensation and therefore invalid.

Id. at 253, 75 N.W.2d at 733. As a result, if the language of LB 878 allows buy-out programs which might constitute gratuities for past services, then the provisions of the bill are of suspect constitutionality. On the other hand, if the only buy-out programs permitted by LB 878 involve payment to state employees for the actual value of existent rights earned when services were rendered rather than gratuities, then the bill is acceptable under art. III, § 19.

While Section 1 of LB 878 detailing legislative findings refers to compensation for the surrender of "vested" employee rights under the Personnel System or collective bargaining agreements, that is the only reference in the bill to the nature of the employee rights which would be subject to the buy-out process. Beyond that reference, the term "buy-out" is not defined in LB 878, and the bill does not specify either the nature of the rights subject to the buy-out process or the manner in which those rights must be valued. Instead, the bill essentially leaves the determination of the conditions of a buy-out and its "appropriateness" to the DAS Personnel Division and the Director of DAS. As a result, there is no way to determine on the face of LB 878 whether the buy-outs contemplated under the bill would involve improper gratuities for past services or permissible payment for the actual value of existent rights earned when services were rendered. It seems to us, therefore, that LB 878 does allow impermissible compensation to state employees in contravention of art. III, § 19 simply because it fails to specify the exact nature of the rights which would be subject to a buy-out program and how those rights must be valued.

You also ask, "[w]hat rights and benefits do state employees possess that would enable the state to offer a monetary buy-out?"

As discussed above, art. III, § 19 of the Nebraska Constitution prohibits gratuities for past services. Therefore, it would appear that the acceptability of any buy-out program under art. III, § 19 involves two considerations. The buy-out cannot constitute a gratuity. Nor can the payment included with the buy-out be for past services.

In the context of government employee pension benefits, the Nebraska Supreme Court has indicated that an award of pension benefits to particular government employees involves an impermissible gratuity for past services when the services of those employees were rendered and terminated before the date of the legislative act awarding the benefits. Retired City Civilian Employees Club of the City of Omaha v. The City of Omaha Employees' Retirement System, 199 Neb. 507, 260 N.W.2d 472 (1977). On the other hand, all that is necessary to avoid this problem with benefits for past services is that the employees receiving the pension benefits in question be employees of the governmental entity on the effective date of the Act creating the benefits. Gossman v. State Employees Retirement System of the State of Nebraska, 177 Neb. 326, 129 N.W.2d 97 (1964). In the present instance, the employees subject to buy-outs under LB 878 are defined as "those employees covered under the State Personnel System or a collective bargaining agreement." Under that definition, the persons receiving the benefit of the buy-outs would necessarily be current employees of the State of Nebraska. As a result, we do not believe that the bill involves a payment for past services.

Permissible buy-out payments also cannot constitute gratuities. A

gratuity, in turn, is something acquired without bargain or inducement, or a gift. BLACK'S LAW DICTIONARY 631 (5th ed. 1979). With this definition in mind, it seems to us that payments to state employees in a buy-out program must involve an actual or existent right which the individual employee possesses, and that the amount of the payment for the buy-out must reflect the actual value of the right, as best it can be ascertained. Anything beyond that would constitute both a gift and an impermissible gratuity.

State employees who are covered by the State Personnel System or collective bargaining agreements have a number of statutory rights which are clearly existent rights subject to valuation. For example, under Neb. Rev. Stat. § 81-1328 (1994), state employees earn vacation time and can be paid for that time if they are dismissed or voluntarily leave state employment. Similarly, under Neb. Rev. Stat. §§ 81-1320 and 81-1325 (1994), state employees earn sick leave and can be paid for accumulated portions of that leave upon retirement under certain circumstances. We believe that payment for the readily ascertainable value of such rights in a buy-out program would not involve an impermissible gratuity.

In our Opinion No. 97002, we also discussed other rights available to state employees in response to specific questions from the Director of DAS. We were asked whether there is a legal right to continued employment in Nebraska, whether such a right can be valued and whether employee "bumping rights" can be valued.² In Opinion No. 97002, we concluded that certain state employees subject to the Personnel Rules or labor contracts have the rights established by those enactments or agreements and are not employees "at will." We also indicated that the rights of those employees and state employee bumping rights could theoretically be valued, although we were uncertain about what valuation theory would be used, and we were concerned about the speculative nature of that valuation process. Nonetheless, since certain state employees are not entirely employees "at will," and since those rights and state employee bumping rights can, in theory, be valued, we believe that such rights could form the basis for a state employee buy-out program. However, we would caution that the valuation process for such a buy-out program must be sufficiently precise so as to avoid any payment beyond the actual value of the rights at issue. Otherwise, the buy-out program would involve an impermissible gratuity. Moreover, we believe that the valuation process involved in such an employee buy-out program should be stated in the enabling statute in order to avoid the difficulty with LB 878 where the lack of precise definitions and definite valuation procedures could allow impermissible gratuitous buy-outs.

² As we noted in Opinion No. 97002, to "bump" is to fill a position with an employee of greater seniority at the expense of one with less seniority, so that the senior employee can avoid layoff. Smith v. Sorensen, 748 F.2d 427 (8th Cir. 1984).

Sincerely yours,
DON STENBERG

3 All banking transactions allowed by law may be made at a 4 detached branch bank acquired pursuant to this subsection. Such 5 detached branch banks shall not count against the number of 6 locations of detached branch banks permitted under subdivisions
7 (2)(c) and (2)(d) of this section. The restrictions contained in 8 this subsection shall not limit the authority of a bank to acquire 9 another bank and to continue to operate the mobile branch bank and 10 all of the detached branch banks of the acquired bank as a mobile 11 branch bank and detached branch banks of the acquiring bank. The 12 detached branch bank or eligible savings association acquired as a 13 detached branch bank under this subsection and section 8-1515 shall 14 continue to be entitled to establish and maintain such branches as 15 it could have established and maintained if such acquisition had 16 not occurred. Regardless of the date of acquisition of such 17 detached branch bank or eligible savings association or whether the 18 acquired detached branch bank or eligible savings association was 19 state-chartered or federally chartered, the acquired detached 20 branch bank or eligible savings association shall be deemed for 21 purposes of this subsection to have been permitted to establish and 22 maintain a mobile branch bank and detached branches solely to the 23 extent permitted to state-chartered financial institutions under 24 subsection (2) of this section or under section 8-345.02 at the 25 time of establishment of a new mobile branch bank or detached 26 branch.

27 (6) With the approval of the director, a bank may acquire 1 a branch of a savings association which is a successor to an
2 eligible savings association if such acquisition occurs within 3 ninety days of the date the successor savings association acquired
4 the eligible savings association and the branch is converted to a 5 detached branch bank of the acquiring bank. The detached branch of 6 an eligible savings association acquired as a detached branch bank
7 under this subsection and section 8-1515 shall continue to be 8 entitled to establish and maintain a mobile branch bank and such 9 branches as it could have established and maintained if such 10 acquisition had not occurred. Regardless of the date of 11 acquisition of such detached branch of an eligible savings
12 association or whether the acquired detached branch of an eligible 13 savings association was state-chartered or federally chartered, the 14 acquired detached branch of an eligible savings association shall 15 be deemed for purposes of this subsection to have been permitted to 16 establish and maintain a mobile branch bank and detached branches
17 solely to the extent permitted to state-chartered financial 18 institutions under section 8-345.02 at the time of establishment of 19 a new mobile branch bank or detached branch.

20 (7) With the approval of the director and subject to the 21 limitations specified in this subsection, a single bank may 22 establish one detached branch bank within the corporate limits of 23 any municipality in which a financial institution has closed and 24 ceased doing business within the preceding two years if no other 25 financial institution operates an office within such municipality.

26 If thirty days or less have elapsed since the financial institution
27 ceased operation, the director shall only approve the establishment
1 of a detached branch bank by a bank which has its place of 2 business, as specified in its charter, in the same county as or in 3 a contiguous county to the county in which such municipality is 4 located. If more than thirty days have elapsed since the financial 5 institution ceased operation, the director may approve the 6 establishment of a detached branch bank by any bank located within 7 Nebraska.

8 For purposes of this subsection:

9 (a) An unattended automatic teller machine shall not be 10 deemed to be an office operated by a financial institution; and

11 (b) Financial institution ~~shall mean~~ means a bank,
12 savings bank, building and loan association, savings and loan
13 association, industrial loan and investment company, credit union, 14 or other institution offering automatic teller machine
15 transactions.

16 (8) The name given to any detached branch bank
17 established and maintained pursuant to this section shall not be 18 substantially similar to the name of any existing bank or branch
19 bank which is unaffiliated with the newly created detached branch 20 bank and is located in the same municipality. The name of such 21 newly created detached branch bank shall be approved by the 22 director.

23 (9) A bank which has a main chartered office or an 24 approved branch bank located in the State of Nebraska may, through 25 any of its executive officers, including executive officers
26 licensed as such pursuant to section 8-139, or designated agents, 27 conduct a loan closing at a location other than the place of 1 business specified in the bank's charter or any detached branch
2 thereof. The director may adopt and promulgate rules and 3 regulations to implement the provisions of this section.

4 (10) A bank which has a main chartered office or approved
5 branch office located in the State of Nebraska may, upon
6 notification to the department, establish savings account programs
7 at any elementary or secondary school, whether public or private,
8 located in the same city or village as the main chartered office or 9 branch office of the bank, or, if the main office of the bank is 10 located in an unincorporated area of a county, at any school
11 located in the same unincorporated area. The savings account
12 programs shall be limited to the establishment of individual 13 student accounts and the receipt of deposits for such accounts."

Opinion No. 97016

DATE: March 5, 1997

SUBJECT: LB 100; Constitutionality of a bill which would specify that newspaper carriers are employees for purposes of the Nebraska Workers' Compensation statutes.

REQUESTED BY: Senator Edward J. Schrock

Dale A. Comer, Assistant Attorney General

Neb. Rev. Stat. § 48-115 (Cum. Supp. 1996) specifies, in some detail, what the terms "employee" and "worker" should be construed to include for purposes of the Nebraska Workers' Compensation Act. LB 100 would add a new subsection 5 to § 48-115 in order to have that statute read, in pertinent part:

The terms employee and worker are used interchangeably and have the same meaning throughout the Nebraska Workers' Compensation Act. Such terms include the plural and all ages and both sexes and shall be construed to mean:

* * * *

(5) Every person who delivers or distributes newspapers for the owner or operator of a newspaper business or the owner or owners of a business hired to deliver or distribute newspapers shall be an employee of such business under the Nebraska Workers' Compensation Act.

(emphasis added). You state that you have "several grave concerns about LB 100," and therefore you have posed two questions to us concerning its constitutionality.

Your first question involves a concern that the language of LB 100 emphasized above is "extremely vague and ambiguous." You point out that "every person" could include a newspaper carrier along with a host of other persons such as parents, spouses, etc., who might be involved at some time and in some way in the delivery process. You also point out that "every person" could include people who are in the delivery business who are hired to transport or distribute newspapers together with other products such as auto parts or beauty supplies. Your concern extends further to the terms "such business," "operator of a newspaper business," and "owners of a newspaper business hired to deliver or distribute newspapers" which you also believe are extremely ambiguous and unclear. In light of these concerns, you ask:

. . . should LB100 be deemed void for vagueness based on the due process guarantees of the U.S. Constitution and Article I, section 3, of our Nebraska Constitution? Persons of ordinary intelligence should not have to guess at its meaning especially when violations of Nebraska's workers' compensation laws can have criminal ramifications (see, e.g. Neb. Rev. Stat. Sec. 48-144.04).

With respect to state legislation such as the language at issue in LB 100, the void for vagueness doctrine is based on the due process requirements contained in the Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution and in Article I, section 3, of the Nebraska Constitution. U.S. v. Articles of Drug, 825 F.2d 1238 (8th Cir. 1987). In order to pass constitutional muster, a statute must be sufficiently specific so that persons of ordinary intelligence do not have to guess at its meaning, and the statute must contain ascertainable standards by which it may be applied. Articles of Drug, 825 F.2d at 1243. The void for vagueness doctrine applies to both criminal and civil statutes. Id. at 1244. However, greater vagueness is tolerated in civil statutes than in criminal statutes. Id.

In regards to Nebraska's workers' compensation laws, a violation of those laws could result in criminal ramifications pursuant to Neb. Rev. Stat. § 48-144.04 (1993) and Neb. Rev. Stat. § 48-145.01 (1993). However, an employer is not directly subject to criminal sanctions for any violation of the workers' compensation laws, but only indirectly subject to them for violating an order of the Nebraska Workers' Compensation Court. For example, § 48-144.04 states, in relevant part, that "[a]ny employer . . . who fails, neglects, or refuses to file any report required of him or her by the Nebraska Workers' Compensation Court shall be guilty of a Class II misdemeanor for each such failure, neglect, or refusal. . . ." Similarly, § 48-145.01 states in relevant part that "[a]ny employer required [by the Nebraska Workers' Compensation Court] to secure the payment of compensation under the Nebraska Workers' Compensation Act who willfully fails to secure the payment of such compensation shall be guilty of a Class I misdemeanor. . . ." Therefore, it is likely that greater vagueness would be tolerated with respect to LB 100 since, for all intents and purposes, Nebraska's workers' compensation laws, including the definitional change proposed LB 100, involve civil rather than criminal statutes.

The Nebraska Supreme Court has indicated that a civil statute which is otherwise valid will not be held void for vagueness unless it is so deficient in its terms as to render it impossible to enforce. Neeman v. Nebraska Natural Resources Comm'n, 191 Neb. 672, 217 N.W.2d 166 (1974). In State ex rel. Douglas v. Herrington, 206 Neb. 516, 294 N.W.2d 330 (1980), the court said that the established test for vagueness in a statute is whether it either forbids or requires the doing of an act in terms so vague that persons of common intelligence must necessarily guess at its meaning and differ as to its application. Id. at 521, 294 N.W.2d at 333.

In applying that due process test to LB 100, it first must be determined, based upon your various concerns, whether "every person" in the context of that bill is a phrase of ordinary understanding such that persons of common intelligence would not have to guess at its meaning in terms of complying with the prohibitions in the bill. There are several reasons why we believe that it is.
