Transcriber's Office

February 9, 1999 LB 87

Beutler asked you if two...a Kansas and Nebraska school go together, which law do they follow? And I'd like to know the answer to that. I know you gave it and I missed it. Then I'd like a little more on the fiscal note. May I ask Senator Wickersham a question, please?

PRESIDENT MAURSTAD: Senator Wickersham.

SENATOR WICKERSHAM: Senator, well the question with regard to the fiscal note, again as I understand it from some preliminary discussion with the Department of Revenue, is that the fiscal note would reflect extra auditors to collect sales tax. Now we're going to...

SENATOR WEHRBEIN: Without going clear through the bill, you're anticipating that there should not be, unless there's a misunderstanding? Is that what you...

SENATOR WICKERSHAM: Well, there's a potential for some sales tax authority to be assigned to one of these entities. But whether it just...whether that would increase costs at the Department of Revenue,...

SENATOR WEHRBEIN: It's basically four or five people.

SENATOR WICKERSHAM: Right. Now I...Senator, I...everybody would have to make eventually some sort of a judgment about whether that's going to happen or not.

SENATOR WEHRBEIN: Yeah, yeah, year.

SENATOR WICKERSHAM: But to have that happen in the next fiscal year, for example, stretches my imagination a little bit,...

SENATOR WEHRBEIN: Okay.

SENATOR WICKERSHAM: ...for one thing. And there may be other concerns, but I can't.... Fiscal notes are an important part of our process, and we do have to be aware that there are costs attached to bills. But.... And I think we do...also it is necessary in that process to have discussions with the individual or the organizations that produce those fiscal notes,
