because we got investors coming from Minnesota coming down and buying the back taxes for the difference in the interest. And so, in order to get that all in place so that they can buy it, in case they'll end up with it down the road some place, well, it takes a lot of work and it takes one man in the treasurer's office to do it. But I guess they complain about it, but another way to look at it, they...we do have our taxes to keep our local governments going when that happens. And so, with that idea of it, I continue to believe that we should do it so, with that angle of it, I think I'm going to continue to support Senator Byars' amendment to see that they are...continue to be published, because my county might be one of them that might say, well, no, we're not going to print it because we'd keep the out-of-state investors out. So I guess you look at that two ways, but I'm going to still support his amendment. Thank you.

SPEAKER KRISTENSEN: Senator Schellpeper.

SENATOR SCHELLPEPER: Thank you, Mr. President and members. There still seems to be a lot of confusion about what this amendment does, the committee amendments. You're either going to pay the newspaper or you're going to go the other route. The argument this morning boils down to the Press Association came in and said, hey, they're going to take away some of our revenue. Do you want to put the revenue into the newspaper or into the county to use for some other purposes? It allows them to do it either way. My local county does it both ways. They send out notices in a plain envelope whenever they're due, and they also publish it if they're delinquent. So, to me, this shouldn't even be an argument. It allows either way to go. It has nothing to do with the tax sale, that Senator Jones says, nothing to do whatsoever. They go to the courthouse and they find that out. The newspaper doesn't mean anything. It all boils down to whether or not the newspaper's going to get paid for publishing this page or two-page list. That's what it boils down to. Simple. It's is it better business to send one to the individual taxpayer that owes that tax, or to put it in this here newspaper or in Omaha in this here Journal that nobody reads? To me, it's much better to go to the individual taxpayer that owes this money so they know that their taxes are actually due. But it just strictly boils down to whether or not you want to use the tax money to pay the newspaper or if you want to save
