LB 194

provision that when the tax notice goes out, at the end of the year, regarding next year's taxes, that there will either be a notice on a brightly colored piece of paper that tells people that their taxes for the prior year are delinquent, interest is accruing, and they should contact the county treasurer's office immediately, either that, or there should be a statement on the tax statement itself in a clearly defined space, or they send out a separate notice. And I think this is a reasonable accomplishment. It still won't do away with all the interest payments, because they become due August 1st, you don't get this until December, so you've already paid about four months of interest by that time. But it keeps it from going. In some cases it will also alert people, if they call their treasurer's office immediately, that their house or their property is going to be sold. I've had letters from people whose house or properties were sold, and they didn't even know it. So that...Senator Beutler. Okay. Well, Senator Beutler, I hope that you will enter into the discussion. But that is...that is what I have heard, and I have a four-page letter here from a fellow in Omaha, who was living out of state, it was...his mother had been put in a nursing home, or she had died, and this property, he never received any kind of a notice, and the next thing he knew, it had been sold. But regardless of that, whether you agree with me on that issue or not, Senator Beutler, I hope you can agree that people whose taxes are delinquent should know so, and this is a relatively easy thing to accomplish on the part of the county treasurers. So, with that, I would ask for your approval of this amendment.

SPEAKER KRISTENSEN: Before we begin debate on the amendment, Senator Byars is proud to announce he has the following guests visiting the Legislature this morning, there are 13 members of the Beatrice Chamber of Commerce. They're in the north balcony. Would you please stand and be recognized by your Legislature. Also, Senator Wehrbein and Senator Raikes announce they have the following guests visiting the Legislature this morning--there are 50 fourth graders from Eagle Elementary, in Eagle, Nebraska, with their teachers (introduced teachers). They're also in the north balcony. Would you please stand and be welcomed by your Legislature. Thank you for being with us. Senator Crosby.

SENATOR CROSBY: Thank you, Mr. President, Mr. Speaker. Senator
