motor vehicle tax, that 22 million actually became about 19.5. So when we're looking at what we need to do, it's really about 19.5 million rather than 22, because, remember, we're putting in more resources off of motor vehicle. And so I had not pointed that out before and that would also be an important fact to realize. As I've said, at eleven-thirty, when you take your notebooks and look at it and if you have any questions going over across the hall, they will be here until seven tonight, all day tomorrow to answer any of your questions, and for the remainder of the week. I do not think at that point in time, if people have looked at their notebooks, familiarized themselves with the information there, it's really pretty...in my...I hope that you find it easier the way we presented the information this time than other years. I think you can simply go to those tabs and then you only have two columns with the end result to look at. I'm not so sure that is too much to ask us all to absorb in coming to a decision if this is the right decision or not. That has been our goal, to make this as simple as possible for all of you and to keep the information before you in an organizational form that allows you to be able to look at those columns and real...and then flip through to those other tabs and see what may or may not have happened. And so, certainly, I think that...

PRESIDENT MAURSTAD: One minute.

SENATOR BOHLKE: ...the Education Committee has tried very hard not to rush things, have worked with you to make sure that you have plenty of time to do the analysis. I'm sorry, did you say time?

PRESIDENT MAURSTAD: I said one minute.

SENATOR BOHLKE: Oh, okay. To do the analysis necessary as you make your final determination. And, once again, I think that your school districts have all received a letter telling them that they can do the teleconferencing tonight with the Department of Ed, that they can phone in all of their questions. They are there. It's all up on the web site for school districts. I don't know that we can do much more in getting the information out to you or to school districts and so...there will be a point in time, though, that we need to make a decision
