security measures in place to protect deposits. So, in most instances, we will never know, as the public at large, about the embezzlements and pilfering of money from within when it comes to these financial institutions. So I think all young people who are of a mind to make it quickly ought to do it the same way these big shots, who are protected by the law, would do it. Get on the inside. Be a respectable embezzler. Be a respected embezzler. Maybe you ought to pay your taxes on what you get though so that should some financial institution be compelled, due to leakage of information to the media to acknowledge that you absconded with some of the funds, you will not be charged by the federal government with income tax evasion. That's what happened to an upstanding leader of the community in a little town in Iowa. Her name was Bernice Geiger (phonetic). She was a pillar of the church, respected in the community, and she was a thief and she was prosecuted. And, in addition to getting her for her embezzling, she was charged...

PRESIDENT MAURSTAD: One minute.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: ...with income tax evasion for not having declared that money and pay federal taxes on it. So the two things I want to make clear this morning, my vote is not against this individual, simply because he's allowed under the law to enjoy a direct conflict of interest which is denied to others. The second thing is that I'm not going to say any more on this particular nomination.

PRESIDENT MAURSTAD: Thank you, Senator Chambers. Senator Landis, you're recognized to close. Senator Landis waives closing. The question before us is the adoption of the confirmation report of the Banking Committee found on Journal page 988. Those in favor say aye. Those...excuse me. Those in favor vote aye; those opposed nay. Please record.

CLERK: (Record vote is found on page 1059 of the Legislative Journal.) 34 ayes, 1 nay, Mr. President, on adoption of the confirmation report.

PRESIDENT MAURSTAD: The confirmation report is adopted. Mr. Clerk, Select File.
