Now some people will say school districts need every bit of money that they can get and, even if it's $1,600, they'd like to have it. But I will reiterate that we have stood up and provided what we consider to be a reasonable amount of state aid to school districts and that those school districts ought to take the state aid that they're getting and their other sources of revenue and provide for vocational education at the standard that we're talking about as opposed to again trying to set aside a separate pot of money for this particular educational purpose. There are lots of different programs out there that lots of people think are important. They're...school districts are now beginning to charge their kids in order to participate in athletics. There are kids who can't afford to pay to play athletics. Maybe that's an important place where we ought to put a pot of money. Music and arts are very important. Maybe we ought to set out a separate pot of money for that. There are any number of places that we could say this is important, let's give them a separate pot of money. I don't believe that that's what we ought to be doing. I don't think it's good public policy and I think it is the worst public policy to say we're going to give them a pot of gambling money. Because what we are saying to kids is, if you gamble, then your education is going to be improved, and I think that's a terrible, terrible policy to set out and I believe that we need to defeat this amendment. Thank you.

SENATOR COORDSEN: Thank you, Senator Kiel. Senator Bohlke, please.

SENATOR BOHLKE: Yes, Mr. President and members, I think we have to get back on track when we're talking about the "per approved program." It is true that it would be $1,600 per approved program, but looking through the list of schools there are many of them who have four, five, six, seven programs. And so a number of them may have three, but you have to take that times the $1,600 and then it would be...in addition to that $21 per student approximately, I think, Senator Stuhr, and you can shake your head, yes. And so, in order to point out, that it would be that total that would be available to a school district, and a number of them. So if you have five approved programs, which a number of school districts have, that would be $8,000 you'd be getting, and then an additional $21 per student. And I think it
