families. And if we want to take telemarketing calls during that time, so be it. That's the freedom you should have in your home. But if you don't want to take those telemarketing calls there ought to be an effective means for you to preserve the sanctity of that time and place. And, with that, I'll stop and try to answer your questions.

SPEAKER KRISTENSEN: Senator Janssen.

SENATOR JANSSEN: Thank you, Mr. Speaker, members of the Legislature. If I could ask Senator Beutler a few questions, please.

SPEAKER KRISTENSEN: Senator Beutler, would you respond?

SENATOR BEUTLER: Yes.

SENATOR JANSSEN: Senator Beutler, I hope this is covered in the bill and I think I found the section where it is, but on the other hand, our financial institutes...institutions, say someone you have some investments with or IRAs or one thing, another, and frequently, you know, they have thousands of customers. Now, would they...if you are a customer of theirs, would this be covered under those people who will be allowed to make that type of a call to their customers?

SENATOR BEUTLER: Yes, Senator Janssen. If you have a business relationship already with any kind of company, including the kinds that you have mentioned, they would not be under the bill. They could...they could still...it seemed logical to me, anyway, to allow them to continue on that business relationship...

SENATOR JANSSEN: Um-hum.

SENATOR BEUTLER: ...because you've already had contact with them, you've already had business with them, so that they would be exempted from the bill.

SENATOR JANSSEN: Um-hum, would that be on...in Section 2 on page 3, starting on line 6: "whom a residential subscriber has a prior or current business or personal relationship"? Would that be covered under that, or is it would be another?
