SENATOR BRUNING: Thank you, Senator. Two other issues, I guess, that are in...going through my head and...

SPEAKER KRISTENSEN: One minute.

SENATOR BRUNING: ...these are not necessarily questions I have for Senator Beutler, but more comments. On a...from a broad level, I feel like to some degree this is a...this is...this is big government. People can do what a lot of us do and that's at night, if you don't want to take calls, turn off your phone. Don't pick it up. Turn off the ringer. (Laugh) Let them call. I...sometimes I hesitate to see government step in and save us from ourselves all the time when we simply don't have to pick up the phone. My last concern is in Section (sic--subsection) (4)(b) of the bill and specifically with competitive carriers. This particular section of the bill allows any entity that has a prior or current business or personal relationship to continue telemarketing, and I think if we want to, in the telecommunications industry specifically, if we want to maintain competition we need to allow more than just incumbent carriers to market to folks. So the way the law is drafted...

SPEAKER KRISTENSEN: Time.

SENATOR BRUNING: ...here....

SPEAKER KRISTENSEN: Senator Bruning, you may continue.

SENATOR BRUNING: The way the law is drafted here in Section (sic--subsection) (4)(b), and I would like to allow Senator Beutler to respond to this, it makes it so that an incumbent carrier, who perhaps loses a customer, would be able to "telemarket" that customer to win them back, but the competitor couldn't "telemarket" to keep them. Couldn't do...call to do a survey and say we'd like to keep you as a customer, and that concerns me. I don't think that is a fairly...a fairly drafted law. And so, Senator Beutler, if you'd like to take a moment and respond to that, I'd be interested in your thoughts on that issue.

SPEAKER KRISTENSEN: Senator Beutler, would you respond?
