

TRANSCRIPT PREPARED BY THE CLERK OF THE LEGISLATURE
Transcriber's Office

April 21, 1999 LB 76

this makes, as we say in legislative parlance, this makes a bad bill better, it also waters down the bill to the point where in my mind the bill may suddenly gain the votes needed to be veto-proof. And I want to make a prediction here. I think we're going to see this fight again. I don't know, I have not talked to the Governor, but I suspect this is a bill that would be vetoed by the Governor, if it goes forward, based on what I've read and heard him say. So, I think we're going to have this fight again. And each of us needs to think about our vote today, and if we do support the Bromm amendment, which I urge you not to, does this make...does this add the votes? Will you be expected, if you support the Bromm amendment, will you be expected, by supporters of LB 76, to then support a veto override? I think it's important we each think about that, because coming down the road here, if this Bromm amendment passes, is probably a veto override debate as well. And for all the reasons that I've been talking about for the last couple of days, I don't think LB 76 should pass. I don't think these ten people on death row deserve a reprieve, even for three years. And, with that, I would yield my time to the President.

PRESIDENT MAURSTAD: Thank you, Senator Bruning. Further discussion? Senator Chambers, followed by Brashear, Tyson, and Connealy.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Mr. President, members of the Legislature, I have three words to my colleague, "Baron" Tyson. "Geno, Geno, Geno", don't become so exorcised because people will not reduce this to the simplistic, simple-minded approach of saying it's one of those issues where you just say I'm for the death penalty, so it doesn't matter how unjustly it's implemented, I'm for it. Brothers and sisters, this morning I would rather cast my lot with that of St. Augustine and Pope John Paul. If there has been study and research on this question, it has not been done by my colleague, "Geno the Baron". He probably couldn't tell me the two main individuals who had any discussion about the Eighth Amendment to the Constitution when it was adopted. I have studied the issue. The fact that somebody else may have looked into it does not automatically give us the knowledge that that person or those persons will have acquired. I go again to the comments of Senator Don Pederson, because he was the first one who stated it succinctly. We're studying a process. So
