not going to be produced. It doesn't mean cattle will not be raised. It simply means somebody else is going to do it, and it's going to be done in a way different from the way it's done now. What people in agriculture are going to have to try to do is form a coalition with city people, and show that there is a genuine community of interest between them. If they cannot show that, then city people are going to say, if the price of a can of fruit cocktail is 30 cents lower because Dole...

SENATOR CUDABACK PRESIDING

SENATOR CUDABACK: Time. Thank you, Senator Chambers. Those wishing to speak on the Dierks amendment to the Wehrbein amendment are Senator Schmitt, Raikes, and Senator Chambers. Senator Schmitt.

SENATOR SCHMITT: Yes, Mr. President, I yield my time to Senator Chambers.

SENATOR CUDABACK: Senator Chambers, you have almost five minutes.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Thank you, Senator Schmitt. If somebody tells me, Ernie, you shouldn't buy Dole's fruit cocktail. I say, why not? They say, because Dole does...their farms produce everything. They produce grapes, they produce peaches, they produce cherries, they produce pineapple, they produce pears, that's what you find in fruit cocktail. They produce it all. But, if you don't buy theirs, you can still get it. I say, how am I going to get it? Well, you can get some grapes from Senator Brashear, you can get some pineapple from Senator Smith, you can get some peaches from Senator Quandahl, you can get some cherries from young Senator Bourne, and you can get some pears from Senator Suttle, and then you buy that, and then you make your own. I say, well no, I'm not of a mind to do that. All I got to do is go down to the store and put my money down, and it's 30 cents cheaper, and it's already made. And they say, but if you do that, what's going to happen to Senator Suttle, Bourne, Quandahl, Smith, and Brashear? I say, well they got to find another way to make a living. Maybe they ought to buy a lot of fruit cocktail and sell it cheaper than Dole is. I don't know what they're going to do. But their problem is theirs, not
