the arguments that have been presented and would just like to comment that I do support Senator Wehrbein's amendment. And one point that I would like to bring out, particularly in our area which is a very rural area that we've been talking about beginning farmers and availability of capital, but the most difficult thing is just availability of land or of livestock operations. It is very, very difficult in our area to be able to even rent a piece of land. If this could...if this proposition could somehow assist that person who might be considering selling his land, that he would make a commitment with a young farmer to give him the opportunity, and we've been talking about opportunity, if this would give him an opportunity to at least have some land that he could begin his operation, I think that that's really is what we're looking at and would be a reward. What happens often in my area, and I'm sure it does in other parts of the state, is that that land will be sold. That beginning farmer cannot afford most generally to buy that land. What will happen is a larger farmer will be the one that buys additional land and, therefore, that's why we are seeing less farmers out in the area, we're seeing the age increasing of those involved in agriculture. So I think that, all in all, we're looking for opportunities and I think if we could work out some of these provisions in the share rent or cash rent, but usually we do look at share renting because it does help when we're looking at those expenses. I'll turn my time over to, any time remaining, to Senator Wehrbein. Thank you.

PRESIDENT MAURSTAD: Senator Wehrbein, two and a half minutes.

SENATOR WEHRBEIN: Thank you, Senator Stuhr. One, Mr. President, members, one of the...in answer to Senator Beutler's questions, some of it, some of these are unique to agriculture. Some I understand any small business could certainly use some help. One of the things we do have quite a bit of enterprise, partnerships, microenterprise start-ups. There are grants and so forth available, and to my knowledge, there is no direct grants available anywhere in agriculture. Now the federal program does have some that were not intended as grants to start with. I'll admit some of them did. But, by and large, my sense of difference is that you can start a small business, in many case, with a computer or whatever. You don't have to go out and find a land base, and a land base
