SENATOR BROMM: That's true.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: But we do not...

SENATOR BROMM: But sake would be.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Say it again.

SENATOR BROMM: Sake would be included.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Yeah, I saw sake and it's spelled correctly.

SENATOR BROMM: Okay.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: But at any rate, a person could not contrive a container out of some substance other than plastic, metal or whatever...

SENATOR BROMM: Glass.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: ...and consume...yeah...because this says consumable as a liquid or something to that effect. Isn't that true?

SENATOR BROMM: Readily consumable as a beverage.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Yeah, as a beverage. Now I have a question for you. I have often used the term "demon rum" but why did you put "evil alcohol" on page 1, line 15? I'm proud of you for doing that but that's the first time I've seen that in the statute.

SENATOR BROMM: Ethyl alcohol? Why did I put it in there?

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Evil...evil alcohol. Isn't that what it says?

SENATOR BROMM: Did you say evil or...

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Yes. Doesn't it say evil alcohol?

SENATOR BROMM: No, not unless your copy is different than mine?
