SENATOR CHAMBERS: And do you think they would still meet in Kearney, or they would go to Omaha?

SENATOR JENSEN: Depending on the size of the convention.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: If it's a big convention,...

SENATOR JENSEN: It's going to go to Omaha.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: And Kearney won't get it, right?

SENATOR JENSEN: No, Kearney...

SENATOR CHAMBERS: If Omaha gets it, nobody else will...

SENATOR JENSEN: ...couldn't handle it to begin with, probably.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Okay. Now, you think that this convention center is going to be profitable. Is that true?

SENATOR JENSEN: Yes.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Why doesn't private...why don't private investors then jump on this, like flies on a carcass?

SENATOR JENSEN: (Laugh)

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Why doesn't Warren Buffett get in it? He's...he's in Coca Cola, he's in whatever that...that...that big old company is that makes all that money.

SENATOR JENSEN: Berkshire Hathaway, or whatever it is.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Yeah, Berkshire Hathaway. Why doesn't he jump on this? He goes where the money goes.

SENATOR JENSEN: Senator Bohlke mentioned Dairy Queen, he's into that, too. (Laugh)

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Okay. Well, do you agree that Deep Throat supposedly told those people, in Watergate, "follow the money", and somebody said, "before you do that, follow Warren Buffett,
