extent that this changes the playing field at all with respect to Internet sales, unless they're by manufacturers, I think...I think we are treading on ground which we need to...to tread on very carefully. And another part of your question was if the New Jersey sale occurred on the Internet but delivery was here, would that be covered by this wording, and I think it would. I think it would if the deal was that the delivery was going to take place in Nebraska, because then that hopefully subjects them to our lemon law, to our other Dealer...

SENATOR CROSBY: Time.

SENATOR BROMM: ...Board regulations. Thank you.

SENATOR CROSBY: Thank you, Senator Beutler and Bromm. Senator Kristensen.

SPEAKER KRISTENSEN: Thank you, Madam President, members of the Legislature. I want to wade into this pond a little bit of selling and buying cars and then the licensing. What I see this bill as doing is a couple of things. One of them is certainly it's an ability to gain venue in Nebraska for disputes. I want to go back to Senator Chambers, and I don't know that all the answers are out there yet, but it's my understanding that you'll not know if there's a violation here unless there's complaints. With that being the case, if we're going to spend some time, I think we ought to talk about how those sales occur, and I want to make sure I understand the bill too, Senator Bromm. But those motor vehicle license holders that this delivery would occur through would be any motor vehicle licensing dealer, so it could be a used car, new car, and, if I remember right, I'm going to pull those up, I'm looking for them right now, but there's some statutes about what it takes to be a motor vehicle license holder and it's fairly minimal as to who it is, but it does trigger a Nebraska transaction. Now on the Internet sales, it's my understanding, having had done this and look for a vehicle over the Internet, that those companies are just nothing but middle people. They
