SENATOR BOHLKE: Well, which probably everyone else is too, so thanks for asking the question that I thoroughly confused everyone. (Laugh) What really remains in the bill is the 5 percent, the increase from 3 percent to 5 percent in recognizing those medical costs,...

SENATOR WEHRBEIN: And that's it?

SENATOR BOHLKE: ...and the medical costs that are covered in the IEP, and that is it.

SENATOR WEHRBEIN: And nothing to do with lawsuits and the other, those are all taken out?

SENATOR BOHLKE: Those are all taken out.

SENATOR WEHRBEIN: Okay, that's all I have. Thank...

SENATOR BOHLKE: Thank you for...

SENATOR WEHRBEIN: I...well, I...I probably should say that I am going to support this. This is a difficult one. I recognize it increased some costs from 3 to 5 percent. And I think those of you that are wondering about this, it is a form of property tax relief. So if you had your heart set on $30 million, perhaps you'll have to have your hearts set on $23 million. You want to talk about that, too? I can...I'll let you have the rest of my time, too, because I'm done. Thank you.

SENATOR BOHLKE: Thank you, Senator Wehrbein. In following up with Senator Beutler's question, one example, although it would be a larger school district, but going to the 5 percent would still leave, as an example, Lincoln Public Schools $30 million short, from the 3 percent to the 5 percent, when we look at these growth rates of 6.7 percent. Obviously, smaller schools it wouldn't be that amount. But it shows that we aren't going to totally reimburse the schools for their costs, but we are at least recognizing that they have brought their costs in line. And there are certain costs that they just simply cannot control and that we certainly have an obligation to educate children with special needs. Thank you, I'll return the remainder of my
