SENATOR QUANDAHL: No, I did not.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: May I ask, without you revealing a confidence or violating a confidence, who drafted it?

SENATOR QUANDAHL: I am not sure.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Senator Quandahl, did you just wake up one day and find this language on your desk (laughter) and decide that you'd offer it as an amendment?

SENATOR QUANDAHL: Actually, no. Actually, I...when I...when I came here this morning this wasn't on my plate of things to do, so.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Who wants this amendment? May I ask that?

SENATOR QUANDAHL: It's...I...it's some of the other charities that...or I guess the charities want to make sure that they're not cut out of the loop on...

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Cut out of the loot? (Laughter)

SENATOR QUANDAHL: Loop, l-o-o-p.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: (Laugh) Oh, I'm sorry, I stand corrected. All right, go ahead. I'm sorry, go ahead.

SENATOR QUANDAHL: I think I've said about enough. (Laughter)

SENATOR CHAMBERS: But you're saying that the...well, let me ask you this. If the language "to the exclusion of all others" were to be stricken, how would that alter the meaning of what you're trying to do?

SENATOR QUANDAHL: I...I don't know that it would.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Okay. And when I was given a paper copy now so I can make marks if I have to, but I now am going to try to get an understanding of what this does. I was listening to your response to Senator Wehrbein. You're dealing with a situation not only where an operator is involved but where a machine...an
