question. (Laugh) Do you at least understand the direction that I'm going by my questioning? Do you follow what it is that I'm trying to get at?

SENATOR QUANDAHL: Yes, I do.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Okay. With that in mind, I'm going to set up a hypothetical and it's going to seem to be a repetition of what I've said. I want to sell these pickles and I want this equipment, but I want to sell them only for "Organization A". And Senator Bourne is the one who is going to lease me the equipment or sell it to me or rent it to me, and he says, yeah, I'll rent this equipment to you, and I sign the rental agreement. In that agreement is a statement that I can...that I have to sell...I have to sell these individual pickle cards only to the group that I want to sell them for anyway. They're the only group I can work for. Well, that's what I want, so I sign the rental agreement. That rental agreement is void from the very beginning under this statute, isn't it? I cannot lease that equipment from him even if I want to, can I, under this language?

SENATOR QUANDAHL: Under this language, I guess I'm not sure if the entire agreement would be void or just that particular portion that would provide for or require exclusivity.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Well, if that's what I do with the equipment and that's my intention, if that is in the agreement, this statute would make it void, it seems to me. Because it says that shall not be done and if that is done how can the agreement not be void? Give me an answer. Don't just body language because the machine won't pick that up.

SENATOR QUANDAHL: No, I know the body...or it doesn't pick up me bobbing back and forth on this. It's just I guess I'm unsure as to whether that would void the entire agreement or if it would just void the specific provision of the contract that would violate the law.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: It's kind of...it's appropriate that we're discussing pickle cards because it seems this amendment has you in a pickle and I'm going to keep you there. If you, who are
