eventually pays it all.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: That's not what I'm talking about.

SENATOR JANSSEN: All right, but I want you to be aware of that. I mean it is.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Well, that's because...

SENATOR JANSSEN: It's built into the price.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Okay, the tax has been paid. That's in the cost of it...

SENATOR JANSSEN: Yes.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: ...and we under...and sales tax and all that. I'm not even talking about that. I want to get to what this bill does. Someplace in this country there must be a way to procure large quantities of liquor with...legally without paying any tax of the kind we're discussing here.

SENATOR SCHIMEK: One minute.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Is that true?

SENATOR JANSSEN: No.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Then what do we need the bill for? If there are not large quantities of liquor involved, what do we need a bill for? To get Senator Landis' wino buddy? To get Senator "Kelly's" stumblebum friend?

SENATOR JANSSEN: No, that...

SENATOR CHAMBERS: They've got a social problem perhaps and a personal one, but I don't see the need to change the law in this way.

SENATOR JANSSEN: No, it, Senator Chambers, this...this is something that is growing and growing and we are...the state of Nebraska is losing revenue because of the sale of alcohol coming
