do is accept Senator Kristensen's reducing the amount to $1.5 million and then I reduce the university's budget by the remainder. But that's not what I'm (laugh) going to do. It's too easy sometimes to go after the university and say they didn't do what I like so I'm going to fix them by taking their money. I want them to be in a position to do what they ought to. I feel better if they make these benchmarks. I want them to do the right thing. I don't want to crack a whip over their head and say, I gotcha. I want them to do the right thing and then they can tell me, we got you, and I'll say, well, like Sonny and Cher, we got each other because we both are happy now. But unless they be aware of the fact that we're serious and if, in this first instance where they have not met the mark that everybody knew in advance was there, something has to be done by this Legislature to address it. I don't think it's enough to tell them we told you to do this and we really meant it. I don't think that accomplishes the goal. So I will support Senator Kristensen's amendment and if it wasn't necessary for me to make it crystal clear the amount that was at stake, the $3,600,000, maybe I would have started at a lower amount. But at times like this, although people may not realize it, I am eminently reasonable. I am probably the most patient person on this floor. I know that some things take time, but nothing is achieved through the mere passage of time. Efforts have to be expended during the passage of that time to bring about the desired result. So if we reduce that amount that the law says they should lose, not just redirect but that they should lose, we've done away with that already, they're not going to lose the money. We would reduce the amount by more than half. That is very reasonable for me, especially in view of what has happened and not happened at the hands of the university. Because, you see, I'm aware of people they've plucked from here and plucked from there and given very high salaries and a title. They're white people and some of them we served with, so they need not tell me that it is unknown for them to suit their purposes to reach out and get somebody and create a title and a position for, because they do it all the time, and some of those people were some of the ones I was talking to and it was all I could do to remain my civil, well-balanced good nature while I listened to them tell me how they couldn't do this other but there they are sitting up in a made-to-order position for themselves. But I didn't hit them with that. I'm bringing it up now to show
