fiduciary responsibility. The end.

PRESIDENT MAURSTAD: Thank you, Senator Wickersham. Senator Chambers.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Thank you, Mr. President. Thank you, Senator Wickersham. Thank you, Senator Bromm. And I'm right back where I started. The Legislature cannot order the sale of these lands because the proviso is there. This board has discretion. It can determine whether or not, in exercising its fiduciary responsibility, meaning to be prudent, that this land ought to be sold in the way the Legislature wants to sell it now. But under Senator Baker's bill, it gives specific recognition of the fact that the board doesn't have to sell any land. If you put in place the law that Senator Baker is asking you to put in now, the only thing the board has to do if it decides not to accept any bid is just put in a report to the Legislature Senator Connealy bid $150 and we refused it. That's all. Let me ask Senator Baker a question before I misstate what's in his bill.

PRESIDENT MAURSTAD: Senator Baker.

SENATOR BAKER: Yes.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Senator Baker, is it correct what I just stated about the language of your bill?

SENATOR BAKER: Yes. May I answer why we put it in there that way?

SENATOR CHAMBERS: No. I just want...I just want people to know what's in there. That's all I have to ask you, thank you. And my time seems to run out so fast I don't want to share any more than I have to. If what I say is true, what does the bill achieve? The Legislature doesn't like the board. This bill is not going to make them do anything. It's just that we're going to slap you because we can get enough of the senators to do along with us. And the board says, well, after you slap me, what can you make me do? And the Legislature has to say, well, nothing, because in the bill we said you don't have to accept any bid at all, which means you don't have to sell any land at
