elected official. Now, when you get into the "gifting" provisions, it goes a little bit further than that, because it involves not only the elected official, but their spouse, their staff,...

SENATOR CUDABACK: Time.

SENATOR SCHIMEK: ...members of their immediate family, I guess.

SENATOR CUDABACK: Thank you, Senator Brashear. Senator Coordsen, the Wickersham amendment to the committee amendments to LB 1021.

SENATOR COORDSEN: Thank you, Mr. President, members of the body. Question of Senator Schimek, if I may, please.

SENATOR CUDABACK: Senator Schimek, would you respond to a question, please?

SENATOR SCHIMEK: I'm sorry.

SENATOR COORDSEN: Senator Schimek, currently...current law requires...and I'm talking about lobbyist expense now. By the way, could I preface this, with your permission, Mr. President...for the members of the body, be careful in this bill that you understand that it is in two parts. One (inaudible)...

SENATOR SCHIMEK: Senator Coordsen?

SENATOR COORDSEN: Yeah.

SENATOR SCHIMEK: Could we ask you to speak into your mike, please? I'm sorry.

SENATOR COORDSEN: Could I do it like this?

SENATOR SCHIMEK: That's great. Thank you.

SENATOR COORDSEN: You look so bright this morning, I have to look at you in order to talk to you. But my...yeah. And the other part of the bill applies to the filings that elected
