SENATOR JENSEN: Yes, we have. We had a rehearing on a couple of other bills.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: What...who had brought those bills?

SENATOR JENSEN: Oh, golly...

SENATOR CHAMBERS: If you recall? If you don't, then, I...

SENATOR JENSEN: I cannot recall, Senator Chambers, at the moment but, yes, we did have two other rehearing. One was on a pharmacy bill.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Okay.

SENATOR JENSEN: Ah...hm...my mind is slipping. I can't remember the others.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: That's all right. Now, you said that the stakeholders have not expressed any problem with this bill. and by that, I think you mean...

PRESIDENT MAURSTAD: One minute.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: ...those out in the lobby who represent whatever a stakeholder is. Well, first of all, what is a stakeholder?

SENATOR JENSEN: Well, a stakeholder is just anyone that's affected by this bill. And we're talking about many, many licensees who are affected, nurses...

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Do you think I as a consumer or potential consumer of the services of some of these people, I could be deemed a stakeholder, too?

SENATOR JENSEN: You certainly could.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: And if I'm expressing opposition, then you couldn't say that you haven't heard anything from the stakeholders. You could say you hadn't heard anything from the
