probably figure it out themselves. But I just wanted to make sure that everyone was aware of the number breakdown in each of the three caucuses. Thank you.

SPEAKER BROMM: Thank you, Senator Quandahl. Senator Brown.

SENATOR BROWN: Mr. President, members of the Legislature, when we moved the four-caucus system to the three-caucus system, I assumed that we would assemble pretty much around the lines of the then-existing congressional districts. And unfortunately, we did not. I think that it tended to be more of a discussion about who our friends were and, you know, who we wanted to be holding hands with when we made votes on things than any sort of objective criteria. And our structure and our rules, I think, should be as objective as possible. All of us have preferences, and come with different people, probably, that we would like to share time with, but that shouldn't be the way that we organize. We should have some legitimate, explainable reason for the way that we are organized and, to me, this is pretty explainable. I mean, as Senator Quandahl said, we did a very public engagement, a publicly open process in arriving at the lines for the congressional districts. It was not an easy process, but it was very public. And I think that if we can show that we are living with that ourselves, I mean, I think that that's a very good demonstration of the correctness of what we had done. But I would like to ask Senator Quandahl one question, if he would...

SPEAKER BROMM: Senator Quandahl, would you yield to a question, please?

SENATOR QUANDAHL: Yes.

SENATOR BROWN: The rationale for the 17th member of the 2nd District...and I know that it's related, probably, to the amendment we adopted this morning...but my question was whether the majority of the...and I'm sorry, let's see, what number is...I don't know what number Senator Mossey represents, but what...?

SENATOR QUANDAHL: Number three.
