FLOOR DEBATE

January 23, 2003 LB 71

construction companies understand the impact that this would have on their businesses as well.

SPEAKER BROMM: One minute.

SENATOR BOURNE: Senator Kremer, would you be willing to work with me to tighten up this language, to clarify it further,...

SENATOR KREMER: I sure would.

SENATOR BOURNE: ...specifically what type of equipment this would pertain to?

SENATOR KREMER: They had the opportunity to come in, too, and they did not testify...

SENATOR BOURNE: Right. But...

SENATOR KREMER: ...in opposition.

SENATOR BOURNE: ...but again, I think they...I think their impression was that it dealt with ag equipment only. But this would impact construction companies in a significant way.

SENATOR KREMER: Okay, why should it be different for the ag equipment as...?

SENATOR BOURNE: Well, I'm not sure that we should increase the origination fee at all.

SENATOR KREMER: Okay.

SENATOR BOURNE: But if you as an agriculture individual want to increase it for ag equipment, that's your prerogative, I guess, because you're going to impact your industry. But you know, I'm concerned about why we need an origination fee for equipment other than ag equipment.

SENATOR KREMER: Well, I...there were some that thought we should not even have any restrictions on it at all, just let competition take care of it. If you wanted to charge $1,000,
