FLOOR DEBATE

January 24, 2003 LB 76

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Okay. Thank you, Senator Hartnett. Members of the Legislature, Senator Hartnett is a very reasonable person. He recognizes that I am reasonable. But not everybody on the floor may think either of us, or the two of us, are reasonable. So this is the time that I think we need to discuss these matters, hash them out. And whatever we do,...

PRESIDENT HEINEMAN: One minute.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: ...we should be able to provide a rationale for it, and that will be in the record of this discussion. Thank you, Mr. President.

PRESIDENT HEINEMAN: Thank you, Senator Chambers. Senator Hartnett.

SENATOR HARTNETT: I...(laugh) Mr. President, members of the body, I don't represent...(laugh) I come from a first-class city, and the bill was brought to us by the League of Municipalities. And you know, I don't know how many...and I have not checked, and maybe I should know...how many of these boards there are in the country. But I think with the number of seven...I think five was too restrictive. I think seven would be a reasonable number that we could live with, with this board. I have not talked to the League of Municipalities about it, but I think...and if it is a problem, they can come back and give it to the Chairman of the Urban Affairs to introduce the bill again. So I guess I would like to have the bill advanced, and then maybe go to...and we'll draft an amendment for seven on Select File. Thank you.

PRESIDENT HEINEMAN: Thank you, Senator Hartnett. Senator Redfield.

SENATOR REDFIELD: Thank you, Mr. Lieutenant Governor and members of the body. I will point out to you that this is talking about smaller municipalities, cities of the second class whose population is between 800 and 5,000, villages whose populations are below 800 but greater than 100. And it is only talking about boards that deal with facilities such as the
