FLOOR DEBATE

think the phrase generally was throwback, if I remember correctly, and the state support of the Omaha Convention Center project would be via this throwback mechanism. As I understand it, there was going to be some calculations made and some data collected about how many people attended the conventions in Omaha, would be put into some sort of a formula, and a throwback amount would be calculated. Roughly, this is to...along the following lines; that because the Omaha Convention Center is there, the state received some sales and income tax money it would not have otherwise received. Am I on track so far, as you understand it, Senator Janssen?

SENATOR CUDABACK: Senator Janssen.

SENATOR JANSSEN: (Microphone malfunction)...you're on the right track, Senator.

SENATOR RAIKES: Okay. So let me continue. This then is money that is basically an appropriation out of the General Fund, specifically as a result of the Omaha Convention Center. For example, it may well be that the insurance industry in the state had a good year, increased sales and whatever. As a result of that, the state of Nebraska received more sales and income tax money than it otherwise would, although there's no formula in place that says this additional money generated by the insurance industry should go back to the insurance industry. But in this case, in the case of the Omaha Convention Center, that's what it is. So it's, in effect, a formula to make an appropriation. There's an appropriation made out of the state General Fund to this project. Okay. And as I understand it further, 70 percent of that money that is calculated would go to the Omaha Convention Center project; 30 percent goes not to the Omaha project but to a fund that...upon which other cities in the state could request grants to build a restricted class of projects, as I understand. I don't know if it has to be a convention center. It has to be a certain kind of a project. But my point is, this is an appropriation out of the General Fund that 30 percent of...and I saw some number of a million dollars, and I don't know if a million dollars was the forecast amount that might be in this fund two or three years down the road or whatever it is. But this is, in effect, putting the
