

TRANSCRIPT PREPARED BY THE CLERK OF THE LEGISLATURE
Transcriber's Office
FLOOR DEBATE

February 26, 2003 LB 111

was in a lot of pain and she was crying. This particular individual had no prior arrests for sexual assault but, again, we see start seeing a correlation between the possession of child pornography and those that will perpetrate crimes against our young children. And that's the problem we are having now, is the sexual molestation of children. In testimony given to the Judiciary Subcommittee on Crime, Terrorism and Homeland Security of the U.S. House of Representatives on May 1, 2002, FBI agent Michael Heimbach testified to Congress regarding crimes against children and the question to him was, is there a connection between child pornography and "molestating" children? He answered, my answer is astounding (sic) and alarming yes, and he goes on to explain further reasons for it. For example, people that possess child pornography become to believe that their fantasies about children are acceptable, thus, lowering their inhibitions and increasing the likelihood that they will actually molest children. Law enforcement, prosecutors have all started to accept the notion that if you are possessing child pornography you are at a greater risk of molesting children. By making it a felony it gets several things accomplished. Currently, at a misdemeanor level, it's up to six months in jail, and in a felony it allows you to go before a judge. There's a lot of things that need to be considered when you're possessing child pornography. You might be living near schools, parks. Might be your next-door neighbor that's possessing child pornography and, by possessing it, like I said, you are contributing to those web sites that manufacture. Once again, in today's Omaha World-Herald we see where child porn is still active and growing. And in Syracuse, Nebraska, an individual was operating an international child pornography ring, and it's a growing problem. One thing I'd like to finish with was in the Omaha World-Herald, which I passed out, it talked about protecting kids and the war we need to fight for protecting our children. The author of the article is Michael Kelly. For those not familiar, his daughter was sexually assaulted, shot several times and left to die. She survived by miraculously. He ends with, but the bad news surely is...but the bad news surely is are (sic) there and it can't be hidden. Lately, it seems much of the bad about the young has resulted from the actions of adults. The world lies in turmoil. The government urges us to stockpile food, buy duct tape and plan for an