come back to that. I still come back to that. And the reason being is that I think we need to think about where the money is going, where the money is being spent, what will be the result of that. If we do decide to go into casino gambling, there better be enough money coming into the state to replace what is going out, what is going out to Las Vegas, or wherever it is that the casino is going to be owned by and controlled by and the major profits going. In Iowa, the major of the profits go to Las Vegas. They don't go...or at least they go out of the state. They do not stay in Iowa. In every community where there is a casino, sales tax receipts drop. And if you think about that, it only makes sense. They're going to be buying fewer shoes, they're going to be buying fewer coats, hats, they're going to be buying fewer building products, because these dollars are going not into something that is tangible but something that is being spent and then moved on out of the community. Statistics show that, in Iowa, that really areas where there are casinos, there is a 4 percent reduction in taxable retail sales. And whether that be in Columbus, or where that might be, if you have a casino there, you're going to have fewer retail sales. Now, one thing that has stood up throughout our downturn here is really the sales tax revenues have been pretty close to where they are. They've declined a little bit, but not appreciably. Our biggest reduction certainly was in capital gains. It was in the investor recession. That's what I refer to this that we've been going through. But if we decline our sales tax revenue into this state, we're...what are we going to do to fund our schools, and what are we going to do to fund our health care, and everything else that we do as a state, if we reduce that incidence? Also, statistics tell us that where there are casinos, the counties where the casino is located have an 18 percent higher bankruptcy rate, 18 percent. Are you willing to have that in your community? I think there's some real problems here. You also need to recognize that once you have Native American casinos, they don't follow, necessarily, Nebraska rules. Remember over in Iowa, they allow 18-year-olds to gamble over there in the Indian casino, 18-year-olds. That's high school kids. That's college freshmen. Now, you think when you were in college and the opportunity was there that, wow, you could go to the casino; golly, there goes the books, there goes the tuition; I'm afraid there goes many other things. And I'm
