FLOOR DEBATE

March 19, 2003 LB 608

spend...that's their own sales tax, that they've already spent in your local community, and they also receive some credits on income tax. To try and predict what's happening, we've got enough information already. Disclosure is there. We don't...

SPEAKER BROMM: One minute.

SENATOR MINES: ...need company-specific disclosure. You...let me give you a couple examples that are on the Internet today, as a matter of fact. On Monday, the Iowa House approved $33 million in company incentives to save a biotech company that will provide 200 jobs; $33 million. And Iowa's disclosure is much less than Nebraska. Texas is in the process right now of investing heavily in economic development. Folks, Nebraska is in a fight for our economic future. More disclosure will absolutely slow our economy, continue the slow decline. I urge you to vote in favor of AM0879. Thank you.

SPEAKER BROMM: Thank you, Senator Mines. Senator Janssen.

SENATOR JANSSEN: Thank you, Mr. Speaker, members of the Legislature. You know, there's not a one of us in this body that isn't in favor of increasing our economic growth. Not a one of us. But in some of those cases, when that happens, especially in medium-sized cities, the economic growth that they will...that city will try to lure into their community, sometimes backfires on them also. And I realize that some of the businesses that I'm talking about right now very seldom get LB 775 money, not in their retail outlets. But they do get it in some of their warehouses, distribution centers, things like that. But what happens to those communities? What really happens to them? All you have to do is go down and count the empty buildings and the 40-hour-a-week jobs that those establishments provided and kept those cities from drying up. And those 40-hour-a-week jobs are replaced by 15- to 18-hour-a-week jobs, and numerous...a lot of them, you know, lots of them. Because they have to keep those businesses open also. So what they do is hire people as part-time work. Pay no benefits. You're on your own. So look at some of those communities and look at the empty buildings, and the people who have struggled all their life to keep those businesses open, to
