FLOOR DEBATE

March 20, 2003      LB 608

be in the packinghouses, the processors, or whether it be in Medicaid and other issues, you do have some individuals that always want to stretch it as far as they can. And so without encumbering business, if we can somehow address those who haven't been good citizens and help those to become better citizens. With that, I'll return the rest of my time back to the Chair.

SENATOR CUDABACK: Thank you, Senator Jensen. Senator Maxwell, followed by Senator Aguilar.

SENATOR MAXWELL: Thank you, Mr. President. I rise in support of the Bromm amendment. It actually connects to a discussion my wife and I had last evening. Before I get into that, I just wanted notice...note by coincidence, I was flipping through my copy of the Omaha Star this morning, the Star is a weekly newspaper in north Omaha. Incidentally, there is a regular columnist in the Star who often comments on the Legislature. Sometimes I jump into the pages of the Star myself to correct some of his misinformation but, generally, it is a very engaging and well-written column, and I hope he's watching on his television. But what I want to draw attention to is a photo in here. It's outside the Armour Packing Plant at 28th and Q, and it's about 100 or 150 workers from the Armour Plant. About a third of them are African-American. The rest are white, and I imagine that they are the Poles, and the Czechs, and the Irish, and other immigrants of yesteryear who flocked to south Omaha for the packing plant jobs or slaughterhouse jobs. I don't even mind saying that. Senator Landis made reference yesterday to Father Damien Zuerlein, who is the pastor of Our Lady of Guadalupe parish in south Omaha. We know him well. He is going to be baptizing our new child in a couple of weeks. My wife was the principal of the Guadalupe School. It's prekindergarten through second grade. It's for Latino immigrants, and I worked down there part-time for a year, helped them with development. And so we know many of the workers in the plants. We know the stories. The man that my wife interviewed and later hired to be the janitor at the school was a slaughterhouse worker. And in interviewing him, she said, you know, there is no way I can match the pay that you get at the plant. And he said, that's all right, I don't care, I want to get out of that hellhole; I
