

TRANSCRIPT PREPARED BY THE CLERK OF THE LEGISLATURE
Transcriber's Office
FLOOR DEBATE

March 31, 2003 LB 265

SENATOR MOSSEY: On daily cases, no.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Did you deal ever with people of that ilk who might resort to violence? What kind of work did you do in your undercover capacity?

SENATOR MOSSEY: Well, I was assigned to the weed and seed unit, the selective patrol unit, the metro unit.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Could you have ever dealt with drug dealers?

SENATOR MOSSEY: Yes.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Might they be armed?

SENATOR MOSSEY: Yes.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Thank you, Senator Mossey. Members of the Legislature, before my time runs out, operating in a milieu where there might be violence at any time, dealing with people who might be armed, he never had to pull a pistol. So why does everybody else have to pull a pistol, and it was his job to enforce the law? Maybe his training gave him some discretion, calmness, and awareness of the fact that a pistol is not a plaything. You don't brandish it. You don't play with it. You don't let it talk to you and tell you things that you ought to do which you would not do if you didn't have that pistol. Senator Mossey apparently never walked down the street and saw a group of people who looked dangerous or threatening, and the pistol told him, you don't have to cross the street. You can walk right through them if you want to. You've got me on your side, and I will make equal any kind of confrontation. But Senator Mossey never confronted that situation. So if he, as an officer doing undercover work, dealing with lawbreakers, and potential killers, never pulled a gun, what does an ordinary citizen need with a gun? Senator Mossey is not a man...

SPEAKER BROMM: One minute.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: ...of imposing or overpowering stature. So
