substantial piece of employment in a town of five, six hundred people. I don't know whether I'm going to support this bill or fight it. I think that the biggest problem, the most ideal situation would be to have dairy cows, 20 or 50 cows, on a farmstead like we had 30-40 years ago, but I guess that isn't possible now because of the price of milk. The price of milk is just...it's terrible. And you look at what's happening in the retail market, but that milk goes through about four different hands before it finally gets to the consumer, and I haven't seen any of those declaring bankruptcy, those companies that process the milk. But the farmers are between a rock and a hard spot. You either have to get so huge that you have problems, or get out of the business. And cattle feeding is the same way. Now you used to could make a living on 160 acres of land and raise a family and send them to school. You can't do that anymore. Now I think some of our regulations have some of the cause there, and that and...let me tell you something. If the price of milk and beef cattle had risen as much as the equipment the farmers have to buy nowadays, well, you'd be paying $50 a pound for ground beef. But we know that we all want cheap food. We want to eat better than, which we do, better than anywhere else in the world. But it comes right back down to that producer. Is that producer getting enough money for his effort and his investment? No, he isn't. So I, you know, I don't know whether this is the answer, but I hate to go back and tell the counties you don't have the authority to determine what's being placed on...in your hands by the county board. I believe Dodge County, the county I represent, does a fairly good job of zoning. Sure, you're going to have some complaints from time to time, but I believe some of those complaints are warranted. So unless someone can really persuade me to support this bill, I hope I hear some more from Senator Bromm, Senator Baker, but I don't want to ruin our natural resources because of contamination of some kind.

SENATOR CUDABACK: One minute.

SENATOR JANSSEN: We do need our...we do need clean streams. We need clean underground water supply. And the natural fertilizer from livestock is so much better for our ground than the commercial fertilizer is. That's nature's way. So I'm going to
