that's an estimated cost. I'm not certain, honestly, with the amount of paperwork that's generated in every application process with the university, that it's any more than mimeographing a form and sticking it in an admission packet.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Senator Byars, who would be in a better position to determine the cost of doing this; you, who support the bill, or the university, which would have to administer it?

SENATOR BYARS: Well, I certainly think I would, Senator. But that probably isn't true.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Now, who do you think is better able to determine medical necessity; you or the medical profession?

SENATOR BYARS: The medical profession.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: So you don't know more than the medical profession, but you know more than university administrators, is what you're telling me.

SENATOR BYARS: (Laugh) No, I'd better not say that, Senator.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: And I understand you're being facetious, and I'm being a bit. But, Senator Byars, I want to know how many cases of this...how do you pronounce it, meningococcal?

SENATOR BYARS: Very good, Senator.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Meningococcal?

SENATOR BYARS: Your first pronunc...

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Meningococcal?

SENATOR BYARS: Your first pronunciation was right on target.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Okay. How...?

SENATOR BYARS: You're very...
