FLOOR DEBATE

April 24, 2003 LB 759

silence. Because you can't come from up there to down there, because each person made his or her bed, and had to lie in it. So since the rich man, who cared nothing about the hungry man when he was on earth, could not get any relief for himself, he said, then at least let Lazarus go and tell my brothers, don't do what I did, so that they can avoid coming to this place. Apparently, that wasn't done, because you all are his brothers, and you haven't gotten the message. I feel more akin to Lazarus than I do to the rich man, because I know what it means to be poor. When I was little, they used to always tell us, eat what's on your plate, because there are all these millions of starving Chinese. If I ate it or didn't eat it, they were still starving. But they used these stratagems to try to get kids to eat very unpleasant tasting food, but which nevertheless could have been considered nutritious. I read the funny paper. Yesterday, I think it was, Dennis the Menace was with his little pal Joey, and they were eating an ice cream cone. Each one had one. And Dennis said, I think God created ice cream to make up for carrots and broccoli. Well, there are some people who would relish carrots and broccoli.

SPEAKER BROMM: One minute.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: I'm going to fight against this tax. And if the tax stays in LB 759, I'm going to fight it. I don't believe it has 30 votes. I don't believe it has 33 votes. And I don't care if we come back in a special session. And maybe the lobbyists won't be feeding people and keeping them with their bellies full so that they can experience just a tiny bit of what it means not to have as much in your belly as you want. But if your belly is slightly empty, you know you're going to get it full before the end of the day. The people I'm talking about don't know whether they will eat at all today or tomorrow or when. So I'm drawing the line in the sand. This is where I'm going to make my fight. And I'll do the best I can. And you're going to have to cloture me on LB 759. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

SPEAKER BROMM: Thank you, Senator Chambers. Senator Baker.

SENATOR BAKER: Thank you, Mr. Speaker and members. I...this is going to be a strange mix of lights on this bill, or this
