FLOOR DEBATE

April 28, 2003 LB 265

hands or on their shoulders, if you will. But the fact that the bill is so poorly crafted, so poorly drafted, and those who signed onto it cannot even discuss it because they don't know anything about what it actually says is reason enough for us to discard this. The Legislature should have a higher standard when it comes to legislation dealing with such a serious matter. I am not going to go through all of the names on that bill and pose questions to the various members in order to embarrass them and show publicly that they don't know what the bill is about. I will not do that, because in my humble, modest opinion, signing onto this atrocity should carry enough embarrassment. It's one of those sins that carries its punishment with it. Since we're going to take that time this morning, I will discuss some of the amendments...

SENATOR CUDABACK: One minute.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: ...that I have proposed. But in order that you know what my motion does, it says that this bill should be returned, recommitted to the Judiciary Committee so that the bill, itself, can be reviewed, amendments that have been adopted, and amendments that are pending can be reviewed. Then within 15 days of receiving possession of the bill or taking possession of it, the Legislature will receive a report from the Judiciary Committee. Thank you, Mr. President.

SENATOR CUDABACK: Thank you, Senator Chambers. You've heard the opening on a motion to recommit LB 265 to a committee. Open for discussion on that motion, Senator Beutler, followed by Senators Hartnett, Chambers, and Thompson. Senator Beutler.

SENATOR BEUTLER: Senator Cudaback, members of the Legislature, I have not spoken on this issue for the many hours that it's been going on, and I only want to speak once to put myself on record and to throw out a couple of things that I hope folks will think about. I am in support of Senator Chambers' amendment. I wanted to pass along to you some thoughts I had when I was reading a book a couple of years ago. It was a book about people traveling the Oregon Trail. And because of the difficulty of the circumstances and the fear of hostile attack in those days, the people who traveled the Oregon Trail were
