

TRANSCRIPT PREPARED BY THE CLERK OF THE LEGISLATURE
Transcriber's Office
FLOOR DEBATE

May 7, 2003

LB 598

SENATOR RAIKES: But wouldn't that suggest, if you had somebody that was qualified and could get bonded and whatever thing needed to happen,...

SENATOR SCHIMEK: They could not...

SENATOR RAIKES: ...that it would make sense to keep them longer, rather than limit their terms?

SENATOR SCHIMEK: (Laugh) That's a rhetorical question?

SENATOR RAIKES: No, that was serious. I...please respond. I'm sorry to interrupt you.

SENATOR SCHIMEK: And the Governor is different from the Legislature in that he's one...or she, is one person. And so you don't have power dispersed, like you do with the Legislature, where it's dispersed to 49 members. And so it's true in most states, in fact, that governors were limited to two two-year terms, or one four-year term. I think some still are, because too much power can accumulate in one person if they have...

SENATOR CUDABACK: One minute.

SENATOR SCHIMEK: ...unlimited amounts of time to serve.

SENATOR RAIKES: Well, I'll just mention, as far as I know, Iowa, the governorship in Iowa is not term limited. Is that the case?

SENATOR SCHIMEK: That is correct. I think a recent Governor just served 16 years, if my recollection is correct.

SENATOR RAIKES: And in your opinion, that causes a problem that wouldn't be caused by a legislator serving 16 years?

SENATOR SCHIMEK: The potential is there, Senator. It's not that it would always occur with every individual. But the potential is certainly there. And if you remember, we did limit the terms the President of the United States can serve after
