saw this and I thought this is something I can do for the people, not just in my district but everybody's district. If I've heard it once, I've heard it a thousand times, you know, I get woke up; I'm just doing something; I'm in the middle of a program; I'm in the middle of a TV; I'm in the middle of doing this or I'm in the middle of my dance lesson; I'm in the middle of cooking, I get these phone calls. I got one the other morning about seven o'clock, and I was wanting to sleep in because I'd been awake all night almost. I just think there ought to be a way to do this. We're not out to hurt anybody, and I don't think it's Senator Smith's, I don't think it's anybody's wish here to hurt any company or to stifle any business. That's not the objective here. I think we all want to do something. It's kind of like religion. We all want to go to heaven but just don't know how to get there, so we have a thousand different religions, you know, all want...all to achieve the same thing. Same thing here, we want to achieve this but how do you do it. I think we can work our way through this. Surely there is something we can do on an issue like this here that's going to benefit so many. Let's get our personal things, our personal wants, our personal wishes, or our personal ambitions out of this and do what the people want. The people really want this but, like I say, I don't want, like Senator Bourne says, we don't want to hurt companies, we don't want to hurt business. Naturally, not. But there's got to be some kind of an issue here or some kind of an amendment or some kind of, you know, agreement, compromise, to make it work, things work. I'm not sure I trust the federal government in this particular issue. I'm just not sure I do. They...it may be watered down and may be this and may be that. It may even not fit. Blanket policies normally don't work. Blanket policies normally don't work, do not work, or whatever you want to say. You got to have it fit your area, got to fit Nebraska. It's got to work for us. Blanket policy works sometime but not normally. And I guess all I...what can I say here? I'm not trying to be pushy. I'm not trying to be this. I'm just trying to do something for the people who say they want something done. Believe me, they do. Not just the little old ladies, not just the little old men, not just people 65, not just people 40, not just people my age, 48, not just those kind of people, everybody wants something done in this case. Everybody wants something done that I talk to.
