want to stand up and thank the Appropriations Committee for what all they've done this year, and try to make as many cuts as they can. And I guess the senators before me spoke quite a bit on the things that I did want to say. And Senator Brown just brought out the fact that I was going to bring out too, that we cannot sustain this kind of growth, especially in the four major things. We think about the four major things, the K-12, university, prisons, and Health and Human Services. And I realize if they go back and they try to get a lot more cuts, it's got to come from these four things. Because everything else is just small things, and we just cannot do it. I've never supported a tax increase, and I just feel bad about having to do anything here. But the way the situation is in the state...and it's not going to turn around until agriculture turns around, and a few other things, and I don't think that's going to happen in another year. I think when August comes this year, we're going to be in trouble making the cash flow work, because we're going to be short. And I hope we don't have to come back in special session. But that's...that could be a possibility. But we are going to be short then. But it's a big concern of mine, because I think down the road we're going to be in for what I would say, a train wreck, because with everything that's on the tax roll right now, and the cost of living just keep raising the salaries all the time, it's just no end to it. So something has got to give one of these days soon. And I think the out years, we're going to be in trouble, because that's the ones that are really going to feel it, in the second biennium. I just don't think we're going to be able to do that. I think we're going to be working on the budget again next year, because we're just going to have to continue to find more until we can correct some things that we have in the state. We really got to go back and look at some way or another a major tax structure change in this state to get things better, because it's not going the right the way it is. But anyway, it's hard to say this, but I am going to support the override, because we've got to do that now, because if we don't...if we come back and start making more cuts, I can start to telling you what will happen if we take away from the university, according to what's happened so far to rural Nebraska. There's a lot of things been taken out for rural Nebraska. And I know that people don't even think about some of the little things. But just think about the little things like
