FLOOR DEBATE

January 13, 2004 LR 4

SENATOR Dw. PEDERSEN: Senator Chambers, we're talking about animals and human beings.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: And a human being is an animal.

SENATOR Dw. PEDERSEN: In your estimation.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Would you consider it a sport if I had a gun and you had a gun and we were hunting each other and we both knew that we were hunting each other? Would you consider that a sport?

SENATOR Dw. PEDERSEN: I do not, no. There are some that would.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Would you? I'm talking to you.

SENATOR Dw. PEDERSEN: No.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Senator Pedersen, then the only thing you consider sporting is when you have a gun and the creature you're after not only lacks a weapon but does not even know that you're after it. That's what you consider a sport, right?

SENATOR Dw. PEDERSEN: As far as my hunting goes, you're right.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: And most hunters probably feel just like you feel, don't they?

SENATOR Dw. PEDERSEN: I don't know. I would think most of them probably do.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Thank you, Senator Dwite Pedersen. Periodically, they'll have pictures in the Omaha World-Herald Sunday, it's been every Sunday just about, with some child or adult, and they're putting more children in this posture, holding the antlers of a deer that they have killed. So they go to school and they're taught about these beautiful animals, and they say, now, when you see this large deer with these antlers, that is a wonder and a beauty of nature; now what you're to do is go out and kill it and, by so doing, you are ennobled, you
